Many Nations Join In Tribute To Abe Lincoln

By The Associated Press

Abraham Lincoln, who was born in a log cabin and died during his second term in the White House, lived again Thursday in the memories of millions.

Birthday tributes were paid to him in his old Kentucky home, in Indiana and Illinois where he attained the height of a tall man and the stature of a great leader, in Washington, London, Moscow and around the world.

The people were of varied hues. The languages differed. But the words all pointed to the probability that the fame of this American born in the backwoods Feb. 12, 1809, shall not perish from the earth.

Carl Sandburg, white-haired poet, said Lincoln belongs to many countries because "he stands for decency, honest dealing, plain talk and funny stories." But, probing deeper, he extolled Lincoln with a word seldom used in the sense he used it—incomparable.

Sandburg spoke before a joint session of Congress in the packed House of Representatives. Members of the Supreme Court were there, military men, diplomats, society women in high fashion furs and bobbysoxers munching gum.

An orchestra played. Fredric March, the actor, recited the Gettysburg Address. The blend of pomp, ceremony and touching sentiment was televised across the nation.

Hundreds made a pilgrimage to Lincoln's marble tomb in Oak Ridge Cemetery in Springfield, Ill.

Among the pilgrims to the city where, almost 101 years ago, Lincoln warned that a house divided against itself cannot stand was Willy Brandt, mayor of West Berlin in partitioned Germany.

Brandt told an audience of Illinoisans and envoys from foreign lands Thursday night that his people value peace but "we will bend our knees to nobody."

He spoke out for a firm stand on principle, but suggested flexibility in negotiations between the East and West on problems of Berlin and Germany.

At Hodgenville, Ky., near where Lincoln was born in a cabin a parade of floats, bands and costumed townspeople featured the commemoration. New one-cent Lincoln postage stamps were placed on sale there.

Radio Moscow quoted from an editorial in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia. It said all the world is honoring Lincoln, and Americans can be justly proud of him.

Cyprus Peace Drive Shifts To London

Lloyd Says Talks By Britain, Greece, Turkey Going Well

LONDON (AP)—Britain, Greece and Turkey pushed toward a lasting peace in Cyprus with swift rounds of talks Thursday aimed at bringing independence to that troubled British colony.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the House of Commons that talks in London with Greek and Turkish foreign ministers on an agreement on Cyprus were going well.

Reliable informants predicted a three-power conference to put the final touches on the accord would open in London Monday or Tuesday.

Britain Approval Seen

Greek Foreign Minister Evanghelos Averoff and his Turkish counterpart, Fatin Rustu Zorlu, expressed optimism for winning British approval of the plan to make Cyprus an independent republic. The plan was approved at the Turkish-Greek conference of five days in Zurich, Switzerland.

In Nicosia, Turkish Cypriot leaders announced plans to fly to London Friday.

There was conjecture that Archbishop Makarios, exiled leader of the Greek Cypriots, would come to London from Athens. Makarios has praised the Zurich agreement as laying the foundation for a quick solution to the Cyprus issue.

Cypriots May Sit In

Makarios was exiled by the British. They accused him of fostering the violence of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground that fought for union with Greece.

The three-power conference of foreign ministers is expected to include both Greek and Turkish Cypriot leaders, sitting as associates.

The next step in the mechanics of granting independence to Cyprus would be British Cabinet approval of the Zurich plan, subject to ratification by Parliament. The Greek and Turkish parliaments would have to give assent.

"Operation Sandbag" At West Terre Haute, Ind.

Volunteer workers press construction of an emergency levee at the south edge of West Terra Haute, Ind., in an effort to save hundreds of homes from the steadily rising Wabash River. Later, an army of 100 National Guardsmen joined the battle. The Weather Bureau predicted the Wabash would reach a crest of 24 feet, 10 feet over flood stage, at Terre Haute Saturday. (AP Photofax)

Floodwaters Move Gorge Down River

Breakup Feared; Residents Along Wabash Alerted

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — A mammoth 12-mile ice gorge moved at least a mile down the flood waters of the Wabash River Thursday night and alerts went out to prepare for a possible disaster.

The ice jam, standing 35 feet above the flood waters and carrying chunks of ice as big and heavy as automobiles, was apparently jarred loose by a smaller ice gorge which came down the Wabash from the flooded city of Peru.

The bigger flow churned along for a mile south of Logansport, Ind., and stopped short of the village of Delphi.

County and state officials kept watch on the river bank, ready to alert Lafayette and Delphi residents if the gorge broke loose completely and came roaring downstream.

Could Tear Loose Bridges

Such a rampage would mean "tremendous destruction," Army engineers said. They feared it would tear out at least 10 bridges between Delphi and Lafayette, chew up low-lying buildings, and wreak heavy damage on river front farms.

Mark Amick, communications officer at the Logansport police department, called the ice gorge "monumental."

"If it breaks loose all at once the damage would be devastating," Amick said.

The Wabash flood crest was expected to sweep past Lafayette and its sister community of West Lafayette, home of Purdue University, Thursday night at a height of 26 feet, 12 feet above flood stage. Most of the two communities were safe on high ground.

The two-state floods were products of a giant storm which swept the mid-continent Monday and Tuesday and left a total of 43 persons dead. The storm victims included 22 persons killed in a St. Louis tornado, plus four in Illinois, three each in Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, two in Arizona and one each in Iowa, New York State and Pennsylvania.

Wabash On Rampage

The floods have driven 5,000 persons from their homes in Indiana and 2,000 more in Ohio. Flood-blamed deaths mounted to five in the two states and damage was counted in the millions upon millions of dollars.

The Wabash, on its worst rampage in 46 years, was surging under and around the giant gorge above Lafayette. River experts said the gorge could break up at any moment, particularly if there was a fast thaw, and send millions of tons of ice hurtling down the flood tide. Or it could last for weeks, melting gradually, the experts said.

Army engineers feared that if they tried to dynamite it they might end up triggering a disaster.

At Lafayette, 75 families had already fled low-lying homes and were being cared for by the Red Cross.

Pigeon Flies Off With $7,000 Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Rosina Pagan, a blonde Brazilian singer and actress, stood by an open window Thursday, removed a diamond ring she valued at $7,000 and placed it on the window sill. Then, she began polishing her fingernails.

The silence was broken by a flutter of wings. On the window sill appeared a large black piegon, its eyes as bright as the diamond.

There was a swoosh as the pigeon flew off. Miss Pagan raised her manicured hands to her face in horror. In the pigeon's beak was her ring.

In Brazil, she told police, pigeons stay in the parks. "I'm going to sue the city—I'm going to sue somebody."

Jimmy Stewart Nominated For General's Star

WASHINGTON (AP)—Film star Jimmy Stewart was nominated for promotion from colonel to brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve Thursday.

It was the second time in two years that President Eisenhower had sent Stewart's nomination to the Senate. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), who was largely responsible for blocking Stewart's promotion in 1957, declined to say whether she will oppose it again.

"I cannot anticipate until I have checked the records of the nominees," Mrs. Smith told a reporter.

As before, Stewart's nomination was included in a batch of routine recommendations for promotion.

Mrs. Smith, who is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve, objected two years ago that while Stewart had a fine World War II record as combat pilot he had not been keeping up with the regular training required of most reservists.

Stewart, now 50, flew 20 combat missions as a command pilot in B17s and B24s during the war. He began his service as a private and rose to colonel.

Dulles Hernia Operation Set This Morning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will undergo his hernia operation about 8 a.m., e.s.t. Friday, the State Department announced late Thursday.

The department said a statement on his condition would be issued at Walter Reed Army Medical Center as soon as possible after the operation for a small hernia of the intestines.

Department Press Officer Lincoln White reported that Dulles, who has been resting and building up strength since his admission to the hospital last Tuesday, had a good day Thursday, and was in good spirits. He added that "It is expected he will have surgery for his hernia tomorrow morning."

White, when asked whether the operation would also be exploratory for other possible trouble, replied "it is distinctly a hernia operation so far as I know."

Other sources have said the doctors, headed by Walter Reed Commandant Gen. Leonard Heaton would take advantage of the operation to check on the condition of the secretary's lower intestines which have been inflamed since early December.

The inflamation was related to Dulles' operation for removal of a cancerous portion of the intestine two years ago.

White said the 71-year-old secretary had a "good night" Wednesday night, enjoyed his breakfast and was in "good spirits."

Undersecretaries of State Christian A. Herter and C. Douglas Dillon are in command of foreign policy during the absence of several weeks that Dulles requested for his operation and recuperaiton.

Pilot Survives 4-Day Ordeal But Wife Dies

BEMIDJI, Minn. (UPI)—A businessman - pilot was rescued alive Thursday from the frozen surface of a northern Minnesota lake where he had spent four days with his plane's wreckage and his wife's body.

Civil Air Patrol planes spotted the flag and bedstead which Lonnie Worth, 49-year-old Robbinsdale, Minn., nursing home operator, had spread upon the ice of Leech Lake, 75 miles south of the Canadian border.

But his wife, also 49, who had accompanied him on a weekend ice fishing expedition, died Sunday night of the bitter cold and injuries sustained in the crash landing of their plane.

Worth was not with his wife when she died. He had made his way to a summer cabin on the lake shore. A blizzard prevented him from returning until morning When he got back, his wife was dead.

Ike Asks Boost In U.S. Pledge To World Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House asked Congress Thursday for quick approval of a multibillion-dollar increase in the U.S. contribution to the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

One reason, unspoken, was that a delay beyond midyear would unbalance his 77-billion-dollar budget for the government year beginning July 1. This year's budget already is running a big deficit, estimated at 12 billion dollars.

In a special message Eisenhower said the 68-nation bank and fund find themselves needing more capital to perform their tasks of stabilizing world trade and supporting the development of free world countries. Proportionate increases are being proposed in all the countries belonging to the two lending institutions.

To the fund, a cash payment of $1,375,000,000 in gold and dollars. This is a 50 per cent increase, bringing this country's quota to $4,125,000,000.

To the bank, a 100 per cent increase in the pledged U.S. subscription. This would not be in cash, however. It would simply be earmarked and guaranteed for the bank's use if needed to cover defaults on bank loans. There have been no defaults in the bank's 12-year history.

No significant opposition was indicated in either the House or Senate.

There might be proposals in either house, however, to cut Eisenhower's foreign aid request so as to offset in part the cash contribution to the monetary fund.

Gas Leak Finds Hunter

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—Gas company foreman J. R. McClymont had no difficulty locating a leak in a buried natural gas line Wednesday. His company car burst into flames when he parked over the seepage in a lane. He escaped uninjured.

Underworld 'Trial' Held At Apalachin, Senate Probe Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Underworld chieftains, meeting in Apalachin, N. Y., commuted a gangland death sentence against another tough and fined him $10,000 for stepping out of line, Senate investigators were told Thursday.

Lt. James S. Mooney of the New York City police criminal intelligence squad testified the action was taken against Carmine Lombardozzi, described as having a record of 13 convictions.

Mooney said Lombardozzi was penalized for certain activities in the jukebox industry, but the detective said he didn't know what the specific charges were.

Another witness said Lombardozzi wields great power in the coin machine business in New York and Brooklyn.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Labor-Management Committee, said Mooney's testimony furnished the first reliable look at what happened at a secret conclave of 58 gangland figures and others at the home of Joseph Barbara in Apalachin on Nov. 14, 1957. This quiet town of 4,000 persons is near the Pennsylvania state line.

New York State police raided the meeting and rounded up the men they found there. But all were released after questioning. The men, who came from many parts of the country, said Barbara was ill and they "just happened to drop in at the same time" to pay their respects. Police have described the meeting as a crime convention.

Mooney said Lombardozzi "was scheduled to be killed but instead his situation was considered by a council made up of certain higher-ranking individuals at Apalachin."

Lombardozzi wasn't allowed to attend the "hearing" in his case, Mooney said, but was required to wait in a garage while his fate was debated and decided.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) asked the New York detective who got the $10,000 fine. Mooney said he didn't know.

"If we knew that, we'd have the whole story of Apalachin," Mooney said. He agreed with a presumption by McClellan that the $10,000 went "into some fund controlled by the higher-ups in the underworld."

"oF" On "Tails" Side Of Lincoln Penny Not Goof

WASHINGTON (AP) — No, the government didn't make a mistake on the new Lincoln penny now going into general circulation. Some folks took a look at them and decided somebody goofed.

The new penny, in production since Jan. 2, has a new "tails" side which shows the Lincoln Memorial. At the top is the legend, "United States oF America."

Because the "o" in the word "oF" is a small letter whereas all the other are capitals, some people thought an error was made.

Officials said the coin was designed that way, even though all the letters on the old Lincoln pennies were capitals.

"I did it to break up the pattern of the design — the letters," Gasparro said. He added that he feels the small "o" makes the coin more attractive from an artistic standpoint.

Gasparro said a small letter can be used because "of" is a preposition rather than a noun.

Mysterious Blasts Rock Three Cities

SEATTLE (AP) — Mysterious rumbling blasts shook three Pacific Northwest cities at separate intervals about two hours apart Wednesday night.

Houses shook and dishes rattled and cracked in the Seattle area at 5:38 p.m.

Oregon City, Ore., felt a similar explosion at 7:28 p.m. and Yakima, Wash., on the opposite side of the Cascade Mountains was rocked at 9:15 p.m.

Seven Tiny Orphans Visit, Sing For Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A chuckling President Eisenhower harked seven small orphans atop his White House desk Thursday and gave each a silver dollar "so you'll never be broke."

In return, the excited youngsters—aged 2 to 6—sang "America" and recited the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

The young visitors from the St. Ann's Infant Home of Washington were John Goldsworthy, Amy Smith, Sandra Leaman, Angela Cochins, Doreen Thompson, Leroy Jones and Jay Banta.

Russia Blasts Iranian Policy As 'Two-Faced'

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Thursday night accused Iran of a "two-faced insincere policy" that led to collapse of Soviet-Iranian negotiations for a treaty.

The United States intervened to prevent the signing of the non-aggression treaty and worked instead for an Iranian-American military agreement, a Soviet statement declared.

The statement coincided with Washington advices that President Eisenhower had intervened personally to support Iran's Shah in dealing with Moscow.

The United States and Iran are expected to go ahead with negotiations for a direct security agreement, the Washington dispatches said.

"The two-faced insincere policy of the Shah's government cannot but have serious consequences, first of all for Iran," the Soviet statement said.

"The Soviet government is in possession of information confirmed by facts that no sooner had the Soviet delegation arrived in Tehran than the Shah bound himself to a foreign state by an obligation to refrain from concluding an agreement with the Soviet Union."

The denunciation was in the form of a dispatch of the official Soviet news agency Tass from Tehran. As distributed by the Foreign Ministry it said Soviet-Iranian negotiations began in Tehran Jan. 29 on the assumption Iran would not conclude any bilateral treaty with another "directed against the Soviet Union."

Last Operational B36 Grounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force Thursday grounded its last operational B36 bomber, ending the military life of the huge plane that never fired a shot in anger.

The final member of a onetime 380-plane fleet of B36s made its last landing at Amon Carter Field, Ft. Worth, Tex. There it will become a permanent possession of the city where it was made.

Three Children Perish In Fire

SEVERNA PARK, Md. (AP) — Three children were burned to death in a two-story house Thursday.

Two other children and a grandmother escaped the flames which swept through a home one-half mile west of Ritchie Highway on the Earleigh Heights Road.

A police officer said the blaze apparently started when one of the two girls who escaped was playing with matches and ignited a curtain. All those involved were Negroes.

Those burned to death were identified as Bernette Henson, 5, and Julia, 4, and Edward Bey, 10 months. The Bey boy and girl were children of Mr. and Mrs. John Bey. Bernette was a daughter of Mrs. Grace Henson, who lives across the street.

Mrs. Mattie Bey, who was caring for the children, managed to get two other Henson children, Renea, 9, and Arleen, 3, to safety.

The fire started in a second floor front room. Patrolman Jerome J. Bozek said Arleen was playing with matches and touched off the blaze.

Fire companies from six communities answered the alarm.

Police Pull Down Beatniks "In Orbit" At Philly's Humoresque Coffee Shop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Things were really thumping at the Humoresque coffee shop in one of the city's Bohemian belts Wednesday night.

The name of the rendezvous, a passerby said, may have been inspired by composer Anton Dvorak, but what went on inside was more on the Wagnerian side. Like the ride of the Valkyries of "Gotterdammerung" and all that jazz.

Inside the Humoresque they lolled in beards and leotards, played chess along with hi-fi, agonized over the low state of human affairs, and drank gallons of coffee.

A neighbor, Miss Gertrude Fitzpatrick, was annoyed. She complained about noise and about the beat generation's cars parked on her sidewalk.

Others in the vicinity also took their complaints to the police. Two plainclothesmen were sent to see what was happening.

They heard crescendos, then when the music softened a bit, cries of, "Check," "But it's art," "That's right, man" "I'm in orbit."

"And once," said Powell with a touch of awe, "a couple of these beatniks came out and yelled something up at the sky. We don't know what it was."

Inside, the cops found 34 customers and Melvin Haifetz, 23, the proprietor. Seven of the patrons were girls.

The talk was nearly as loud as the music.

Satisfied they had a case, the policemen arrested everybody, including Haifetz, and charged most of them with breach of peace. Haifetz with running a disorderly house.

The magistrate asked him to make it clearer.

"You're up on it, man," he was told.

He and the other Humoresque frequenters were fined $12.50 each. Haifetz was held on $300 bail for the grand jury.

Ike's Pilot Describes Ga. Landing As Without Risk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's Feb. 4 plane landing in soupy weather at Valdosta, Ga., was described by his pilot Thursday as "without danger at any time."

But the latter part of a four-hour flight from Washington was again pictured by Eisenhower aides who were aboard as one of the roughest—perhaps the roughest—in six years of plane travel with the President.

The pilot, Col. William G. Draper, said he landed the four-engine Constellation, Columbine III, "slightly left of center of the runway" at Moody Air Force Base at Valdosta.

"But," Draper added, "It is a broad runway and the airplane was on the runway at all times. The landing was without danger at any time."

Draper's comments on a published report that the Columbine missed the runway at Moody were relayed to a reporter by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary.

Draper—who also serves as Eisenhower's Air Force aide—and Hagerty, who was aboard the plane with the President, both called that report "not at all right."

The Columbine, which was carrying Eisenhower to a quail-hunting vacation in Georgia, was scheduled originally to land at Spence Air Force Base at Moultrie, Ga.

That plan had to be abandoned when extremely murky weather closed in that field, which does not have instrument-landing equipment.

Ike Asks Boost In U.S. Pledge To World Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House asked Congress Thursday for quick approval of a multibillion-dollar increase in the U.S. contribution to the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

One reason, unspoken, was that a delay beyond midyear would unbalance his 77-billion-dollar budget for the government year beginning July 1. This year's budget already is running a big deficit, estimated at 12 billion dollars.

To the fund, a cash payment of $1,375,000,000 in gold and dollars. This is a 50 per cent increase, bringing this country's quota to $4,125,000,000.

To the bank, a 100 per cent increase in the pledged U.S. subscription. This would not be in cash, however. It would simply be earmarked and guaranteed for the bank's use if needed to cover defaults on bank loans. There have been no defaults in the bank's 12-year history.

No significant opposition was indicated in either the House or Senate.

There might be proposals in either house, however, to cut Eisenhower's foreign aid request so as to offset in part the cash contribution to the monetary fund.

Underworld 'Trial' Held At Apalachin, Senate Probe Told

Mooney said Lombardozzi "was scheduled to be killed but instead his situation was considered by a council made up of certain higher-ranking individuals at Apalachin."

Lombardozzi wasn't allowed to attend the "hearing" in his case, Mooney said, but was required to wait in a garage while his fate was debated and decided.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) asked the New York detective who got the $10,000 fine. Mooney said he didn't know.

"If we knew that, we'd have the whole story of Apalachin," Mooney said. He agreed with a presumption by McClellan that the $10,000 went "into some fund controlled by the higher-ups in the underworld."

Russia Blasts Iranian Policy As 'Two-Faced'

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Thursday night accused Iran of a "two-faced insincere policy" that led to collapse of Soviet-Iranian negotiations for a treaty.

The United States intervened to prevent the signing of the non-aggression treaty and worked instead for an Iranian-American military agreement, a Soviet statement declared.

The statement coincided with Washington advices that President Eisenhower had intervened personally to support Iran's Shah in dealing with Moscow.

The United States and Iran are expected to go ahead with negotiations for a direct security agreement, the Washington dispatches said.

"The two-faced insincere policy of the Shah's government cannot but have serious consequences, first of all for Iran," the Soviet statement said.

"The Soviet government is in possession of information confirmed by facts that no sooner had the Soviet delegation arrived in Tehran than the Shah bound himself to a foreign state by an obligation to refrain from concluding an agreement with the Soviet Union."

The denunciation was in the form of a dispatch of the official Soviet news agency Tass from Tehran. As distributed by the Foreign Ministry it said Soviet-Iranian negotiations began in Tehran Jan. 29 on the assumption Iran would not conclude any bilateral treaty with another "directed against the Soviet Union."

Pigeon Flies Off With $7,000 Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Rosina Pagan, a blonde Brazilian singer and actress, stood by an open window Thursday, removed a diamond ring she valued at $7,000 and placed it on the window sill. Then, she began polishing her fingernails.

The silence was broken by a flutter of wings. On the window sill appeared a large black piegon, its eyes as bright as the diamond.

There was a swoosh as the pigeon flew off. Miss Pagan raised her manicured hands to her face in horror. In the pigeon's beak was her ring.

In Brazil, she told police, pigeons stay in the parks. "I'm going to sue the city—I'm going to sue somebody."

Dulles Hernia Operation Set This Morning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will undergo his hernia operation about 8 a.m., e.s.t. Friday, the State Department announced late Thursday.

The department said a statement on his condition would be issued at Walter Reed Army Medical Center as soon as possible after the operation for a small hernia of the intestines.

Department Press Officer Lincoln White reported that Dulles, who has been resting and building up strength since his admission to the hospital last Tuesday, had a good day Thursday, and was in good spirits. He added that "It is expected he will have surgery for his hernia tomorrow morning."

White, when asked whether the operation would also be exploratory for other possible trouble, replied "it is distinctly a hernia operation so far as I know."

Other sources have said the doctors, headed by Walter Reed Commandant Gen. Leonard Heaton would take advantage of the operation to check on the condition of the secretary's lower intestines which have been inflamed since early December.

The inflamation was related to Dulles' operation for removal of a cancerous portion of the intestine two years ago.

White said the 71-year-old secretary had a "good night" Wednesday night, enjoyed his breakfast and was in "good spirits."

Undersecretaries of State Christian A. Herter and C. Douglas Dillon are in command of foreign policy during the absence of several weeks that Dulles requested for his operation and recuperaiton.

Pilot Survives 4-Day Ordeal But Wife Dies

BEMIDJI, Minn. (UPI)—A businessman - pilot was rescued alive Thursday from the frozen surface of a northern Minnesota lake where he had spent four days with his plane's wreckage and his wife's body.

Civil Air Patrol planes spotted the flag and bedstead which Lonnie Worth, 49-year-old Robbinsdale, Minn., nursing home operator, had spread upon the ice of Leech Lake, 75 miles south of the Canadian border.

But his wife, also 49, who had accompanied him on a weekend ice fishing expedition, died Sunday night of the bitter cold and injuries sustained in the crash landing of their plane.

Worth was not with his wife when she died. He had made his way to a summer cabin on the lake shore. A blizzard prevented him from returning until morning. When he got back, his wife was dead.

"oF" On "Tails" Side Of Lincoln Penny Not Goof

WASHINGTON (AP) — No, the government didn't make a mistake on the new Lincoln penny now going into general circulation. Some folks took a look at them and decided somebody goofed.

The new penny, in production since Jan. 2, has a new "tails" side which shows the Lincoln Memorial. At the top is the legend, "United States oF America."

Because the "o" in the word "oF" is a small letter whereas all the other are capitals, some people thought an error was made.

Officials said the coin was designed that way, even though all the letters on the old Lincoln pennies were capitals.

"I did it to break up the pattern of the design — the letters," Gasparro said. He added that he feels the small "o" makes the coin more attractive from an artistic standpoint.

Gasparro said a small letter can be used because "of" is a preposition rather than a noun.

Mysterious Blasts Rock Three Cities

SEATTLE (AP) — Mysterious rumbling blasts shook three Pacific Northwest cities at separate intervals about two hours apart Wednesday night.

Houses shook and dishes rattled and cracked in the Seattle area at 5:38 p.m.

Oregon City, Ore., felt a similar explosion at 7:28 p.m. and Yakima, Wash., on the opposite side of the Cascade Mountains was rocked at 9:15 p.m.

Last Operational B36 Grounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force Thursday grounded its last operational B36 bomber, ending the military life of the huge plane that never fired a shot in anger.

The final member of a onetime 380-plane fleet of B36s made its last landing at Amon Carter Field, Ft. Worth, Tex. There it will become a permanent possession of the city where it was made.

Three Children Perish In Fire

SEVERNA PARK, Md. (AP) — Three children were burned to death in a two-story house Thursday.

Two other children and a grandmother escaped the flames which swept through a home one-half mile west of Ritchie Highway on the Earleigh Heights Road.

A police officer said the blaze apparently started when one of the two girls who escaped was playing with matches and ignited a curtain. All those involved were Negroes.

Those burned to death were identified as Bernette Henson, 5, and Julia, 4, and Edward Bey, 10 months. The Bey boy and girl were children of Mr. and Mrs. John Bey. Bernette was a daughter of Mrs. Grace Henson, who lives across the street.

Mrs. Mattie Bey, who was caring for the children, managed to get two other Henson children, Renea, 9, and Arleen, 3, to safety.

The fire started in a second floor front room. Patrolman Jerome J. Bozek said Arleen was playing with matches and touched off the blaze.

Fire companies from six communities answered the alarm.

Jimmy Stewart Nominated For General's Star

WASHINGTON (AP)—Film star Jimmy Stewart was nominated for promotion from colonel to brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve Thursday.

It was the second time in two years that President Eisenhower had sent Stewart's nomination to the Senate. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), who was largely responsible for blocking Stewart's promotion in 1957, declined to say whether she will oppose it again.

"I cannot anticipate until I have checked the records of the nominees," Mrs. Smith told a reporter.

As before, Stewart's nomination was included in a batch of routine recommendations for promotion.

Mrs. Smith, who is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve, objected two years ago that while Stewart had a fine World War II record as combat pilot he had not been keeping up with the regular training required of most reservists.

Stewart, now 50, flew 20 combat missions as a command pilot in B17s and B24s during the war. He began his service as a private and rose to colonel.

Gas Leak Finds Hunter

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—Gas company foreman J. R. McClymont had no difficulty locating a leak in a buried natural gas line Wednesday. His company car burst into flames when he parked over the seepage in a lane. He escaped uninjured.

Police Pull Down Beatniks "In Orbit" At Philly's Humoresque Coffee Shop

The name of the rendezvous, a passerby said, may have been inspired by composer Anton Dvorak, but what went on inside was more on the Wagnerian side. Like the ride of the Valkyries of "Gotterdammerung" and all that jazz.

Inside the Humoresque they lolled in beards and leotards, played chess along with hi-fi, agonized over the low state of human affairs, and drank gallons of coffee.

A neighbor, Miss Gertrude Fitzpatrick, was annoyed. She complained about noise and about the beat generation's cars parked on her sidewalk.

Others in the vicinity also took their complaints to the police. Two plainclothesmen were sent to see what was happening.

They heard crescendos, then when the music softened a bit, cries of, "Check," "But it's art," "That's right, man" "I'm in orbit."

"And once," said Powell with a touch of awe, "a couple of these beatniks came out and yelled something up at the sky. We don't know what it was."

Inside, the cops found 34 customers and Melvin Haifetz, 23, the proprietor. Seven of the patrons were girls.

The talk was nearly as loud as the music.

Satisfied they had a case, the policemen arrested everybody, including Haifetz, and charged most of them with breach of peace. Haifetz with running a disorderly house.

The magistrate asked him to make it clearer.

"You're up on it, man," he was told.

He and the other Humoresque frequenters were fined $12.50 each. Haifetz was held on $300 bail for the grand jury.

Seven Tiny Orphans Visit, Sing For Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A chuckling President Eisenhower harked seven small orphans atop his White House desk Thursday and gave each a silver dollar "so you'll never be broke."

In return, the excited youngsters—aged 2 to 6—sang "America" and recited the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Ike's Pilot Describes Ga. Landing As Without Risk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's Feb. 4 plane landing in soupy weather at Valdosta, Ga., was described by his pilot Thursday as "without danger at any time."

But the latter part of a four-hour flight from Washington was again pictured by Eisenhower aides who were aboard as one of the roughest—perhaps the roughest—in six years of plane travel with the President.

The pilot, Col. William G. Draper, said he landed the four-engine Constellation, Columbine III, "slightly left of center of the runway" at Moody Air Force Base at Valdosta.

"But," Draper added, "It is a broad runway and the airplane was on the runway at all times. The landing was without danger at any time."

Draper's comments on a published report that the Columbine missed the runway at Moody were relayed to a reporter by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary.

Draper—who also serves as Eisenhower's Air Force aide—and Hagerty, who was aboard the plane with the President, both called that report "not at all right."

The Columbine, which was carrying Eisenhower to a quail-hunting vacation in Georgia, was scheduled originally to land at Spence Air Force Base at Moultrie, Ga.

That plan had to be abandoned when extremely murky weather closed in that field, which does not have instrument-landing equipment.

300 Are Shaken Up In Train Derailment East Of Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)— About 300 men, women and children got the bouncing around of their lives Thursday when a speeding Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train went screeching off the tracks in a shower of rails, ties and stone ballast.

But only six of the passengers on the New York bound train—the Potomac—suffered more than minor injuries.

Two of the 32 rushed to hospital accident rooms had suffered heart attacks during all the excitement.

One of those treated for cuts was a dining car waiter. He was cracked in the head by a mayonnaise jar as food, dishes and silverware went spinning through the air in his car.

Luggage came tumbling down on the heads of those seated below and those tossed into the aisles. Seat cushions spun crazily in the air in the 11 cars.

A steel plate about 3 feet long, 15 inches wide and less than an inch thick may have caused the accident, a Baltimore County policeman said in his official report. The railroad wouldn't confirm or deny this.

Officer Henry Crusse, one of the first to reach the crash scene about 10 miles east of here, said he was told the plate dropped on to the right-of-way from a southbound freight about an hour before the accident.

The train was only a few miles out of the Baltimore station, but had reached its customary speed of about 80 m.p.h. as it rounded a slight bend.

Engineer T. L. Winsey, who lives near where his train left the tracks, said he saw a "kind of ripple" on the track ahead. He applied the brakes, and the rough ride began. If there were a steel plate on the rails, Winsey said, "I didn't see it."

All the cars remained upright during the terrific bouncing act. In fact one right behind the electric locomotive didn't even leave the rails as it jogged up and down for about 300 yards.

The engine and the first eight cars, including the diner, became uncoupled and took off in a shower of splinters from the wooden ties, flying rock and blinding cinders.

The three cars on the end of the train came to a jarring halt in a mass of debris just to the right of where the rails had been.

From the outside, none of the equipment seemed to be badly damaged but the roadbed for about 100 yards was a shambles.

The passengers who weren't hospitalized boarded an east-bound Atlantic Coast Line train—the Florida special—at the accident scene to continue their journey. It picked them up about an hour after the derailment.

Three of the four tracks were blocked by the wreck, and most traffic was being rerouted over other lines.

Scheduled Flights Via Great Circle Route Set By MATS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Military Air Transport Service plans to begin regularly scheduled flights of cargo planes over the Great Circle route to Japan in April. About 10 trips a month will be flown.

The Great Circle route swings in an arc northwest from the U.S. Pacific Coast. The alternate and longer transpacific air route is by way of Hawaii.

Military transport planes have been flying the Great Circle route in the past but not on a regularly scheduled basis. The Air Force noted this in a statement Thursday on the planned regular service. The statement also said the route would not take the planes near Russia's Kamchatka Peninsula.

The Air Force said that although the route is about 1,000 miles shorter than by way of Hawaii, greater use has not been made of it because of limited facilities at Shemya, an air base on the Ocean Islands used for refueling.

Gen. Eddleman Named Europe Commander

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, now commander of the 7th Army in Europe, was named Thursday to command all U.S. Army forces on the continent.

President Eisenhower sent to the Senate Eddleman's nomination for promotion to full general when he takes the post April 1.

Eddleman will succeed Gen. Henry I. Hodes, who is retiring.

Sales Tax Take Running Ahead Of Expectations

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—State fiscal officials expressed hope Thursday that rising tax collections may pump considerably more revenue into the State treasury than Gov. Tawes thought he had for spending next year.

They'll have to wait until the end of this month to get a definite idea of how much it might be, but it's quite possible the figure could run to several million dollars.

Sales tax collections for December have already added around $600,000 more than was expected. They jumped 16 per cent over the previous December and 11 per cent more than had been forecast.

Whether this was an unusually heavy splurge of Christmas shopping or whether it represents a higher trend than the 5 per cent increase allowed by estimators for recovery from the economic recession cannot be determined immediately. But the size of the jump has left fiscal officials smiling.

"I'm encouraged that it may represent a rising trend," said Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, the state's chief tax collector. He said it would be necessary to see the January returns, not reported by merchants until Feb. 20, before determining for sure.

Goldstein said alcoholic beverage-tax returns also were up — by some $64,340 over estimates for the first seven months—and this too might be an indicator of a spur in the economy.

W. Irvin Young, chief of the Bureau of Revenue Estimates, also was optimistic over the sales tax jump. He said if it continues into January and February, even at an expected drop from December, it could add several million dollars to estimates.

But he said it will be necessary first to see how January sales were before drawing up any revision for the governor. Merchants have until Feb. 20 to report their January collections and it will be late in the month before these returns are processed.

Woman Gives Birth To 6th Set Of Twins

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "A dollar just won't go anywhere" is the lament of Mrs. Lawson Pearson, 34, who gave birth to her sixth set of twins and 15th and 16th children here last Sunday. Eleven are living, the couple has been married 19 years.

Pearson, 40, is a TV repairman who says he earns $50 to $60 a week. They pay $42 rent for a two-bedroom apartment. He says they barely make out and have no luxuries.

Swifts, the most aerial of all birds, never alight on the ground unless hurt. They gather all their food and nesting material while flying; drink skimming over water; and mate in mid-air.

Co-op Details Proposed Milk Price Control Plan

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers Inc., got into the fine points Thursday of its proposed order to control raw milk prices in Maryland.

As it did so, another cooperative, the Inter-State Milk Producers, renewed its attack on the size of the proposed milk marketing order.

The Maryland cooperative's proposed federal order would set minimum dairy-to-farmer prices for milk used for bottling. The order would affect a wide area of the state.

Federal Examiner Jack Bain said he would decide Friday whether the hearings, underway for nearly two weeks, would go into next week or be postponed. Federal officials have to attend a hearing in Boston next week and Bain said it is not likely the Baltimore hearings could be held next Wednesday.

As the Maryland cooperative detailed its proposed order and got to the section covering "pool plants," Inter-State co-op made known its objections on this point.

Pool plant is a method used to describe a dairy or plant to be covered by the proposed order.

Dr. James E. Honan, assistant manager of Inter-State, took the stand to criticize a section dealing with plants that would be exempt from regulation.

Dr. Honan said, "The pool plant definition under the proposed order provides that a handler can sell less than 10 per cent of his receipts from dairy farmers on routes within the marketing area and be unregulated." He said his organization believes this provision to be unsound.

"It appears to be only necessary as the result of the unrealistic size of the proposed marketing area," he said, and contended "the 10 per cent exemption provision was designed to permit the addition of sales territory and yet to exclude from regulation most of the dealers outside urban Baltimore who are selling within this additional territory."

Honan contended "an exemption of 1,500 pounds (of milk) per day would adequately handle the problem. This would," he said, "fully regulate those dealers who actually compete within the marketing area, and exclude those dealers who do most of their business outside the marketing area." Inter-State had said earlier all of the Maryland Eastern Shore and Harford county should be excluded from the order.

Pool plant is a method used to describe a dairy or plant to be covered by the proposed order.

Dr. James E. Honan, assistant manager of Inter-State, took the stand to criticize a section dealing with plants that would be exempt from regulation.

Dr. Honan said, "The pool plant definition under the proposed order provides that a handler can sell less than 10 per cent of his receipts from dairy farmers on routes within the marketing area and be unregulated." He said his organization believes this provision to be unsound.

"It appears to be only necessary as the result of the unrealistic size of the proposed marketing area," he said, and contended "the 10 per cent exemption provision was designed to permit the addition of sales territory and yet to exclude from regulation most of the dealers outside urban Baltimore who are selling within this additional territory."

Honan contended "an exemption of 1,500 pounds (of milk) per day would adequately handle the problem. This would," he said, "fully regulate those dealers who actually compete within the marketing area, and exclude those dealers who do most of their business outside the marketing area." Inter-State had said earlier all of the Maryland Eastern Shore and Harford county should be excluded from the order.

High School Musicians To Vie For $2,000 Prize

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—On almost every hill and prairie all-American boys are gittin' guitars and drawing a hopeful bead on that rock 'n' roll money.

And so much has been written about it—a million records sold here, another million peddled there—it's easy to forget that youngsters still are absorbed in serious music. Some of them, anyway.

But each year there's a reminder of this when the National Symphony Orchestra gets ready for its annual Merriweather Post contest, named for a woman who has been an enthusiastic supporter of youth concerts.

This contest is open to all high school violinists, cellists and pianists who get their entries in by March 1.

It carries with it a $2,000 first prize and a chance to appear as soloist with the orchestra. The 11 or so finalists, winnowed from a starting field of around 400, usually have been so good the judges have had a tough time picking a winner.

Last year's champion, Shmuel Ashkenasi, is in town for his guest appearances with the symphony. And since this 18-year-old violinist who is studying at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia is a native of Israel, he hardly qualifies as a typical American youngster. He probably isn't a typical Israeli youngster either.

But if you are tired of a steady deluge of juvenile delinquency stories, Shmuel Ashkenasi is your boy.

Shmuel—it translates to Samuel—has kinky, copious hair, something like the topping of another musical prize winner, Van Cliburn. When he ponders a question, he pulls down his eyebrows, and nibbles his fingers.

But when he gets an answer, out it comes, with none of the hedging so familiar to anyone who wanders around Washington's political circles.

On people who attend concerts—"They don't come to hear at all. They come to watch the conductor, or maybe show off their clothes."

On the conductor—"They should rehearse more, and play fewer concerts."

On music critics—"They should be abolished. They should say what is being played, and who is playing it. But if you want to know how a piece is played, go to the concert."

On military service—"I have to serve 2½ years back home. Here, if you're a little deaf maybe, you are excused. In my country you have to be completely paralyzed. We need everybody."

On what the honor of winning last year has meant to him—"I hate to say this, but it was mostly the money. I live on it."

Fishermen Flee

MACAO (UPI) — More than 300 Communist Chinese fishermen and their families fled to Macao from the China mainland between Jan. 1 and Feb. 10, informed sources reported Thursday. The sources said most of the refugees fled because they were forced to join newly-created fishermen's communes.

Sub Rescues Deer

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — A Swedish submarine bound for maneuvers stopped and plucked a half-frozen deer off an ice floe and returned it to land, a government official said Thursday. Crewmen of the submarine U5 wrapped the deer in blankets. On shore, it bounded into the woods.

Simple Peace Plan May End Cyprus Strife

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The new plan for peace on Cyprus may not prove to be simple in administration, but nevertheless is sufficient to cause wonder as to why somebody didn't work it out sooner.

Only a few weeks ago the conflict appeared to be in one of those deadlocks to which the postwar world has become more or less accustomed.

When Britain evacuated her military bases in Egypt, Cyprus became her chief military outpost in the Middle East. She showed no intention of relinquishing it despite the fact that terrorism amounting to virtual civil war seriously threatened the effectiveness of the base.

EOKA, terrorist organization claiming to represent the four-fifths of the population which is of Greek origin, demanded nothing less than complete integration into Greece.

Turkey, speaking for a fifth of the population, insisted that if British rule should end there must be an outright partition, despite the absence of any ethnical boundaries on the island and the fact that tens of thousands of people would have to be moved.

Turkey feared the island would be defenseless under Greek administration, and might become an enemy military base almost within sight of her shores.

Thus three members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were at serious odds, and the entire Western community was disturbed over an island that held only half a million people.

For four years neither Turk nor Briton nor Greek could tend to business because of the reign of terror, killings and bombings.

Then, deciding against trying to fight it out on the original lines, the three nations decided to find a means of living together.

That decision in itself appears to have marked the end of the trouble. Britain still must approve the terms of the new constitution worked out by Greece and Turkey at the conference in Switzerland. This is believed to be assured, and preliminary statements indicate that EOKA will go along.

In the newly proposed republic there will be veto powers for the Turkish minority over the handling of foreign affairs, guarantees against union with Greece, joint military arrangements and plenty of room for the British base.

Budget Bureau To Keep Score In Fiscal Battle

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Budget Bureau plans to keep a running boxscore on President Eisenhower's battle of the budget with Congress so he can "blow the whistle" on any unwarranted Democratic economy claims, officials said Wednesday.

They said a Budget Bureau study showed that the last Congress, which also was under Democratic control, wound up voting to spend more money than Eisenhower requested despite the economy claims of its leaders.

The Bureau's study was disclosed after Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson's implied claim that Congress last year reduced the President's overall spending proposals.

Budget experts said it was true —as Johnson proudly told the Senate — that Congress trimmed 617 million dollars from the administration's direct cash requests last year.

But they said the Budget Bureau study showed that Congress gave the administration new authority to spend, or to commit the government to spend, a total of $74,164,000,000.

The bureau said this was 236 million dollars more than the President requested. The total would have been even higher, it said, if the President had not vetoed a 437-million-dollar Democratic airport bill.

When a plane hits supersonic speed, its speed is measured by the prefix Mach. Mach was the name of Ernst Mach, a Czech-born German physicist, who contributed to the study of sound.

Church Leader Sees South As "Whipping Boy"

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews fears the South has become "the nation's whipping boy."

But he also believes the South is making the mistake of responding to its critics by withdrawing into a shell.

Dr. Louis Webster Jones, in a pre-brotherhood week interview with United Press International, found several bright spots in the current school integration crisis, but he found the attitude of the North toward the South something to worry about.

"I worry about the tendency of people in the North to project our own problems off on the South," Dr. Jones said.

"We have guilty feelings. We see all this distress around us. We don't like to face up to it, so we pick on something more remote.

Tend To Isolate

"The South has become the nation's whipping boy. They have problems—but so do we, in other parts of the country. This makes the southerner indignant."

On the other hand, he said, the South is making its mistakes.

"There is a tendency for the southerners to isolate themselves," he said. "That is the worst thing they can do. Now is the time to establish communication.

"The big challenge is for us to develop the kind of human attitudes and relations in the United States that will make us strong in all respects, so we can carry our responsibility to the rest of the world. Our Achilles heel in world leadership is our own weaknesses in the field of human relationships."

Brotherhood week will be observed from Feb. 15-22. The slogan for the 26th annual celebration will be "brotherhood — for peace and freedom—believe it! Live it! Support it!"

Dr. Jones said the week-long observance was held each year to dramatize problems in racial and religious relations.

"Brotherhood one week a year wouldn't make very much sense," he said. "It dramatizes and calls public attention to problems. It makes brotherhood respectable."

The former president of Bennington College, the state University of Arkansas and Rutgers University said that throughout history men have tended to inflate their own egos by claiming superiority over others. That is where the national conference's brotherhood program comes in, he said.

"We get leaders of communities, respectable people, to commit themselves to the idea that decency and respectability tend to undermine the idea you have to be superior," he said. "It's rather nice to discover you are a member of the human race occasionally."

Says Advances Being Made

As far as Dr. Jones is concerned, some good has come out of the southern school crisis and out of similar less publicized segregation difficulties in the North.

"The fact that there are increasing areas of difficulty is a sign that advances are taking place," he said. "Social change is taking place faster in the United States and the world than ever before. People are more conscious of problems affecting human dignity. As you become more aware of problems, you have more trouble.

"Only a very small group of people have enjoyed the free world we Americans talk about. A revolution of rising expectations is taking place all over the world, including the United States.

"That is what is going on in the South. There is greater agitation on the part of people of both colors in the South who have not had the status that other people have had."

But, Dr. Jones said, the situation has not been confined to the South. The same thing is true in New York, Newark, Chicago, St. Louis and wherever there has been an increased mobility of populations.

AIR DROP SCHEDULED

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — U. S. Air Force planes from Greenland bases will begin an air-drop of supplies, mail and clothes next week to several Greenland communities isolated since last fall by ice. The first drop Feb. 19 will be canned meat and other provisions for 15 Danish employes of the Ministry of Greenland Affairs who have been cut off six months.

Humphrey Declares Education Neglected By Foolish Spending

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said Wednesday that Russia is winning the battle "for young minds" because Americans are spending their national income "frivolously while education goes begging."

Humphrey told a convention of secondary school principals that to spend "only 3 per cent of our national income on education" is foolhardy and a "national disgrace."

"The amount that is spent on new filter tips and bigger tail fins indicates moral deterioration," the senator said. "And the use of scientists and engineers on TV to tell about it is even more foolish."

Humphrey said he was not against "frivolity, but when the other fellow is trained down to bone and muscle we'd better take off some of the fat."

Humphrey called for 46,000 federal college scholarships each year. This would be two for every high school graduating class in the nation but would not "cost as much as one of those missiles that fizzle," he said.

Ping-Pong Melee Ends At Hospital

LEEDS, England (UPI) — Mr. Ping decided to show Mr. Pong how the ball bounces, and both went to the hospital.

Witnesses said the trouble began when Sui Kui-lai—chef No. 2 in the Stanhope Hotel kitchen and known as Mr. Pong—claimed that he could out-cook Kan Linlee—chef No. 1 and nicknamed Mr. Ping.

Mr. Ping would have none of that—so the game began. Saucepans began to fly, and there were reports of threats with knives. Mr. Pong even called for reinforcements from Chinese restaurants in the city.

Tiny Missile TV System Displayed

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — A tiny, nine-pound television system which its builders say can withstand being rocketed into space and transmit its pictures 1,000 miles was displayed Wednesday by the Lockheed missiles and space division.

Two of the missile TV systems already have been delivered to the Army Ballistics Missiles Agency.

"We have guilty feelings. We see all this distress around us. We don't like to face up to it, so we pick on something more remote.

Tend To Isolate

"The South has become the nation's whipping boy. They have problems—but so do we, in other parts of the country. This makes the southerner indignant."

On the other hand, he said, the South is making its mistakes.

"There is a tendency for the southerners to isolate themselves," he said. "That is the worst thing they can do. Now is the time to establish communication.

"The big challenge is for us to develop the kind of human attitudes and relations in the United States that will make us strong in all respects, so we can carry our responsibility to the rest of the world. Our Achilles heel in world leadership is our own weaknesses in the field of human relationships."

Brotherhood week will be observed from Feb. 15-22. The slogan for the 26th annual celebration will be "brotherhood — for peace and freedom—believe it! Live it! Support it!"

Dr. Jones said the week-long observance was held each year to dramatize problems in racial and religious relations.

"Brotherhood one week a year wouldn't make very much sense," he said. "It dramatizes and calls public attention to problems. It makes brotherhood respectable."

The former president of Bennington College, the state University of Arkansas and Rutgers University said that throughout history men have tended to inflate their own egos by claiming superiority over others. That is where the national conference's brotherhood program comes in, he said.

"We get leaders of communities, respectable people, to commit themselves to the idea that decency and respectability tend to undermine the idea you have to be superior," he said. "It's rather nice to discover you are a member of the human race occasionally."

Says Advances Being Made

As far as Dr. Jones is concerned, some good has come out of the southern school crisis and out of similar less publicized segregation difficulties in the North.

"The fact that there are increasing areas of difficulty is a sign that advances are taking place," he said. "Social change is taking place faster in the United States and the world than ever before. People are more conscious of problems affecting human dignity. As you become more aware of problems, you have more trouble.

"Only a very small group of people have enjoyed the free world we Americans talk about. A revolution of rising expectations is taking place all over the world, including the United States.

"That is what is going on in the South. There is greater agitation on the part of people of both colors in the South who have not had the status that other people have had."

But, Dr. Jones said, the situation has not been confined to the South. The same thing is true in New York, Newark, Chicago, St. Louis and wherever there has been an increased mobility of populations.

Humphrey Declares Education Neglected By Foolish Spending

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said Wednesday that Russia is winning the battle "for young minds" because Americans are spending their national income "frivolously while education goes begging."

Humphrey told a convention of secondary school principals that to spend "only 3 per cent of our national income on education" is foolhardy and a "national disgrace."

"The amount that is spent on new filter tips and bigger tail fins indicates moral deterioration," the senator said. "And the use of scientists and engineers on TV to tell about it is even more foolish."

Humphrey said he was not against "frivolity, but when the other fellow is trained down to bone and muscle we'd better take off some of the fat."

Humphrey called for 46,000 federal college scholarships each year. This would be two for every high school graduating class in the nation but would not "cost as much as one of those missiles that fizzle," he said.

It took more than 35 thousand years for the Niagara river to cut the seven-mile channel from Queenstown to where the falls now are.

AIR DROP SCHEDULED

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — U. S. Air Force planes from Greenland bases will begin an air-drop of supplies, mail and clothes next week to several Greenland communities isolated since last fall by ice. The first drop Feb. 19 will be canned meat and other provisions for 15 Danish employes of the Ministry of Greenland Affairs who have been cut off six months.

Ping-Pong Melee Ends At Hospital

LEEDS, England (UPI) — Mr. Ping decided to show Mr. Pong how the ball bounces, and both went to the hospital.

Witnesses said the trouble began when Sui Kui-lai—chef No. 2 in the Stanhope Hotel kitchen and known as Mr. Pong—claimed that he could out-cook Kan Lin-lee—chef No. 1 and nicknamed Mr. Ping.

Mr. Ping would have none of that—so the game began. Saucepans began to fly, and there were reports of threats with knives. Mr. Pong even called for reinforcements from Chinese restaurants in the city.

Tiny Missile TV System Displayed

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — A tiny, nine-pound television system which its builders say can withstand being rocketed into space and transmit its pictures 1,000 miles was displayed Wednesday by the Lockheed missiles and space division.

Senator Finds Brush With Cancer Places Many Things In True Perspective

By U. S. Senator
RICHARD L. NEUBERGER
Democrat Of Oregon
Written For UPI

It has become almost axiomatic to protest about our modern age. Yet if I did not live in a modern age, I would probably be dead now. Three miracles of modern medical science have given me a prospect for recovery from cancer which my doctors regard as excellent.

These miracles are (1) early detection of the tumor, (2) skillful surgery, and (3) the twin agents of cobalt radiation and chemotherapy, with their destructive impact on any of the tumor which might have spread.

Even before cancer was diagnosed in me, I stood on the floor of the United States Senate and advocated vastly-increased federal support of medical research. Yet I used glibly the reference that 40 million Americans were designed to have cancer. I never thought I might be among the 40 million. I always felt that this would be somebody else. I suppose countless citizens feel this way—otherwise we would not tolerate spending more on chewing gum than on cancer research, and many times more on such things as permanent waves and cigarets.

Along with my colleagues, Senator Lister Hill of Alabama and Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, I have been proposing an international medical year and a pooling of medical discoveries made by all nations. This has a particularly urgent meaning for me today. Cobalt radiation, a vital factor in the successful treatment I have undergone, was developed by such illustrious scientists of Canada as Dr. David A. Keyes and Dr. H.F. Batho. I am fortunate that no unwise import quota kept this marvel of their intellects from coming to the United States.

A brush with cancer tends to place many things in true perspective. First, one becomes profoundly grateful to all those who, through the long history of medical research, have contributed to the advances thus far made in treatment of this grim disease. Secondly, old antagonisms fade away. I no longer can transform political disagreements into any feelings of personal malice. When one is grateful to be alive, it is difficult to dislike a fellow human being.

I am keenly aware that some of the most eminent members of the Senate have died of cancer during recent years—among them Charles L. McNary of my own state of Oregon, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Matthew Neely of West Virginia and Brian McMahon of Connecticut. That is why I regard it as so crucially important if I can stand in the Senate and stress to my colleagues that my own life has been spared, because I have had a type of cancer which has responded to a discovery thus far made in the realm of medical research.

Is it not vital that we devote every effort to extending these discoveries, if possible, into other areas of cancer where successful treatment has not yet been achieved? Does it make sense to invest in cancer research only about 1 per cent of what we spend on research into armaments and weapons of war? Two out of every three American families are in peril of affliction from cancer.

From the very beginning, I told my doctors to include candidly in their medical bulletins the fact that my illness has been diagnosed as cancer. I realize that has not been done in the case of some public figures. Yet we need to have full understanding of this disease if it is to be conquered.

Medical scientists inform me that some people, knowing they may have cancer, still hesitate to seek treatment because they fear it is inevitably hopeless. Thus, if a person in public life does recover from cancer, it is an event which can give hope and courage to many millions of others.

The American Cancer Society reports that, already, about 30 or 35 per cent of cancer victims are being saved. As new findings are attained in the field of chemotherapy, this percentage undoubtedly will be increased—especially if people seek immediate medical care.

While much remains to be known about cancer, I think it is essential that Americans have faith in the competence of their doctors. Some believe that capable care can be received only at a few nationally known medical centers. I chose to remain for treatment in my native city of Portland, Oregon, because I believe that knowledge and competence in this field are not confined to one or two famous places. I think I have been confirmed in this decision by the fact that, in my travels around our state this past fall and winter, I have met quite a few men and women who have recovered from cancer under the able auspices of their own local physicians.

The National Cancer Institute, which is part of our U.S. Public Health Service, makes grants throughout the nation to all promising avenues in the area of cancer research. Your own life or that of a loved one might potentially be saved if you urge your senator to vote full and adequate appropriations for this vital government agency, which provides about 72 per cent of the funds for research into the causes and possible cures of the series of diseases known as cancer.

U.S. Negro Population Climbs 22%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of Negroes and other non-white Americans increased 22 per cent in eight years, the Census Bureau reported Wednesday. It estimated the non-white population in mid 1958 at 19,269,000.

During the same 1950-58 period, the bureau said, the white population increased 14.4 per cent to a July 1, 1958, estimated total of 154,795,000.

Negroes account for all but a small portion of the U. S. non-white population. Of the 15,755,333 non-whites counted in the 1950 census, all but 713,047 were Negroes. There were 134,942,028 whites counted in 1950.

The report also said:

—Women continue to outnumber men. There were 98 males for every 100 females last year, compared to a 99-100 ratio in 1950. In 1910, there were 106 men for every 100 women.

—The biggest 1950-58 population increases were in the 5 to 13 age bracket, 40 per cent. Next highest was the 26 per cent increase in the 14-17 age bracket.

Both increases reflected the post World War II "baby boom."

Graham In Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) —American evangelist Billy Graham received an enthusiastic welcome on his arrival here Thursday for a five-month "Crusade for Christ" in Australia and New Zealand.

Asked whether he thought his crusade would have a lasting effect, Graham said "the effects of a bath don't last long but you need it and it's good for you." His crusade will begin Sunday.

Observe Union Day

RANGOON, Burma (UPI)—The 11th anniversary of Burmese Union Day was celebrated Thursday at Rangoon Stadium, when the union flag, brought from North Burma by relay runners, was handed over to Premier Gen. Ne Win.

Ne Win said he came to the function with a heavy heart, because he felt that today in the Burmese states there was much less desire for unity than ever before. He appealed to the people to give up "separatist tendencies."

No waiting or diluting. Maytag does both jobs for you. Just add concentrated bleach through dispenser opening; bleach remains in dispenser until washer has filled and washing action starts, and is automatically diluted before being introduced into the wash water. After washing action starts, bleach is added slowly to provide uniform bleaching action. Only Maytag provides this automatic delay and pre-dilution.

No bleach damage to clothes. By providing automatic dilution and properly timed injection, Maytag prevents heavy concentrations of bleach from coming in contact with clothes. Gone forever are the holes in clothes, the weakened fibres, the uneven bleaching associated with strong liquid bleaches.

No half-hearted detergents. Modern detergents contain brightening agents which are destroyed by liquid bleach when bleach and detergents are added to wash water at the same time. By delaying the introduction of bleach until after the washing action has started, Maytag preserves the full effectiveness of your detergent and clothes come out sparkling clean, white, and color bright, wash after wash after wash.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

Schoolhouse On The Screen

Robert Chemis is a junior high science teacher who is teaching some thirty thousand seventh grade students ninth grade science in the Pittsburgh area. The reason his classroom holds so many students is because Chemis teaches his course on television.

Actually, in spite of that vast number of pupils, Chemis is a lonely man. "Gee, after a couple of years, you certainly miss the kids, teaching to a camera," he'll tell you. "You keep second guessing them, trying to figure out what questions they'd be asking if they were there."

Chemis is a full-time teacher on Pittsburgh's education station WQED, one of the best in the land. If you're wondering why he's teaching ninth grade science to seventh grade students, it's because the National Academy of Science is endeavoring to find out whether our youngsters couldn't hurry along a little faster in their science studies. "From all indications, this experiment is going very, very well. I think we've underestimated what can be taught in the lower grades."

I asked him why WQED couldn't provide a sample classroom of pupils for him to teach to, which would mitigate some of the loneliness. This, he tells me, doesn't work. When there are students in front of the cameras, the kids at home feel left out, like observers rather than participants. Actually, WQED's teachers have discovered that television demands far more careful preparation, but less rigorous planning and execution, than classroom work where a teacher can start and stop, answer questions and in general take it easy. As a result of greater care by the teacher, the degree of attention of the TV students is even higher than it is in school—to everyone's great surprise.

The pupils feel a great degree of rapport with their teachers, Chemis reports. "I go to my old school and they all call me Bob—as if they know me. It's a spooky feeling, being so well known to students you don't know at all." While the pupils feel this great sense of participation, practically all teachers get the sense of isolation and clamor to get back to the classroom where they can see living, breathing, questioning, and thoroughly alive students. Chemis's sidekick Carl Utberg who teaches fifth and sixth grade science said: "This is what gets us into education—working with youngsters."

WQED is a bustling self-contained community operating in the former parish house of a church in Pittsburgh. It pioneered in-classroom teaching. Today most of its busy schedule is still classroom teaching on the primary level. It does more programming than any educational TV station in the country and has more live shows than the next two educational stations put together. It runs on $600,000 a year extracted from foundations like the Mellon and Ford, from the public, from public school allotments of thirty cents a pupil (which is very low in relation to other cities). Mostly, though, it operates on enthusiasm.

The enthusiasm you run into at an educational station is strong medicine after the cynical and apologetic weariness of the commercial stations. These people feel they are doing something exciting and important—and they are. WQED has two studios carved out of a ballroom added to the building by the Knights of Columbus.

WQED was asked by the Ford Foundation if it could teach first year Russian on television and I watched the teacher who conducts his class entirely in Russian. "We've proved we can teach first year Russian on television," says William C. Dempsey, General Manager. "Now we're looking for money to teach second year Russian. We have taught a whole bunch of kids who would now like to go on with Russian but can't. That's the trouble with Foundation money. Schools can't plan an orderly education."

WQED has taught conversational French so well that its pupils now give plays in French. The station gave summer courses in those courses most frequently flunked in big school—so ably that Pittsburgh closed all its summer schools and relied entirely on its TV station. Perhaps its most useful function is the teaching of science, particularly physics. With industry grabbing all the physics majors from colleges, schools simply can't find physics teachers, and lean heavily on WQED not only to instruct their pupils but to teach their teachers.

WQED has 1,300 classrooms within range of its transmitters. Classroom committees tell the station which programs are most effective, which least effective, where the pace is too fast and where too slow. High school students make their own suggestions for new courses. For instance, since a lot of them now earn money, they wanted a course in how to make out income tax returns—and got it. Another course is in baby-sitting — where they earn much of that money they're reporting on their income tax return—and got that, too.

A Man's View

A man never asks a woman out just to show off her beauty. He asks her rather, because he likes her company — enjoys being with her.

A man sort of forgets how a girl looks after his first quick impression. So it is important to look attractive, but it isn't enough. It's important if you're married or single, that is if you want to go out at all with the ma.. you admire. You must look attractive and BE attractive. Show your husband or beau that you enjoy being with him as much as he enjoys being with you!

A man is especially conscious of your actions. He's sensitive to what you say and do. I've asked some friends what qualities they consider most attractive in a date, or what qualities make their wives model dates. Their answers, I think, should be of interest and practical enlightenment.

"My wife never yearns for a night club when she knows the budget calls for a movie and soda." Girls, no man likes a gold-digger! That's an important point to keep in mind — it's so easy to forget prices when someone else is doing the paying; but it's not easy for the one who's paying to forget, even though he'd like to.

"We like to discover new restaurants. But if a place turns out to be a flop, my girl takes it like a lark. I always have a good time because SHE enjoys herself."

"We seem to have so many interests in common the evenings are always too short . . ."

"You know, I often see couples together not saying a word to each other. My wife and I always have something to talk about — she gets it started, usually, but doesn't monopolize the conversation with a lot of feminine trifles . . . really great, that kid!

Finally, someone comments, "We've been married quite a few years but my wife still makes me feel like an eligible bachelor-on-the-hook, never forgets to tell me that she's had fun at the end of an evening. Any effort I make seems well worth it."

Have fun!

FHA Providing Loan Plan For Farm Buildings

About this time of the year, farmers of Allegany and Garrett counties will probably begin thinking of making some building improvements around the farm.

B. Beeson Snyder, Farmers Home Administration supervisor for the two counties, said yesterday the FHA program has been expanded so that loans will be available to additional farm owners.

He pointed out that farm housing loans may be used to construct, improve, alter, replace or repair farm homes or farm service buildings, or provide water for farmstead and household use.

In addition to major construction, funds are available for farm home modernization such as adding bathrooms, utility rooms, modern kitchens, and other improvements to homes as well as enlarging or remodeling farm service buildings.

The FHA county committee which must certify in writing that an applicant is eligible for a loan, will meet at the office of Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, on Monday, at 2 p. m. to consider and review prospective applications.

Members of the committee in this county are Floyd Buser, Oldtown, Wilbur Perrin, Flintstone, and Harry Delbrook, Mt. Savage.

Mr. Snyder has an office in the Garrett National Bank building in Oakland and visits Mr. Steger's office the first and third Monday of each month from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. for the purpose of giving FHA assistance to farmers.

Additional information about the FHA loan program may be obtained from the office of Mr. Snyder of Mr. Steger.

Television and Radio

Schoolhouse On The Screen

Robert Chemis is a junior high science teacher who is teaching some thirty thousand seventh grade students ninth grade science in the Pittsburgh area. The reason his classroom holds so many students is because Chemis teaches his course on television.

Actually, in spite of that vast number of pupils, Chemis is a lonely man. "Gee, after a couple of years, you certainly miss the kids, teaching to a camera," he'll tell you. "You keep second guessing them, trying to figure out what questions they'd be asking if they were there."

Chemis is a full-time teacher on Pittsburgh's education station WQED, one of the best in the land. If you're wondering why he's teaching ninth grade science to seventh grade students, it's because the National Academy of Science is endeavoring to find out whether our youngsters couldn't hurry along a little faster in their science studies. "From all indications, this experiment is going very, very well. I think we've underestimated what can be taught in the lower grades."

I asked him why WQED couldn't provide a sample classroom of pupils for him to teach to, which would mitigate some of the loneliness. This, he tells me, doesn't work. When there are students in front of the cameras, the kids at home feel left out, like observers rather than participants. Actually, WQED's teachers have discovered that television demands far more careful preparation, but less rigorous planning and execution, than classroom work where a teacher can start and stop, answer questions and in general take it easy. As a result of greater care by the teacher, the degree of attention of the TV students is even higher than it is in school—to everyone's great surprise.

The pupils feel a great degree of rapport with their teachers, Chemis reports. "I go to my old school and they all call me Bob—as if they know me. It's a spooky feeling, being so well known to students you don't know at all." While the pupils feel this great sense of participation, practically all teachers get the sense of isolation and clamor to get back to the classroom where they can see living, breathing, questioning, and thoroughly alive students. Chemis's sidekick Carl Utberg who teaches fifth and sixth grade science said: "This is what gets us into education—working with youngsters."

WQED is a bustling self-contained community operating in the former parish house of a church in Pittsburgh. It pioneered in classroom teaching. Today most of its busy schedule is still classroom teaching on the primary level. It does more programming than any educational TV station in the country and has more live shows than the next two educational stations put together. It runs on $600,000 a year extracted from foundations like the Mellon and Ford, from the public, from public school allotments of thirty cents a pupil (which is very low in relation to other cities). Mostly, though, it operates on enthusiasm.

The enthusiasm you run into at an educational station is strong medicine after the cynical and apologetic weariness of the commercial stations. These people feel they are doing something exciting and important—and they are. WQED has two studios carved out of a ballroom added to the building by the Knights of Columbus.

WQED was asked by the Ford Foundation if it could teach first year Russian on television and I watched the teacher who conducts his class entirely in Russian. "We've proved we can teach first year Russian on television," says William C. Dempsey, General Manager. "Now we're looking for money to teach second year Russian. We have taught a whole bunch of kids who would now like to go on with Russian but can't. That's the trouble with Foundation money. Schools can't plan an orderly education."

Bills To Ease Appeals Court Load Outlined

ANNAPOLIS (AP)— Something must be done to reduce the workload of the Court of Appeals or Maryland's appellate system may suffer, legislators were told Thursday.

Members of both Judiciary Committees listened for two hours to spokesmen favoring bills aimed at adding a sixth judge to the high court and creating a new Special Court of Appeals to handle certain cases.

About five persons indicated opposition to the bills. They will have their say next Wednesday.

The proposals, calling for a referendum on constitutional amendments, were explained by H. Vernon Eney of Baltimore, chairman of a special committee of the Maryland State Bar Assn.

Eney said the caseload in the state's highest court has grown at tremendous pace, doubling in the last 15 years, and the appellate judges are physically unable to handle any more cases without dropping certain practices.

He said these practices have made the court an outstanding one and urged they be continued. They include opinions in all cases by the full court, full argument on all cases and consultation by all five judges on each case and opinion.

Eney said the "acute problem" can only be solved by reducing the number of appeals for increasing appellate manpower.

He said the mere addition of more judges to the court of appeals would not solve the problem if all judges were still to hear each case.

Agreement on this point was expressed by Judge William L. Henderson who spoke for the high court in the absence of Chief Judge Frederick C. Brune who is ill.

He said the current appellate judges are not in complete agreement on the best solution. But the majority is willing to try the bar committee's plan "although it's not ideal.".

Cat Lone Fatality In Train Wreck

BALTIMORE (AP)—There was one fatality in Thursday's derailment of the Pennsylvania Railroad's passenger train—the Potomac—near Baltimore today.

Lifeless in the middle of the rails between the uncoupled sections of the train was a small black and white cat.

Murder Conviction Upheld By Tribunal

ANNAPOLIS (AP)— The Court of Appeals Thursday upheld the second degree murder conviction of Henry McGee of Baltimore.

McGee was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for the fatal shooting of Elmer Thomas in November 1957. McGee's brother, James, was sentenced to 8 years for assault with intent to murder.

Thomas was killed and another man was wounded during an argument involving some 12 men. All were Negroes.

A HOT WELCOME

RIMINI, Italy (UPI) — Mrs. Maria Ricciotti said Thursday her relatives were a bit overzealous when she gave birth to a boy Wednesday. They set fire to the bedroom. Mrs. Ricciotti's family felt her bedroom was too cold for a childbirth, and heated an old stove so hot that the stove pipe burst and set fire to the furniture.

Two Civil War Reminders Received By Legislature

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Legislature received two reminders of the Civil War on Abraham Lincoln's birthday anniversary.

Two resolutions were submitted urging a monument in Hagerstown to a Civil War chaplain and expansion of the Antietam Battlefield at Sharpsburg.

The Washington County delegation in the House asked the Legislature to urge the Maryland Civil War Centennial Commission to erect a memorial to the Rev. Abram Joseph Ryan.

"Evidence has recently been presented to the Washington County Historical Assn. that Father Ryan was a native of Hagerstown," the resolution states.

Father Ryan has been memorialized in nine states and 11 cities "for his poetry and his service as a chaplain to the Confederacy during the War Between the States and for his devotion to the nation after the conflict," it continues.

It cited his poems "The Conquered Banner, The Sword of Lee and The Lost Cause" as expressions of the "universal sentiments of all who participated in the War Between the States."

The other resolution by the county delegation would call on Congress to remove a restriction on the source of funds for acquiring more land for the Antietam Battlefield.

The Secretary of Interior has been authorized to buy more property but may use only donated funds.

This has unduly hampered the land acquisition which "is desirable considering the impending approach of the centennial of the Battle of Antietam in 1962," according to the House resolution.

Storer Asset Shift Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Minority trustees of Storer College, Harpers Ferry, W. Va., have appealed to U.S. District Court here to halt transfer of the Negro institution's assets to another college.

Storer has been closed as an indirect result of the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

The minority trustees Wednesday asked the District Court to block transfer of the 92-year-old school's assets to Alderson-Broaddus College in Phillipi, W. Va. The transfer was approved by a majority of the Storer trustees on Jan. 10.

The minority group said the A.M.E. Zion Church has offered to continue operating Storer and that transfer of the assets would not be in the best interest of the college.

The complaint said Storer had received a $20,000 annual donation from West Virginia but that this money was cut off after a reevaluation of the state's educational program was made in the wake of the Supreme Court decision.

Arundel Bingo Halls Grossed $1,767,282

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Commercial bingo halls grossed $1,767,282 in Anne Arundel County last year, the state comptroller's office disclosed Thursday.

State records show the county's seven commercial bingo halls paid $8,826 in taxes for calendar year 1958. This represents one-half of one per cent of their gross receipts.

The amusement tax on gross receipts in the county went up to 2 per cent last Jan. 1.

Figures in the comptroller's office reveal that the county received $7,731 from the state after a deduction of $1,104 for administration charges.

Last October the Anne Arundel County Commissioners repealed sections of the county's amusement devices law and froze the number of commercial bingo licenses at seven. This followed complaints that commercial bingo establishments were affecting revenues of games sponsored by churches, volunteer fire companies and civic organizations.

In addition, the commissioners boosted the annual license fee for commercial bingo from $2,000 to $4,000.

Baltimore-Bermuda Flights Scheduled

BALTIMORE (AP)—Eagle Airways (Bermuda) Ltd. has announced plans to start weekly flights from Baltimore to Bermuda March 21.

A Vickers Viscount 805 will leave Friendship International Airport at 9:30 a.m. every Saturday, stop at Washington for 55 minutes and arrive in Bermuda at 3:05 p.m.

A return trip will leave Bermuda at 7 p.m. Fridays and arrive at Friendship 9:30 p. m. The plane will then go to Washington.

Harold J. Graham, executive president of Eagle, said a second flight may be added April 25 when the airline's summer schedule goes into effect.

Thief Takes Ladies' Watches And Rings

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP)—It must have been a ladies' man who did the burgling.

Richard McDorman, Crisfield jeweler, reported to police his shop was robbed Wednesday of $3,270 in merchandise. Most of the loot consisted of 62 ladies' watches in for repair, valued at $2,170. A tray of men's watches nearby was not bothered.

Also taken were 18 men's and ladies' rings valued at $1,100.

Police Chief John S. Holland said McDorman, planning a trip to Baltimore, looked at his store and discovered the door was open. The thief apparently had climbed up and outside vent pipe to the second floor, broke a window, stole the goods and left by the front door.

Bills To Ease Appeals Court Load Outlined

ANNAPOLIS (AP)— Something must be done to reduce the workload of the Court of Appeals or Maryland's appellate system may suffer, legislators were told Thursday.

Members of both Judiciary Committees listened for two hours to spokesmen favoring bills aimed at adding a sixth judge to the high court and creating a new Special Court of Appeals to handle certain cases.

About five persons indicated opposition to the bills. They will have their say next Wednesday.

The proposals, calling for a referendum on constitutional amendments, were explained by H. Vernon Eney of Baltimore, chairman of a special committee of the Maryland State Bar Assn.

Eney said the caseload in the state's highest court has grown at tremendous pace, doubling in the last 15 years, and the appellate judges are physically unable to handle any more cases without dropping certain practices.

He said these practices have made the court an outstanding one and urged they be continued. They include opinions in all cases by the full court, full argument on all cases and consultation by all five judges on each case and opinion.

Eney said the "acute problem" can only be solved by reducing the number of appeals for increasing appellate manpower.

He said the mere addition of more judges to the court of appeals would not solve the problem if all judges were still to hear each case.

Agreement on this point was expressed by Judge William L. Henderson who spoke for the high court in the absence of Chief Judge Frederick C. Brune who is ill.

He said the current appellate judges are not in complete agreement on the best solution. But the majority is willing to try the bar committee's plan "although it's not ideal.".

Cat Lone Fatality In Train Wreck

BALTIMORE (AP)—There was one fatality in Thursday's derailment of the Pennsylvania Railroad's passenger train—the Potomac—near Baltimore today.

Lifeless in the middle of the rails between the uncoupled sections of the train was a small black and white cat.

Murder Conviction Upheld By Tribunal

ANNAPOLIS (AP)— The Court of Appeals Thursday upheld the second degree murder conviction of Henry McGee of Baltimore.

McGee was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for the fatal shooting of Elmer Thomas in November 1957. McGee's brother, James, was sentenced to 8 years for assault with intent to murder.

Thomas was killed and another man was wounded during an argument involving some 12 men. All were Negroes.

A HOT WELCOME

RIMINI, Italy (UPI) — Mrs. Maria Ricciotti said Thursday her relatives were a bit overzealous when she gave birth to a boy Wednesday. They set fire to the bedroom. Mrs. Ricciotti's family felt her bedroom was too cold for a childbirth, and heated an old stove so hot that the stove pipe burst and set fire to the furniture.

Two Civil War Reminders Received By Legislature

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Legislature received two reminders of the Civil War on Abraham Lincoln's birthday anniversary.

Two resolutions were submitted urging a monument in Hagerstown to a Civil War chaplain and expansion of the Antietam Battlefield at Sharpsburg.

The Washington County delegation in the House asked the Legislature to urge the Maryland Civil War Centennial Commission to erect a memorial to the Rev. Abram Joseph Ryan.

"Evidence has recently been presented to the Washington County Historical Assn. that Father Ryan was a native of Hagerstown," the resolution states.

Father Ryan has been memorialized in nine states and 11 cities "for his poetry and his service as a chaplain to the Confederacy during the War Between the States and for his devotion to the nation after the conflict," it continues.

It cited his poems "The Conquered Banner, The Sword of Lee and The Lost Cause" as expressions of the "universal sentiments of all who participated in the War Between the States."

The other resolution by the county delegation would call on Congress to remove a restriction on the source of funds for acquiring more land for the Antietam Battlefield.

The Secretary of Interior has been authorized to buy more property but may use only donated funds.

This has unduly hampered the land acquisition which "is desirable considering the impending approach of the centennial of the Battle of Antietam in 1962," according to the House resolution.

Storer Asset Shift Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Minority trustees of Storer College, Harpers Ferry, W. Va., have appealed to U.S. District Court here to halt transfer of the Negro institution's assets to another college.

Storer has been closed as an indirect result of the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

The minority trustees Wednesday asked the District Court to block transfer of the 92-year-old school's assets to Alderson-Broaddus College in Phillipi, W. Va. The transfer was approved by a majority of the Storer trustees on Jan. 10.

The minority group said the A.M.E. Zion Church has offered to continue operating Storer and that transfer of the assets would not be in the best interest of the college.

The complaint said Storer had received a $20,000 annual donation from West Virginia but that this money was cut off after a reevaluation of the state's educational program was made in the wake of the Supreme Court decision.

The college stopped operating in September 1955.

Arundel Bingo Halls Grossed $1,767,282

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Commercial bingo halls grossed $1,767,282 in Anne Arundel County last year, the state comptroller's office disclosed Thursday.

State records show the county's seven commercial bingo halls paid $8,826 in taxes for calendar year 1958. This represents one-half of one per cent of their gross receipts.

The amusement tax on gross receipts in the county went up to 2 per cent last Jan. 1.

Figures in the comptroller's office reveal that the county received $7,731 from the state after a deduction of $1,104 for administration charges.

Last October the Anne Arundel County Commissioners repealed sections of the county's amusement devices law and froze the number of commercial bingo licenses at seven. This followed complaints that commercial bingo establishments were affecting revenues of games sponsored by churches, volunteer fire companies and civic organizations.

In addition, the commissioners boosted the annual license fee for commercial bingo from $2,000 to $4,000.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Eagle Airways (Bermuda) Ltd. has announced plans to start weekly flights from Baltimore to Bermuda March 21.

A return trip will leave Bermuda at 7 p.m. Fridays and arrive at Friendship 9:30 p. m. The plane will then go to Washington.

Harold J. Graham, executive president of Eagle, said a second flight may be added April 25 when the airline's summer schedule goes into effect.

Thief Takes Ladies' Watches And Rings

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP)—It must have been a ladies' man who did the burgling.

Richard McDorman, Crisfield jeweler, reported to police his shop was robbed Wednesday of $3,270 in merchandise. Most of the loot consisted of 62 ladies' watches in for repair, valued at $2,170. A tray of men's watches nearby was not bothered.

Also taken were 18 men's and ladies' rings valued at $1,100.

Police Chief John S. Holland said McDorman, planning a trip to Baltimore, looked at his store and discovered the door was open. The thief apparently had climbed up and outside vent pipe to the second floor, broke a window, stole the goods and left by the front door.

In the meantime, certain sections of it will be rewritten as separate bills and introduced at this session. They include provisions to regulate motor boating, crack down on litterbugs and revise hunting and fishing licensing laws.

In the meantime, certain sections of it will be rewritten as separate bills and introduced at this session. They include provisions to regulate motor boating, crack down on litterbugs and revise hunting and fishing licensing laws.

Land Owners In LaVale Ask Relief From Water

Fifty property owners on the South side of Route 40 from Long to Allegany Grove in LaVale have joined the Board of Allegany County Commissioners in requesting alleviation from a drainage condition for about two miles along the highway.

The petition presented the district office of the State Roads Commission states that the water problem has been caused by the gradual heightening of the road by additional layers of blacktop.

The county commissioners have written the State Roads Commission and pointed out it is feared this situation will divert more water down county roads leading off the south side of the highway.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the county commissioners, informed the LaVale Civic Improvement Association board of directors at a meeting Wednesday in the LaVale Fire Hall that a hearing may develop.

The commissioners, he said, have asked for a conference with the SRC's highway engineering personnel, and it is possible that a public hearing could be arranged.

The 50 property owners point out that a number of years ago water ran along the roadway in a ditch between the highway and the edge of the right-of-way.

But, with subsequent layers of blacktop being laid during the years the actual height of the road has been raised as much as a foot.

The drainage has been pushed father to the south so that at the present time water runs over the lots of the parties involved, rather than staying within the confines of the SRC right-of-way.

The signers pointed out that if this situation is taken care of, they would "show a very favorable attitude toward the giving of an easement or fee to part of their frontage on National Highway without resort by the state to condemnation proceedings at great trouble and expense."

Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor, told the county board Tuesday that he had checked the SRC plans for the widening to three lanes and resurfacing of the highway from Long to Winchester Road, a distance of about two miles.

He added that there is no provision for surface water drainage and voiced concern as to possible damage by washing of county roads.

Arson Is Suspected In Wigwam Fire

Assistant Chief Louis Winters said the large structure built in the form of a tepee was nearly burned to the ground by the time the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company arrived at the scene.

The call was turned in at 2:45 a. m. and the firemen were at the scene for two hours and 45 minutes.

The structure was about 30 feet in diameter and was 25 feet high, and was built a few years ago as part of an Indian village recreational area.

Water was pumped from the concrete swimming pool located near the main wigwam. Firemen confined the blaze to the one building, but Chief Winters said another tepee and a concrete block building were scorched.

Assistant Winters said Jesse Jacobs, Frostburg, deputy state fire marshal, will be called in on the investigation as the blaze was definitely set.

The property is owned by the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company.

W.Va. House Is Favoring State Income Tax Measure

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—House Democrats went on record Thursday as favoring a state income tax that would raise from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year.

They decided at a 1½-hour caucus to bring to the floor two alternate proposals:

1. Extension of the business and occupation privilege (Gross sales) tax to individuals, at a rate of 1 per cent on income over $5,000 a year, to raise an estimated $6,000,000 a year.

2. A new individual and corporate income tax, computed at 3 per cent of the amount paid in federal income tax, to raise an estimated $10,000,000.

Speaker Harry R. Pauley said in regard to the first proposal that the leadership will "try to bring it out 'of committee' and try to pass it."

"If everybody that indicated their willingness to do this stays with us, it will come out and will go to the Senate, he said.

Pauley acknowledged that there was "a very close vote" on the second proposal," but added:

"Under a mandate from the House it will be my purpose to do everything in my power to get them both on the floor. . .I'll say later which one I favor."

Re-Impose '57 Tax

Pauley said House Democrats also decided to have introduced a bill to impose a tax on property transfers, to raise some $3,000,000 a year. It will be similar to a 1957 law which allowed county school boards to impose a property transfer tax, but which was ruled unconstitutional last June by the State Supreme Court.

Pauley said the bill would "correct inequities" in that law and would be mandatory rather than permissive.

It was learned that a majority of the 85 House Democrats abandoned ideas of throwing their support behind a 10 per cent increase in the gross sales tax on business. It had been discussed, along with an income tax, as a means of compromising Senate - House differences in their attempt to raise some $18,000 in new revenue.

Agreement in principle was reached by the Democratic majorities in the two chambers last week on measures to raise some $8,000,000 for roads, and on several bills to be used in raising the other $10,000,000 for schools, mental hospitals and other services.

Senate Democrats discussed various alternatives at a caucus Tuesday and it was reported there was more sentiment for a gross sales tax increase than for an income tax.

"The Democratic House caucus again overshadowed floor sessions during which the House passed four bills and the Senate three.

"Open Records" Okayed

Approved by the House 87-7 was a bill to open to public inspection all records of state county and municipal governments except those declared secret by the Legislature or a court of record.

Delegates also passed 93-1 a bill to extend the transportation privilege tax to airlines and barge lines. It and the open record bill still require a concurring vote in the Senate.

Two proposed constitutional amendments to let the voters choose in 1960 between liquor-by-the-drink and prohibition, were held over at the amendment state. They will probably not come to a final House vote until the middle of next week.

Approved by a voice vote was a resolution calling on the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads to include U. S. Route 19 in the Interstate highway system. It also goes to the Senate.

The Senate passed three bills during a 40-minute session, including one to raise the sentence for check forgery to 2-to-10 years in prison. It is now 1-to-10 years. The bill passed the House earlier but was returned for concurrence in Senate amendments.

The House will meet at 10:30 a. m. Friday and the Senate at noon to give members an early start homeward.

W.Va. House Is Favoring State Income Tax Measure

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—House Democrats went on record Thursday as favoring a state income tax that would raise from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year.

They decided at a 1½-hour caucus to bring to the floor two alternate proposals:

1. Extension of the business and occupation privilege (Gross sales) tax to individuals, at a rate of 1 per cent on income over $5,000 a year, to raise an estimated $6,000,000 a year.

2. A new individual and corporate income tax, computed at 3 per cent of the amount paid in federal income tax, to raise an estimated $10,000,000.

Speaker Harry R. Pauley said in regard to the first proposal that the leadership will "try to bring it out 'of committee' and try to pass it."

"If everybody that indicated their willingness to do this stays with us, it will come out and will go to the Senate, he said.

Pauley acknowledged that there was "a very close vote" on the second proposal," but added:

"Under a mandate from the House it will be my purpose to do everything in my power to get them both on the floor. . .I'll say later which one I favor."

Re-Impose '57 Tax

Pauley said House Democrats also decided to have introduced a bill to impose a tax on property transfers, to raise some $3,000,000 a year. It will be similar to a 1957 law which allowed county school boards to impose a property transfer tax, but which was ruled unconstitutional last June by the State Supreme Court.

Pauley said the bill would "correct inequities" in that law and would be mandatory rather than permissive.

It was learned that a majority of the 85 House Democrats abandoned ideas of throwing their support behind a 10 per cent increase in the gross sales tax on business. It had been discussed, along with an income tax, as a means of compromising Senate - House differences in their attempt to raise some $18,000 in new revenue.

Agreement in principle was reached by the Democratic majorities in the two chambers last week on measures to raise some $8,000,000 for roads, and on several bills to be used in raising the other $10,000,000 for schools, mental hospitals and other services.

Senate Democrats discussed various alternatives at a caucus Tuesday and it was reported there was more sentiment for a gross sales tax increase than for an income tax.

"The Democratic House caucus again overshadowed floor sessions during which the House passed four bills and the Senate three.

"Open Records" Okayed

Approved by the House 87-7 was a bill to open to public inspection all records of state county and municipal governments except those declared secret by the Legislature or a court of record.

Delegates also passed 93-1 a bill to extend the transportation privilege tax to airlines and barge lines. It and the open record bill still require a concurring vote in the Senate.

Two proposed constitutional amendments to let the voters choose in 1960 between liquor-by-the-drink and prohibition, were held over at the amendment state. They will probably not come to a final House vote until the middle of next week.

Approved by a voice vote was a resolution calling on the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads to include U. S. Route 19 in the Interstate highway system. It also goes to the Senate.

The Senate passed three bills during a 40-minute session, including one to raise the sentence for check forgery to 2-to-10 years in prison. It is now 1-to-10 years. The bill passed the House earlier but was returned for concurrence in Senate amendments.

The House will meet at 10:30 a. m. Friday and the Senate at noon to give members an early start homeward.

Annual Meeting Of ACP Group Is Held Here

Recommendations, Changes Suggested

The Development Group of the Allegany Agriculture Conservation Program held its annual meeting this week at the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office, 37 Washington Street.

Some six members present made recommendations and changes which they want included in the 1960 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Their report will be forwarded to the Maryland ACP group at College Park. The local group decided that the practices of 1958-59 be continued in 1960.

They include liming, permanent pasture improvement, contour strip cropping, diversion terraces, ponds for livestock water and irrigation, sub-soiling, springs for livestock water.

Open and tile drainage ditches, sod waterways, seeding of ponds and diversion terraces, cover crops to protect land, seeding of land unsuited for conservation, planting orchards and berries on contour as well as forest tree planting and forestry improvements.

Attending the meeting, according to Miss Elizabeth Hoover, manager of the ASC office, were Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent; District Forester William H. Johnson, Wilbert Paul and Floyd Buser, SCS Supervisors, Charles S. Harvey and James Weimer, county ASC committeemen.

Old Dwellings To Come Down

An official of the Ace Wrecking Company, Columbus, Ohio, is here getting set up to begin the demolition of buildings on the site of this city's third low-rent public housing project.

James B. Raines, executive director of the Housing Authority, said actual demolition is expected to begin in a few days.

The firm was awarded a $8,240 contract for razing about two dozen structures which stand on the site in the Oldtown Road-Lamont Street area.

Final plans for the housing project are being prepared by S. Russ Minter, local architect, and should be completed in mid-March.

The plans must be submitted to the Public Housing Authority for a final review. The agency has already approved preliminary drawings.

Route 40 Bill May Pass House Today

The House of Delegates is expected to approve today a bill which would permit state agencies to develop roadside parks along Route 40 in Western Maryland.

Introduced by Delegate William Walsh, (D-Allegany), the bill passed its second reading in the House Wednesday and was sent to the printer for minor changes in wording.

It is House Bill 89, which would permit the State Roads Commission to acquire land for a minimum of 10 park areas along the scenic highway and to build access roads to the recreation sites.

Local Bus Driver Home From Hospital

James C. Neely, 623 Patterson Avenue, a bus driver for the Queen City Transit Lines, has returned home from Memorial Hospital where he underwent major surgery.

Mr. Neely was taken ill on January 12 while operating his bus on Fayette Street.

Secretaries Will Have Refresher Course

Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association, is starting a 10-weeks refresher course at Catherman's Business School, tonight. It will be from 7 until 9 o'clock. Registration will be this evening.

SRC Seeks Bids For Repairs To Wiley Ford Bridge

The State Roads Commission is advertising for bids for repairs to the Wiley Ford Bridge.

Bids will be opened February 24 in the Baltimore office of the SRC.

The project will include the renewal of timber floor and railing of the 400-foot long bridge which spans the Potomac River, connecting Cumberland and Wiley Ford, W. Va.

Flood Control Workers Are Back In Creek

Flood control workers yesterday were back in Wills Creek replacing a coffer dam which was scoured away Tuesday as a winter thaw broke an ice jam upstream.

The earth barrier was being formed on the east side of the creek upstream of the Western Maryland Railway bridge.

At the same time, officials of the Hazelwood Construction Company and the Corps of Engineers began an inspection of the construction site to determine the damage done as the huge blocks of ice and debris hurtled against forms.

Damage, except to the coffer dam, was expected to be comparatively minor.

The high waters caused a slight setback to work in the area immediately above the bridge, virtually the only uncompleted part of the huge construction job.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said the work in the vicinity of the bridge will probably extend into April.

The entire project is scheduled to be turned over to the City of Cumberland on May 1.

Dairy, Livestock

cows as well as various requirements in the most economical milk production.

Milk Code Cited

J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, made a number of introductions later in the meeting. C. S. Brinsfield, chief, Bureau of Food Control, dwelt on the Maryland Milk Code and regulations.

He pointed out that hereafter milk producers' permits would not be issued unless the farmer meets the standards set up by the state health department. He went over the various requirements which must be met year to year. Such permits are not transferable from farm to farm, he stressed in his talk.

Sanitary conditions around the barn and milk house were outlined by A. A. Pais, supervisor of milk control for Maryland.

Hereafter, he said, all equipment used in connection with milk production must receive the certification of the state health department and anything new which is installed in the barn or milk house must come up to department's specifications. This is also true of new equipment placed on the market.

It was pointed out that it is up to the dairy farmers to protect their own interests in the production of milk governed by a rigid health department code.

Approximately 190 farmers attended the meeting. Also held in the afternoon was the livestock meeting presided over by James Twigg, area livestock farmer.

He introduced Dr. James R. Ferguson, extension animal husbandry specialist, who outlined the challenge and promise of feeder pig production. Livestock feeding and management were also discussed by him.

Harvey Shockley, sanitarian and milk inspector of the area, and Mr. Dowling urged the dairymen to attend the meeting yesterday.

Dorcas Man Joins Navy

Donald Edward Sites, 19, of Dorcas, W. Va., enlisted in the US Navy at the local recruiting station. A native of Petersburg, he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville George Sites and attended Petersburg High School. He is taking his basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois.

Newspapermen Begin Session

BALTIMORE (AP)— Maryland newspapermen discussed methods of getting more advertising for small papers Thursday at the opening session of the annual Maryland Press Assn. and Chesapeake Associated Press convention.

The three-day meeting began in the Lord Baltimore Hotel with a luncheon address by Ray Hamby, manager of the Maryland Press Service.

Afterwards, the delegates attended an advertising workshop, with Richard Noble of the Easton Star-Democrat presiding over a discussion of how small townpapers can find more business.

Members of the Maryland Press Board of Directors and Advisory Council met in the late afternoon.

Harry Rhodes, Queen Annes County school superintendent, spoke at a Past President's Banquet Thursday night on the subject "Does a Newspaper Make a Difference?"

Gov. Tawes and Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein will speak at a State luncheon in the hotel Friday. The annual business meeting of the Chesapeake Associated Press will follow.

Earlier in the day the Maryland Press Assn. will hold its annual business meeting, sandwiched between speeches by Edmund J. Arnold of Linotype News and Donald Bernard, vice president of the Washington Post.

At the 15th anniversary banquet Friday night, the main speaker will be John V. Horner, immediate past president of the National Press Club and a reporter for the Washington Star.

The convention ends Saturday after addresses by George W. Della, president of the Maryland Senate, and Del. Perry O. Wilkinson, speaker of the Maryland House.

Car Catches Fire

Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company extinguished a fire in a car owned by Robert E. Steckle, Miltenberger Road, yesterday afternoon. Firemen said they hadn't determined the origin of the blaze and did not estimate the damage to the car which was parked along Miltenberger Road.

Gov. Underwood Speaks In Calif.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia said Thursday night America has only two choices in its battle with Communism — to continue fighting both hot and cold wars to live with the Red ideology.

Addressing the annual Lincoln Club dinner here, the Republican governor said that while Communist philosophy was dedicated to the inevitable and violent downfall of the capitalistic system, this country "is devoted to the advancement of our way among the peoples of the world."

"In the foreseeable future, I can see no choice for America, except to live in this divided world," Underwood said. "To live in a world with Communism is not to surrender to it. This international life will be fraught with anxiety and stress; even so, it is preferable to destruction and death."

Underwood noted in his opening remarks that Lincoln "godfathered" the civil war-born state of West Virginia and that it was the only state in the union created without the consent of the parent state and without the sanction of the constitution.

See Introduces Bill To Finance Handicapped Survey

State Senator Charles M. See yesterday introduced a bill to finance a survey of handicapped children in Allegany County.

The bill would authorize the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to turn over to the Friends Aware of Handicapped Children, Inc., the sum of $2,000 for the survey.

Senator See said the bill is an enabling act which would allow the County Commissioners to turn over the funds after July 1. He said he had been informed the Commissioners are in agreement with the proposal

The bill was referred to Senators See, Gonder and Snyder for study and recommendation.

$22,500 a year, will have a virtually free hand in running the State Highway Department as well as supervising Maryland's 1,670 miles of primary and interstate highways. But he will be charged only with execution of commission policy for the 3,130 miles of secondary or feeder roads through the counties.

Tawes said the location, design and type of secondary roads needed vary from area to area by traffic conditions and that the geographic representative of that section will be better acquainted with local conditions.

Tawes also suggested the commission should reexamine present policies of acquiring land long in advance of planned widening or dual lane construction of highways.

He said there are "a number of instances" in the 12-year program where such improvements can't be foreseen as needed before 1975 if then. He called it "an unwise expenditure of state highway funds." He proposed a number of changes in the internal makeup of the roads commission.

Senior Student Admits Threat

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Jerry D. Clark, 18, a senior at Charleston High School, confessed to police Thursday he had made one of four telephone bomb threats at schools this week.

Police said the youth admitted making a call Monday morning, warning that a time bomb had been concealed in the building. Three other such hoaxes were made in the next three days.

The 1,500 Charleston high students were ushered out of the building and a search was made by city police and FBI agents. Clark denied making any of the other calls.

Kanawha County Juvenile Judge Herbert W. Richardson said, meanwhile there would be no protective cloak of anonymity for instigators of the threats.

Names of juvenile offenders are not usually made public but Richardson said those involved in such hoaxes would be brought before an open court with full news coverage.

The Temptations Of Capitalism

Now that "cultural contacts" on a supervised basis are bringing Soviet athletes and performers to the Western nations, one curious sidelight has appeared. It seems that these painstakingly screened delegations sometimes include shoplifters.

In 1956 Nina Ponomareva, woman discus thrower, was accused of picking up five hats in London valued at $4.68, after which she was sheltered from capitalist tyranny for 44 days in the Soviet Embassy. And last year Olga Lepshinskaya, prima ballerina with Moscow's Bolshoi Ballet, was picked up on a similar charge in Brussels.

Without condoning shoplifting, some persons felt a little sympathy for Nina and Olga. There are ever so many American girls whose sanity appears to hang by a thread when they are turned loose amid the tantalizing profusion of an American department store. What, then, must be the effect on a Russian girl when, after a decade of standing in queues for long periods in order to obtain a single all — to — utilitarian garment, she finds luxuries within arm's reach on every side?

But it was no girl who, the other day in New York, was charged with having picked up 23 neckties, five pairs of socks, a handbag and a brassiere without remembering to pay the $42.21 they represented at Macy's prices. It was Gennode Lvov, accordionist with the visiting Beryozka Russian Dance Company.

Macy's, perhaps with a little nudging from the State Department, decided to let it go. "The merchandise," it noted phlegmatically, "has been returned." But wouldn't the Russians, in the interest of peaceful coexistence and all that, be well advised when they send their delegations into the capitals of capitalist squalor and destitution to provide them with a little more spending money?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Nixon vs. Lyndon Johnson

As the 1960 Presidential election begins to emerge, many persons are trying to focus attention upon themselves. The managers of Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York have put an organization into the field to blitz the nomination for him. The Democrats have a plethora of candidates. From the standpoint of the best interests of the United States, it would seem at this moment that if the Republicans nominated Vice President Richard Nixon and if the Democrats nominated Senator Lyndon Johnson, we might again have a two-party debate and an opportunity for the people to make a selection without disadvantage no matter which one was elected.

Vice President Nixon has matured during the past six years from a provincial member of Congress, eager to become a Senator, to one of the leading and most useful statesmen our country has at this time. Lyndon Johnson has emerged in the United States Senate not only as a competent political leader but as a statesman who puts country above party.

Naturally, these men see life from different standpoints. I shall not attribute their differences to the fact that one is a Republican and the other a Democrat, which has become meaningless in American politics. There are other important distinctions in personality: Nixon hails from California; Johnson from Texas. Johnson became administrative clerk to Congressman Richard Kleberg and had an intimate view of legislative procedures before he became a member of the House of Representatives and a Senator; Nixon moved in as a member of the House of Representatives, became a Senator and Vice President. Johnson has never served in any Administrative capacity; neither has Nixon, but in the Eisenhower Administration, he sits in the Cabinet and serves in many capacities for the President. Johnson and Nixon are both extraordinarily wise in the ways of American politics. Nixon's ideal of a political leader is Theodore Roosevelt, a pragmatist who having set himself a goal, found a method for getting there; Johnson was trained in the New Deal era, the period of transition from idealistic capitalism to the uncertainties of socialized capitalism.

In American affairs, the Texans are playing a most unusual role. Whereas they are Southerners, they nevertheless are nationalistically American. They do not sacrifice the Union in the contest over Negro rights. The result is that the Texans have become the leaders in both houses. Due to the varieties of Eisenhower emotionalism, Richard Nixon has been forced to assume an unusual leadership in the Republican Party —a leadership generally held by the President. His principal political opponent was Sherman Adams and his particular clique. Due to the collapse of the Adlai Stevenson influence in the Democratic Party and the attempt of the Americans for Democratic Action to gain control of the machinery of the Democratic Party, Lyndon Johnson has had to assume a leadership which extends beyond the floor of the Senate.

Lyndon Johnson's nomination is most likely to be bitterly opposed by the A.D.A. element who are now advocating the candidacy of Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota; Richard Nixon's candidacy will be most opposed by the Rockefeller element in the Republican Party. It is a curiosity of American politics that the same elements which support Humphrey against Johnson are supporting Rockefeller against Nixon.

However, Humphrey attempted a political tour de force by an interview with Khrushchev a huge magazine article on the subject which really said nothing and a Khrushchev ridicule of the article which was inevitable. Precisely what Humphrey expected to accomplish by this, it is difficult to see. Rockefeller proceeded to antagonize everybody in New York State by a tax program which does not make either economic or political sense. Even if the program were sound, which it is not, Rockefeller's handling of it and of the press has been amateurish and arbitrary and would indicate a lack of political savvy, not only on his part, but on the part of his galaxy of advisers. Before a man can establish himself as strong in politics, he needs to be wise.

It would seem therefore that the candidates will still be Nixon and Johnson, although in both parties a sharp struggle continues between the conservatives and liberals, each side crossing over into both parties. The liberals are, for instance, through the A.D.A., really attempting to produce a one party system here.

U. S. Policies Supported By Public Opinion

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—It seems easy sometimes to personalize big issues and doubtless Moscow is reading with exultation today the news that maybe Secretary of State Dulles will not be as active as before. For there are in the Soviet Union as well as in the United States and Britain many who think that the policy of this country is "inflexible" or "rigid" or fixed at "dead center" because Mr. Dulles presumably wants it that way — and that, once he has left office, all will be changed.

Actually, there is only one simple barrier between Moscow and Washington today. The Soviets want "unconditional surrender, which means no concessions of substance on their part. Anybody who stands in their way is promptly labelled as unrealistic and flexible, and as desiring to continue "tensions" in preference to acceptance of a supposedly attractive alternative — "peaceful co-existence."

Mr. Dulles is an international lawyer and an experienced negotiator. He is handicapped by the fact that there are newspapers in America which continually tell the Russians, in effect, not to worry about what he says, and that American public opinion is virtually ready for peace at any price. When Deputy Premier Mikoyan returned to Moscow after his visit to this country, he told the 21st Communist Party Congress that the American people are really in favor of peace but their government isn't. The attempt to drive a wedge between the people of the United States and their government was transparent.

Oddly enough, the angry reaction which followed the Mikoyan visit showed that American public opinion hasn't changed a bit —it is basically distrustful of the Communist regime and isn't ready to surrender, either. This correspondent received a bigger mail about it from all parts of the country than on any other subject in recent years.

The people from coast to coast insisted in their letters they were not taken in by the Mikoyan trip. It is interesting to note also that many citizens are beginning to say about war that there comes a time "when you can take just so much and no more." Phrases like this have not appeared in letters to this writer since the days before the last two World Wars. It is a strange phenomenon but there are many observers who wishfully think that, because war is almost too horrible to contemplate, this means the people are willing to swallow their pride and their patriotism and surrender to a foreign foe. No greater mistake could be made in evaluating public opinion in America.

Perhaps the most realistic appraisal of the opinion of the American people today would be to say that they want peace, but not at any price. They are willing to see peace negotiated but this does not mean that our side must make all the concessions. Nor does it mean that the supposed "settlement" can be of such a nature that it obviously will breed war as a consequence.

What makes international diplomacy hard to conduct these days is the fact that some of the influential newspapers in all the free countries are so eager for peace that they give the impression to Moscow that almost anything will be accepted. This is called "flexibility." A press that can express itself freely is important to maintain, but there is an obligation also to make sure that the opinion of the silent citizen is taken into account. For today there is really a greater than ever before behind the policies of the United States and her allies in the face of Communist trickery.

The problem of Berlin does not seem on the surface anything that in and of itself would be difficult to resolve. Whether the traffic to and from Berlin through the Eastern Zone is controlled by an East German government or by the Soviet military patrols isn't the real issue. What is more important is whether West Berlin shall continue as a symbol to the West German people — as a free city — or whether the Communists will be able to boast of another propaganda victory that will not only depress the Western countries, but will discourage the people of the captive countries. The craving for liberation is not dead in Eastern Europe. It is very important to maintain the morale of the people of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, as well as the freedom-seeking people of East Germany. To capitulate to the Reds —or to seem to be doing so—is dangerous because it could lead to a miscalculation by Moscow and a further "testing" that can bring on the kind of incidents out of which in the past sudden war has come.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WASHINGTON —American foreign policy as formulated by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will undergo much more severe and intensive scrutiny during the next two years.

This comes about because of the change in the chairmanship of the Senate foreign relations committee from Senator Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island to Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas.

Green now 91, and the oldest man ever to serve in the Senate, surrendered his chairmanship voluntarily because failing eyesight and hearing have impaired his ability to keep abreast of committee work.

Fulbright, youthful and vigorous, is now serving his third six-year term in the Senate. He has long been a recognized authority on foreign affairs within the Democratic party, and has long been a vocal critic of the Republican approach to international politics and policies.

In his new position of prestige and power, Fulbright is expected to become his party's voice in foreign affairs differences with the administration. Where Green was inclined to be complacent, Fulbright will be aggressive.

Some of his colleagues foresee in him a Democratic re-incarnation of the late Republican senator from Michigan, Arthur H. Vandenburg, who played such a vigorous role in formulating foreign policy in the war years of the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration.

Ike Considers Four Men Possible Successors For Secretary Dulles

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — With John Foster Dulles in the hospital for his second major operation, President Eisenhower necessarily has given consideration to his successor. Discussing this with a close friend recently, Ike said he was considering the following and asked advice as to which was best qualified to be Secretary of State:

JOHN J. McCLOY—Chairman of Chase Manhattan Bank, former High Commissioner to Germany, Ambassador to Germany, and head of the World Bank. McCloy came into government under Roosevelt when he served as Assistant Secretary of War. Eisenhower got to know him in Germany.

HENRY CABOT LODGE—U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations. Lodge, then a Senator from Massachusetts, was one of the first Republican leaders to urge Eisenhower for President. He attends Cabinet meetings, and has done a good job at the United Nations. Ike is fond of him personally.

GEN. AL GRUENTHER—Now haed of the American Red Cross, former Chief of Staff to Eisenhower at SHAPE in Paris. As a military planner Gruenther is a genius, having mapped the strategy for retaking Italy. As successor to Eisenhower at SHAPE, Gruenther was so popular with civilian heads of governments that he was asked to remain on, even though there was some original prejudice against him as a military man.

DOUGLAS DILLON — Deputy Undersecretary of State. Dillon was removed from his post as Ambassador to France in 1956 largely because the administration wanted to reward Amory Houghton, head of Corning Glass, who had contributed heavily to the Eisenhower campaign.

Dillon was doing a good job in France, didn't want to come home. The Dillon family had contributed $36,000. To keep him happy he was given a job in charge of State Department economic affairs. Irony is that Dillon did so well that he rates No. 1 next to Dulles in Ike's favor.

Chris Herter, former Congressman and Governor of Massachusetts, was brought into the State Department as Undersecretary with the idea that eventually he might succeed Dulles. However, Eisenhower did not mention Herter among the group he was considering as Secretary of State. He remarked that in many ways he would like to appoint Gruenther, except he was fearful of public reaction to a military man as Secretary of State.

Note—Dillon is the grandson of a Polish immigrant. His father Clarence Dillon, helped found the investment banking firm of Dillon, Reed, the company which sent the late James V. Forrestal, Tommy Corcoran, John Cahill and other famous figures to Washington as members of the Roosevelt administration. Douglas Dillon was head of the firm before Ike appointed him as Ambassador to France in 1953.

Ikes' Bubble-Top

Though Ike will remain in Acapulco, Mexico, only from 10 a. m., February 19, to 11 p. m. the next day, all kinds of preparations are being made for the visit. Among other things, his famous bubble-top limousine is to be driven a distance of 4,000 miles round trip for the 37-hour stay.

Mexicans are somewhat mystified at this because they feel they are quite competent to protect the President and care for his every comfort. They feel that they could supply an adequate limousine and save money for the President's goal of balancing the budget.

Here is the lavish entertainment they are planning for him. Ike will stay at the swank Pierre Marques Hotel owned by oil billionaire Paul Getty whom Fortune Magazine described as the richest man in the world.

He will go aboard Lopez Mateos' yacht, the Sotovento, for lunch. In the evening, the President of Mexico will be host at dinner at Acapulco's swankiest night club, the Jacaranda. Mexican folk singer Lola Beltran, with orchestra, is slated to entertain for a $3,000 fee.

Next morning, talks resume at the Hotel Prado Americas where the President of Mexico is to stay. That evening the visit winds up at the Ski Club, which will stage a special show of aquatic sports.

Negro Page Mystery

Nobody has yet solved the msytery of why James A. Johnson Jr., the would-be page boy, was brought all the way from Chicago and then refused a job.

Barrett O'Hara, the kindly Chicago Congressman who sponsored James, explains that some years ago he appointed his grands as a page and then decided that it was not a good thing for a youngster unless he was living with his family.

"The page boys' school begins at around 5.45 a. m.," explained Congressman O'Hara. "He has to finish his studies and be on the floor of Congress by 9 a. m. Sometimes he has to work late in the afternoon or evening. A boy needs to be with his family more and have direct supervision.

"So I had my grandson return to Chicago. His place was filled by the son of a Washington newspaperman, and later Miss Ethel Payne of the Chicago Defender came in and suggested that her nephew, James Johnson, be appointed. She said he would live with her and she would take care of him."

The Chicago Defender is one of the largest Negro newspapers in the United States, and Miss Payne is its Washington correspondent.

At that time, James was only thirteen and a half years old, six months under the legal age. O'Hara said he checked with Congressman Francis Walter of Pennsylvania, in charge of the Democratic Patronage Committee, who said there would be no objection to the appointment of a Negro page.

"When James was of age and ready for the job, my secretary phoned Miss Green of the Patronage Committee," said O'Hara, "and she said 'When can he come to work?'

"Next day Tad Walter called and said there might be a little delay, that some of the other page boys were going to remain longer than expected, but the place would be available later."

Congressman O'Hara said he called Ethel Payne and told her to hold up her nephew. He also warned against any publicity.

"The minute the publicity broke, however, there was trouble," said the Congressman from Chicago. "I still haven't been able to find out what happened. Congressman Walter has done a good job and is certainly not guilty of any prejudice. But the publicity probably made it tough for southern members of Congress."

New Disease Names Replacing Old 'Fevers'

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Fever is a symptom and not a disease, yet the medical dictionaries list more than 150 fevers that actually are diseases. Many are duplications and some have half a dozen names. Malaria, for example, was called swamp, jungle, remittent, ardent, intermittent and blackwater fever.

Typhoid also had a variety of names; before the cause was known, it was termer autumnal, cesspool, pythogenic, nervous, enteric, and Lent fever. The latter probably stemmed from the observation that the malady followed eating infected fish.

Some of the names given typhus—war, camp, ship, and jail fever—should have suggested a common origin of the condition but it was not until 1829 that typhus and typhoid were differentiated. The cause of brucellosis was not discovered until 1886. Until then, the illness was referred to as Malta, Neapolitan, Gilbraltar, Mediterranean, Rio Grande, rock, and undulant fever.

Q fever is a rickettsial infection first recognized in Queensland, Australia, but in Montana it is known as nine mile fever. Dumdum, or black fever, is kala azar, an old world parasitic disorder spread by flies.

Dengue is a viral infection transmitted by certain mosquitoes. Because of the severe aching it produces, its popular name was breakbone fever but it also was called red, seven day, and dandy fever, as well as Russian headache.

In World War I, trench fever (due to cooties) was nicknamed shinbone and tibialgic fever because of the sore shins of the victims. It also was referred to as Meuse and Salonica fever because the troops in those theaters of war were affected.

Boohoo fever is a disease found in the Pacific islands; it causes mental depression and gastrointestinal symptoms. We also have peach fever, sometimes contracted by workers in this industry from peach fuzz; threshing fever, a form of pneumoconiasis, among grain threshers; muma fever, which leads to sore muscles, and hectic fever, which old timers associated with phthisis (tuberculosis).

Today we have hay fever and rheumatic fever but in general infections are given more adequate names and fever is relegated to its minor role as a symptom rather than a disease.

TOMORROW: Lowering hypertension.

CHEST PAIN

D. R. writes: Besides taking nitroglycerin, what can be done about anginal pain after eating?

REPLY

It's hard to beat nitroglycerin but the following three suggestions may help:

1. Eat smaller portions.
2. Select foods that are easy to digest.
3. Take a 15 to 30 minute rest or nap after eating.

PSYCHE AND SMOKING

S. L. writes: Do cigarets affect the emotional state of the individual?

REPLY

No. Habitual users of tobacco claim to experience pleasure from smoking described as reposeful, calming, or stabilizing. Much depends upon the temperament of the individual. Excessive use may lead to irritability or anxiety.

KIDNEY TB

W. S. writes: Is tuberculosis of the kidney diagnosed by X-ray?

REPLY

SCIATICA FROM ARTHRITIS

W. D. writes: Could arthritis of the spine cause sciatic pain down the legs?

REPLY

Yes, especially when the roots of the sciatic nerve are irritated.

SPREAD OF TB

REPLY

Tuberculosis of the membranes lining the abdominal cavity. Treatment with medications is the same as with pulmonary tuberculosis.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

"My problem is my son," a woman announced to a new psychoanalyst. "He spends the entire day making mud pies, then eating them."

"Well, I don't like it," snapped the woman, "and neither does his wife."

One of those angry young men —spokesman for the unsilent generation — wangled a job in a TV studio. "Remember," he was cautioned, "you can't afford to ignore the old love interest. There's got to be a chicken in every plot!"

A frigid silence at home, observes Orville Reed, is often the sign that a man will have to thaw his own dinner. Another Reed discovery: since the invention of elastic, women take up one-third less space.

The boy most likely to succeed.

We knew him from the start. He was Elliott Clemson and he had the best mind in the class and the finest personality. At the age of 10, he was particular about his clothes. He seldom studied. A quick scan at the books was enough. His marks were always high.

He was short and dark and he hung back a little. His eyes were the color of a summer sky at noon, and his hair had a single deep wave. Ell made the rest of us look like pimpled dunces, but none of us resented it and the proof is that we invited him to all our parties.

He had a basic goodness coupled with ability. He ran errands after school and he delivered newspapers too. The money —all of the money — went to his mother. There were lots of other intelligent youngsters in the class — Tom Kerrigan and Johnny Allen and Bob O'Brien and Johnny Marron and Vincent Kane and Francis Moran — but none of them ran a close second to Elliott.

When we grew old enough for dates, Ell played the field a little and then picked Jo. She too was serious for one so young. Jo was attractive. Not as pretty as Mary Lucid and Florence Scanlon and Margie Whipple, perhaps, but she had a dark brooding quality which some young men regard as irresistible.

From that time on, it was impossible to invite Ell anywhere—even to a school football game—unless Jo was included. Each of them had lots of outside chances. Neither was interested. Our group used to watch them, off in a corner, talking low, and we'd say: "That one was made in Heaven." I didn't get to the wedding.

Ell went to work in a bank. It didn't take him long to compute his chance of becoming president. He figured that he needed ability, luck and about 30 years of work. He quit the bank and went into politics. For awhile, he was a ward heeler, pounding doors and ringing bells to get out the vote.

This didn't work out because some of the bosses were suspicious of Ell's intelligence. The Clemsons moved to another town and Elliott took a job selling real estate while he organized a taxpayer's league on the side. The rest of the fellows in the class were starting in small jobs and getting married, or bragging about their bachelorhood, and the group broke up.

Sometimes a year or two would go by without a word from Elliott. But he went more and more for politics, and his climb was steady. He came to the notice of the state boss and, in his own city, Elliott became water commissioner. He went up, up, up.

Elliott owned his own home. He had four children and they dressed well and went to private schools. Jo was still pretty and she no longer soiled her hands in dishwater. After a political banquet, Elliott saw me and threw an arm around my shoulder and said I had to come to his house and to bring my wife.

I said sure, thanks. But I didn't like his big boss and I wondered how Elliott got the big house, the Cadillac and the servants on $8,000 a year. It was none of my business. But I wondered anyway. He was seen at the race track in a private box and, when he went to a big restaurant, he was bowed to a private dining room.

Elliott had it made. He was on top. The last time I saw him, he told me that if there was anything he could do for me, to name it. He knew everybody. He was in right with everybody. He was a big man. The boss never made a decision without consulting Elliott.

A few years ago, the big boss lost a campaign. Then another. He hit the skids. Elliott lost too, a new administration came in, and they told him that they could not afford him.

Last Summer, Johnny Marron came down to the house. We picked up a lot of old threads. "How is Elliott?" I said.

"Funny you should mention him," Johnny said. "I ran into him in New York last week. He talked me out of ten bucks. Jo and the kids couldn't take it. They walked out a year ago."

The boy most likely to succeed. . .

The Temptations Of Capitalism

Now that "cultural contacts" on a supervised basis are bringing Soviet athletes and performers to the Western nations, one curious sidelight has appeared. It seems that these painstakingly screened delegations sometimes include shoplifters.

In 1956 Nina Ponomareva, woman discus thrower, was accused of picking up five hats in London valued at $4.68, after which she was sheltered from capitalist tyranny for 44 days in the Soviet Embassy. And last year Olga Lepshinskaya, prima ballerina with Moscow's Bolshoi Ballet, was picked up on a similar charge in Brussels.

Without condoning shoplifting, some persons felt a little sympathy for Nina and Olga. There are ever so many American girls whose sanity appears to hang by a thread when they are turned loose amid the tantalizing profusion of an American department store. What, then, must be the effect on a Russian girl when, after a decade of standing in queues for long periods in order to obtain a single all—to—utilitarian garment, she finds luxuries within arm's reach on every side?

But it was no girl who, the other day in New York, was charged with having picked up 23 neckties, five pairs of socks, a handbag and a brassiere without remembering to pay the $42.21 they represented at Macy's prices. It was Gennode Lvov, accordionist with the visiting Beryozka Russian Dance Company.

Macy's, perhaps with a little nudging from the State Department, decided to let it go. "The merchandise," it noted phlegmatically, "has been returned." But wouldn't the Russians, in the interest of peaceful coexistence and all that, be well advised when they send their delegations into the capitals of capitalist squalor and destitution to provide them with a little more spending money?

Nixon vs. Lyndon Johnson

As the 1960 Presidential election begins to emerge, many persons are trying to focus attention upon themselves. The managers of Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York have put an organization into the field to blitz the nomination for him. The Democrats have a plethora of candidates. Ike Considers Four Men Possible Successors For Secretary Dulles

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — With John Foster Dulles in the hospital for his second major operation, President Eisenhower necessarily has given consideration to his successor. Chris Herter, former Congressman and Governor of Massachusetts, was brought into the State Department as Undersecretary with the idea that eventually he might succeed Dulles. However, Eisenhower did not mention Herter among the group he was considering as Secretary of State. He remarked that in many ways he would like to appoint Gruenther, except he was fearful of public reaction to a military man as Secretary of State.

Negro Page Mystery

Nobody has yet solved the msytery of why James A. Johnson Jr., the would-be page boy, was brought all the way from Chicago and then refused a job.

Barrett O'Hara, the kindly Chicago Congressman who sponsored James, explains that some years ago he appointed his grands as a page and then decided that it was not a good thing for a youngster unless he was living with his family.

"The page boys' school begins at around 5:45 a. m.," explained Congressman O'Hara. "He has to finish his studies and be on the floor of Congress by 9 a. m. Sometimes he has to work late in the afternoon or evening. A boy needs to be with his family more and have direct supervision.

"So I had my grandson return to Chicago. His place was filled by the son of a Washington newspaperman, and later Miss Ethel Payne of the Chicago Defender came in and suggested that her nephew, James Johnson, be appointed. She said he would live with her and she would take care of him."

The Chicago Defender is one of the largest Negro newspapers in the United States, and Miss Payne is its Washington correspondent.

At that time, James was only thirteen and a half years old, six months under the legal age. O'Hara said he checked with Congressman Francis Walter of Pennsylvania, in charge of the Democratic Patronage Committee, who said there would be no objection to the appointment of a Negro page.

"When James was of age and ready for the job, my secretary phoned Miss Green of the Patronage Committee," said O'Hara, "and she said 'When can he come to work?'

"Next day Tad Walter called and said there might be a little delay, that some of the other page boys were going to remain longer than expected, but the place would be available later."

Congressman O'Hara said he called Ethel Payne and told her to hold up her nephew. He also warned against any publicity.

"The minute the publicity broke, however, there was trouble," said the Congressman from Chicago. "I still haven't been able to find out what happened. Congressman Walter has done a good job and is certainly not guilty of any prejudice. But the publicity probably made it tough for southern members of Congress."

U. S. Policies Supported By Public Opinion

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—It seems easy sometimes to personalize big issues and doubtless Moscow is reading with exultation today the news that maybe Secretary of State Dulles will not be as active as before. For there are in the Soviet Union as well as in the United States and Britain many who think that the policy of this country is "inflexible" or "rigid" or fixed at "dead center" because Mr. Dulles presumably wants it that way — and that, once he has left office, all will be changed.

Actually, there is only one simple barrier between Moscow and Washington today. The Soviets want "unconditional surrender, which means no concessions of substance on their part. Anybody who stands in their way is promptly labelled as unrealistic and flexible, and as desiring to continue "tensions" in preference to acceptance of a supposedly attractive alternative — "peaceful co-existence."

Mr. Dulles is an international lawyer and an experienced negotiator. He is handicapped by the fact that there are newspapers in America which continually tell the Russians, in effect, not to worry about what he says, and that American public opinion is virtually ready for peace at any price. When Deputy Premier Mikoyan returned to Moscow after his visit to this country, he told the 21st Communist Party Congress that the American people are really in favor of peace but their government isn't. The attempt to drive a wedge between the people of the United States and their government was transparent.

Oddly enough, the angry reaction which followed the Mikoyan visit showed that American public opinion hasn't changed a bit—it is basically distrustful of the Communist regime and isn't ready to surrender, either. This correspondent received a bigger mail about it from all parts of the country than on any other subject in recent years.

The people from coast to coast insisted in their letters they were not taken in by the Mikoyan trip. It is interesting to note also that many citizens are beginning to say about war that there comes a time "when you can take just so much and no more." Phrases like this have not appeared in letters to this writer since the days before the last two World Wars. It is a strange phenomenon but there are many observers who wishfully think that, because war is almost too horrible to contemplate, this means the people are willing to swallow their pride and their patriotism and surrender to a foreign foe. No greater mistake could be made in evaluating public opinion in America.

Perhaps the most realistic appraisal of the opinion of the American people today would be to say that they want peace, but not at any price. They are willing to see peace negotiated but this does not mean that our side must make all the concessions. Nor does it mean that the supposed "settlement" can be of such a nature that it obviously will breed war as a consequence.

What makes international diplomacy hard to conduct these days is the fact that some of the influential newspapers in all the free countries are so eager for peace that they give the impression to Moscow that almost anything will be accepted. This is called "flexibility." A press that can express itself freely is important to maintain, but there is an obligation also to make sure that the opinion of the silent citizen is taken into account. For today there is really a greater than ever before behind the policies of the United States and her allies in the face of Communist trickery.

The problem of Berlin does not seem on the surface anything that in and of itself would be difficult to resolve. Whether the traffic to and from Berlin through the Eastern Zone is controlled by an East German government or by the Soviet military patrols isn't the real issue. What is more important is whether West Berlin shall continue as a symbol to the West German people — as a free city — or whether the Communists will be able to boast of another propaganda victory that will not only depress the Western countries, but will discourage the people of the captive countries. The craving for liberation is not dead in Eastern Europe. It is very important to maintain the morale of the people of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, as well as the freedom-seeking people of East Germany. To capitulate to the Reds —or to seem to be doing so—is dangerous because it could lead to a miscalculation by Moscow and a further "testing" that can bring on the kind of incidents out of which in the past sudden war has come.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WASHINGTON —American foreign policy as formulated by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will undergo much more severe and intensive scrutiny during the next two years.

This comes about because of the change in the chairmanship of the Senate foreign relations committee from Senator Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island to Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas.

Green now 91, and the oldest man ever to serve in the Senate, surrendered his chairmanship voluntarily because failing eyesight and hearing have impaired his ability to keep abreast of committee work.

Fulbright, youthful and vigorous, is now serving his third six-year term in the Senate. He has long been a recognized authority on foreign affairs within the Democratic party, and has long been a vocal critic of the Republican approach to international politics and policies.

In his new position of prestige and power, Fulbright is expected to become his party's voice in foreign affairs differences with the administration. Where Green was inclined to be complacent, Fulbright will be aggressive.

Some of his colleagues foresee in him a Democratic re-incarnation of the late Republican senator from Michigan, Arthur H. Vandenburg, who played such a vigorous role in formulating foreign policy in the war years of the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The boy most likely to succeed.

We knew him from the start. He was Elliott Clemson and he had the best mind in the class and the finest personality. At the age of 10, he was particular about his clothes. He seldom studied. A quick scan at the books was enough. His marks were always high.

He was short and dark and he hung back a little. His eyes were the color of a summer sky at noon, and his hair had a single deep wave. Ell made the rest of us look like pimpled dunces, but none of us resented it and the proof is that we invited him to all our parties.

He had a basic goodness coupled with ability. He ran errands after school and he delivered newspapers too. The money —all of the money — went to his mother. There were lots of other intelligent youngsters in the class — Tom Kerrigan and Johnny Allen and Bob O'Brien and Johnny Marron and Vincent Kane and Francis Moran — but none of them ran a close second to Elliott.

When we grew old enough for dates, Ell played the field a little and then picked Jo. She too was serious for one so young. Jo was attractive. Not as pretty as Mary Lucid and Florence Scanlon and Margie Whipple, perhaps, but she had a dark brooding quality which some young men regard as irresistible.

From that time on, it was impossible to invite Ell anywhere—even to a school football game—unless Jo was included. Each of them had lots of outside chances. Neither was interested. Our group used to watch them, off in a corner, talking low, and we'd say: "That one was made in Heaven." I didn't get to the wedding.

Ell went to work in a bank. It didn't take him long to compute his chance of becoming president. He figured that he needed ability, luck and about 30 years of work. He quit the bank and went into politics. For awhile, he was a ward heeler, pounding doors and ringing bells to get out the vote.

This didn't work out because some of the bosses were suspicious of Ell's intelligence. The Clemsons moved to another town and Elliott took a job selling real estate while he organized a taxpayer's league on the side. The rest of the fellows in the class were starting in small jobs and getting married, or bragging about their bachelorhood, and the group broke up.

Sometimes a year or two would go by without a word from Elliott. But he went more and more for politics, and his climb was steady. He came to the notice of the state boss and, in his own city, Elliott became water commissioner. He went up, up, up.

Elliott owned his own home. He had four children and they dressed well and went to private schools. Jo was still pretty and she no longer soiled her hands in dishwater. After a political banquet, Elliott saw me and threw an arm around my shoulder and said I had to come to his house and to bring my wife.

I said sure, thanks. But I didn't like his big boss and I wondered how Elliott got the big house, the Cadillac and the servants on $8,000 a year. It was none of my business. But I wondered anyway. He was seen at the race track in a private box and, when he went to a big restaurant, he was bowed to a private dining room.

Elliott had it made. He was on top. The last time I saw him, he told me that if there was anything he could do for me, to name it. He knew everybody. He was in right with everybody. He was a big man. The boss never made a decision without consulting Elliott.

A few years ago, the big boss lost a campaign. Then another. He hit the skids. Elliott lost too, a new administration came in, and they told him that they could not afford him.

Last Summer, Johnny Marron came down to the house. We picked up a lot of old threads. "How is Elliott?" I said.

"Funny you should mention him," Johnny said. "I ran into him in New York last week. He talked me out of ten bucks. Jo and the kids couldn't take it. They walked out a year ago."

New Disease Names Replacing Old 'Fevers'

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Fever is a symptom and not a disease, yet the medical dictionaries list more than 150 fevers that actually are diseases. Many are duplications and some have half a dozen names. Malaria, for example, was called swamp, jungle, remitient, ardent, intermittent and blackwater fever.

Typhoid also had a variety of names; before the cause was known, it was termer autumnal, cesspool, pythogenic, nervous, enteric, and Lent fever. The latter probably stemmed from the observation that the malady followed eating infected fish.

Some of the names given typhus—war, camp, ship, and jail fever—should have suggested a common origin of the condition but it was not until 1829 that typhus and typhoid were differentiated. The cause of brucellosis was not discovered until 1886. Until then, the illness was referred to as Malta, Neapolitan, Gilbraltar, Mediterranean, Rio Grande, rock, and undulant fever.

Q fever is a rickettsial infection first recognized in Queensland, Australia, but in Montana it is known as nine mile fever. Dumdum, or black fever, is kala azar, an old world parasitic disorder spread by flies.

Dengue is a viral infection transmitted by certain mosquitoes. Because of the severe aching it produces, its popular name was breakbone fever but it also was called red, seven day, and dandy fever, as well as Russian headache.

In World War I, trench fever (due to cooties) was nicknamed shinbone and tibialgic fever because of the sore shins of the victims. It also was referred to as Meuse and Salonica fever because the troops in those theaters of war were affected.

Boohoo fever is a disease found in the Pacific islands; it causes mental depression and gastrointestinal symptoms. We also have peach fever, sometimes contracted by workers in this industry from peach fuzz; threshing fever, a form of pneumoconiasis, among grain threshers; muma fever, which leads to sore muscles, and hectic fever, which old timers associated with phthisis (tuberculosis).

Today we have hay fever and rheumatic fever but in general infections are given more adequate names and fever is relegated to its minor role as a symptom rather than a disease.

TOMORROW: Lowering hypertension.

CHEST PAIN

D. R. writes: Besides taking nitroglycerin, what can be done about anginal pain after eating?

REPLY

It's hard to beat nitroglycerin but the following three suggestions may help:

1. Eat smaller portions.
2. Select foods that are easy to digest.
3. Take a 15 to 30 minute rest or nap after eating.

PSYCHE AND SMOKING

S. L. writes: Do cigarets affect the emotional state of the individual?

REPLY

No. Habitual users of tobacco claim to experience pleasure from smoking described as reposeful, calming, or stabilizing. Much depends upon the temperament of the individual. Excessive use may lead to irritability or anxiety.

KIDNEY TB

W. S. writes: Is tuberculosis of the kidney diagnosed by X-ray?

REPLY

SCIATICA FROM ARTHRITIS

W. D. writes: Could arthritis of the spine cause sciatic pain down the legs?

REPLY

SPREAD OF TB

REPLY

Tuberculosis of the membranes lining the abdominal cavity. Treatment with medications is the same as with pulmonary tuberculosis.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

"My problem is my son," a woman announced to a new psychoanalyst. "He spends the entire day making mud pies, then eating them."

"Well, I don't like it," snapped the woman, "and neither does his wife."

One of those angry young men —spokesman for the unsilent generation — wangled a job in a TV studio. "Remember," he was cautioned, "you can't afford to ignore the old love interest. There's got to be a chicken in every plot!"

A frigid silence at home, observes Orville Reed, is often the sign that a man will have to thaw his own dinner. Another Reed discovery: since the invention of elastic, women take up one-third less space.

Braised Steak, Cauliflower Good Eating For Family

Frequently it is the less tender, less demanded meat cut that reaps this particular honor. Just why is this? Actually the answer is quite simple.

The less tender meat cut, in this case beef arm or blade steak, is prepared in combination with vegetables or fruits and an entourage of seasonings. It is this blending and lending of flavors that create the superb finished product. This Braised Steak With Cauliflower is just one example of such an instance.

A meat cut of this type, less tender, must be cooked slowly with moist heat for the meat to attain its best flavor and tender qualities.

Braised Steak With Cauliflower

1 beef arm or blade steak, cut 1 inch thick
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon basil
1 bouillon cube
¼ teaspoon salt
1 small head cauliflower

Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge steak in seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add tomatoes, onion, oregano, basil, bouillon cube and salt. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ hours. Break cauliflower into small pieces and add to meat. Cover and continue cooking 30 minutes or until meat and cauliflower are done. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

If you're baking a pumpkin, remember, it can be done skin and all. By not peeling the pumpkin first, you will not only make it easier for yourself, but you will also preserve essential pumpkin vitamins. Just cut off the top, scoop out the seeds, replace the top and bake the pumpkin one hour at 350 degrees. Then scrape out while it's still warm.

PALE AMBER shaded to cognac is the theme of this dramatic silk chiffon evening dress by Helena Barbieri of Modern Couture. For Holiday-Resort 1959, its strapless, gathered top is marked by a high, jewel-encrusted band from which the skirt falls free in graceful, paneled folds. Free floating back panels move with the wearer to create a romantic, wind-blown effect.

Apple Cheesettes

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅔ cup shortening
⅝ cup grated American cheddar cheese
3-4 tablespoons ice water
2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
3 dozen pecans or walnuts
Brown sugar

Sift together, flour, salt and baking powder; cut in shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender. Add cheese; mix well. Add enough water to hold ingredients together. Chill. Drain liquid from canned apples; add rind; mix well. Roll out pastry to ⅛" thickness; cut with 3" round cutter. Place apple slice on one-half of circle of pastry; add walnut or pecan, and sprinkle lightly with sugar. Moisten edges of pastry; fold over; press edges together. Flute with pastry wheel. Pierce with fork or make gash in center of each. Place on baking sheet; bake in hot oven, 425 degrees, 10-15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen.

If you want to thaw frozen cod fillets enough to separate them before using, let the package of fish stand, opened, at room temperature for about 15 minutes.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Veal Loin Chop.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the loin section of the animal and includes the T-shaped bone. The muscles include the loin, tenderloin and flank. The tenderloin differentiates this chop from a rib chop and becomes smaller as the chops near the rib section.

Q. How it is prepared?

A. Loin chops are cooked slowly by braising. Chops cut ½ to ¾ inch thick require 45 minutes to 1 hour cooking time.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Dear Friends:

Something special about Abe Lincoln—As this is the time of year we celebrate Lincoln's birthday, we will be hearing a lot about him. Let's skip the usual things, the things we've heard too often, the things that would set him apart. For the moment, let's forget the speech at Gettysburg, forget the official things, and look at the really important thing about Abraham Lincoln. He came out of nowhere special. His folks were nobody special. Abe was a smart boy, but not too smart. He told funny stories. He was kind. He'd never try to hurt you, or cheat you, or fool you. Young Abe worked at odd jobs and read law books at night. Eventually he found his way into local politics. And it was then that people began to know there was something special about Abe Lincoln.

Abe had a way of growing without changing. So it seemed perfectly natural to find him padding around the White House in his slippers, putting his feet on a chair when he had a deep one to think about.

Abe Lincoln always did what most people would have done, said what they wanted said, thought what they would have thought when they stopped to think about it. He was everybody, grown a little taller. To me, that is the important thing about Lincoln.

Housing—The Senate took up the Housing Bill this past week. The measure was approved late Monday by the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, of which I am a member. As reported, it called for federal allotments of $2,925,000,000 over the next six years and permitted a one-half per cent jump in GI mortgage rates. It also authorized construction of 35,000 new public housing units plus reallowance of 16,000 unused authorizations, a total of 51,000 units. The measure involved direct federal loans of 300 million dollars to veterans where financing is not available; loans totaling 400 million dollars for college housing; and 125 million dollars in loans for college dormitories and class rooms. Some of the Senators hold that the Housing Bill goes too far, others that it does not go far enough.

Riverdale, Maryland, Army Reserve project—The Secretary of the Army tells me that bids will be solicited this week for construction of the U. S. Army Reserve construction project at Riverdale, Maryland. The project is a 5-unit Army Reserve Center and a 5-bay maintenance shop, to provide required facilities for training Reserve members.

Aircraft work for private shops—I have introduced a bill to guarantee to private industry 60 per cent of the government's aircraft maintenance workload. Some of the military services have diverted to government shops work which should have gone to private-industry plants, and this has hurt the industry. I have felt that we should protect the aircraft industry — and, for that matter, any industry which is an integral part of the tax producing machine on which the functioning of our structure of government depends.

Board of visitors, Naval Academy—Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts and I were honored last week by being nominated by the Senate Minority to the Board of Visitors of the U. S. Naval Academy.

Security reports rapidly outdated — Our Senate Committee on Armed Services continues its work on defense measures. Incidentally, the famous Gaither Report on military security, which advocated a much higher level of expenditures for the military than that proposed by the White House, was never made public. Weapons are developed so fast in the Space Age that a report such as that which the Gaither group submitted is rapidly outdated. A case in point: one of the most expensive items advocated in the Gaither Report was a large-scale shelter construction program; this was opposed by the Pentagon on the grounds that, due to developments in the weapons field, the shelter program would not protect more than a small fraction of the population.

Space age offers new business—The Space Age offers new opportunities for business and industry. Today, defense industries are shifting gears to make transitions to Space Age challenges. The production of rockets, missiles, and other hardware for space exploration, for both military and scientific purposes, will open new opportunities for prime- and sub-contracting. A major task is to make sure that small business—in Maryland and elsewhere—gets its fair share of new defense and other contracts.

Is the older worker superior?—Maryland's Department of Employment Security, affiliated with the U. S. Employment Service, has mailed to several thousand Maryland employers a pamphlet concerning the employment of older workers. The Employment Service rejects sympathy as an argument for older-worker hiring, and presses home the argument that it is good business to hire workers on the basis of their ability, regardless of their age. It is pointed out that recent on-the-job studies show that "many workers over 55 have output rates higher than the average for younger workers." The reports show that—

"Employers who have opened their doors to older workers have had some pleasant surprises, for the newcomers have brought into the business these qualities: stability that comes with maturity; less time wasting; more reliability; less absenteeism; a sense of responsibility and loyalty; steady work habits; a serious attitude toward the job; less tendency to be distracted by outside interests and influences."

Sincerely yours,
J. GLENN BEALL

CONFUSING—The last name of Rowena Buttenwieser, beautiful Chinese showgirl at a hotel in Las Vegas, surprises everyone until she explains she was adopted by Dr. Paul Buttenwieser when she was a little girl.

Chili Sauce

1 can (1-lb.) jellied cranberry sauce
¼ cup minced onion
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon chili powder
Dash of pepper
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Beat cranberry sauce with rotary beater until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat to boiling and simmer for 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve hot. Makes 1½ cups.

Next time you're serving beef pie, chicken pie, or lamb pie set a sparkling bowl of this cranberry relish on the table. It will disappear in no time.

Braised Steak, Cauliflower Good Eating For Family

Frequently it is the less tender, less demanded meat cut that reaps this particular honor. Just why is this? Actually the answer is quite simple.

The less tender meat cut, in this case beef arm or blade steak, is prepared in combination with vegetables or fruits and an entourage of seasonings. It is this blending and lending of flavors that create the superb finished product. This Braised Steak With Cauliflower is just one example of such an instance.

A meat cut of this type, less tender, must be cooked slowly with moist heat for the meat to attain its best flavor and tender qualities.

Braised Steak With Cauliflower

- 1 beef arm or blade steak, cut 1 inch thick
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- ½ teaspoon oregano
- ½ teaspoon basil
- 1 bouillon cube
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 small head cauliflower

Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge steak in seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add tomatoes, onion, oregano, basil, bouillon cube and salt. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ hours. Break cauliflower into small pieces and add to meat. Cover and continue cooking 30 minutes or until meat and cauliflower are done. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

If you're baking a pumpkin, remember, it can be done skin and all. By not peeling the pumpkin first, you will not only make it easier for yourself, but you will also preserve essential pumpkin vitamins. Just cut off the top, scoop out the seeds, replace the top and bake the pumpkin one hour at 350 degrees. Then scrape out while it's still warm.

PALE AMBER shaded to cognac is the theme of this dramatic silk chiffon evening dress by Helena Barbieri of Modern Couture. For Holiday-Resort 1959, its strapless, gathered top is marked by a high, jewel-encrusted band from which the skirt falls free in graceful, paneled folds. Free floating back panels move with the wearer to create a romantic, wind-blown effect.

Apple Cheesettes

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ⅔ cup shortening
- ⅔ cup grated American cheddar cheese
- 3-4 tablespoons ice water
- 2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 3 dozen pecans or walnuts
- Brown sugar

Sift together, flour, salt and baking powder; cut in shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender. Add cheese; mix well. Add enough water to hold ingredients together. Chill. Drain liquid from canned apples; add rind; mix well. Roll out pastry to ⅛" thickness; cut with 3" round cutter. Place apple slice on one-half of circle of pastry; add walnut or pecan, and sprinkle lightly with sugar. Moisten edges of pastry; fold over; press edges together. Flute with pastry wheel. Pierce with fork or make gash in center of each. Place on baking sheet; bake in hot oven, 425 degrees, 10-15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen.

If you want to thaw frozen cod fillets enough to separate them before using, let the package of fish stand, opened, at room temperature for about 15 minutes.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Veal Loin Chop.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the loin section of the animal and includes the T-shaped bone. The muscles include the loin, tenderloin and flank. The tenderloin differentiates this chop from a rib chop and becomes smaller as the chops near the rib section.

Q. How it is prepared?

A. Loin chops are cooked slowly by braising. Chops cut ½ to ¾ inch thick require 45 minutes to 1 hour cooking time.

Senate Cloakroom

Dear Friends:

Something special about Abe Lincoln—As this is the time of year we celebrate Lincoln's birthday, we will be hearing a lot about him. Let's skip the usual things, the things we've heard too often, the things that would set him apart. For the moment, let's forget the speech at Gettysburg, forget the official things, and look at the really important thing about Abraham Lincoln. He came out of nowhere special. His folks were nobody special. Abe was a smart boy, but not too smart. He told funny stories. He was kind. He'd never try to hurt you, or cheat you, or fool you. Young Abe worked at odd jobs and read law books at night. Eventually he found his way into local politics. And it was then that people began to know there was something special about Abe Lincoln.

Abe had a way of growing without changing. So it seemed perfectly natural to find him padding around the White House in his slippers, putting his feet on a chair when he had a deep one to think about.

Abe Lincoln always did what most people would have done, said what they wanted said, thought what they would have thought when they stopped to think about it. He was everybody, grown a little taller. To me, that is the important thing about Lincoln.

Housing—The Senate took up the Housing Bill this past week. The measure was approved late Monday by the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, of which I am a member. As reported, it called for federal allotments of $2,925,000,000 over the next six years and permitted a one-half per cent jump in GI mortgage rates. It also authorized construction of 35,000 new public housing units plus reallowance of 16,000 unused authorizations, a total of 51,000 units. The measure involved direct federal loans of 300 million dollars to veterans where financing is not available; loans totaling 400 million dollars for college housing; and 125 million dollars in loans for college dormitories and class rooms. Some of the Senators hold that the Housing Bill goes too far, others that it does not go far enough.

Riverdale, Maryland, Army Reserve project—The Secretary of the Army tells me that bids will be solicited this week for construction of the U. S. Army Reserve construction project at Riverdale, Maryland. The project is a 5-unit Army Reserve Center and a 5-bay maintenance shop, to provide required facilities for training Reserve members.

Aircraft work for private shops—I have introduced a bill to guarantee to private industry 60 per cent of the government's aircraft maintenance workload. Some of the military services have diverted to government shops work which should have gone to private-industry plants, and this has hurt the industry. I have felt that we should protect the aircraft industry — and, for that matter, any industry which is an integral part of the tax producing machine on which the functioning of our structure of government depends.

Board of visitors, Naval Academy—Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts and I were honored last week by being nominated by the Senate Minority to the Board of Visitors of the U. S. Naval Academy.

Security reports rapidly outdated — Our Senate Committee on Armed Services continues its work on defense measures. Incidentally, the famous Gaither Report on military security, which advocated a much higher level of expenditures for the military than that proposed by the White House, was never made public. Weapons are developed so fast in the Space Age that a report such as that which the Gaither group submitted is rapidly outdated. A case in point: one of the most expensive items advocated in the Gaither Report was a large-scale shelter construction program; this was opposed by the Pentagon on the grounds that, due to developments in the weapons field, the shelter program would not protect more than a small fraction of the population.

Space age offers new business—The Space Age offers new opportunities for business and industry. Today, defense industries are shifting gears to make transitions to Space Age challenges. The production of rockets, missiles, and other hardware for space exploration, for both military and scientific purposes, will open new opportunities for prime- and sub-contracting. A major task is to make sure that small business—in Maryland and elsewhere—gets its fair share of new defense and other contracts.

Is the older worker superior?—Maryland's Department of Employment Security, affiliated with the U. S. Employment Service, has mailed to several thousand Maryland employers a pamphlet concerning the employment of older workers. The Employment Service rejects sympathy as an argument for older-worker hiring, and presses home the argument that it is good business to hire workers on the basis of their ability, regardless of their age. It is pointed out that recent on-the-job studies show that "many workers over 55 have output rates higher than the average for younger workers." The reports show that—

"Employers who have opened their doors to older workers have had some pleasant surprises, for the newcomers have brought into the business these qualities: stability that comes with maturity; less time wasting; more reliability; less absenteeism; a sense of responsibility and loyalty; steady work habits; a serious attitude toward the job; less tendency to be distracted by outside interests and influences."

Sincerely yours,
J. GLENN BEALL

CONFUSING—The last name of Rowena Buttenwieser, beautiful Chinese showgirl at a hotel in Las Vegas, surprises everyone until she explains she was adopted by Dr. Paul Buttenwieser when she was a little girl.

Chili Sauce

- 1 can (1-lb.) jellied cranberry sauce
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon chili powder
- Dash of pepper
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Beat cranberry sauce with rotary beater until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat to boiling and simmer for 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve hot. Makes 1½ cups.

Next time you're serving beef pie, chicken pie, or lamb pie set a sparkling bowl of this cranberry relish on the table. It will disappear in no time.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — The spotlight will soon focus again on the Hawaiian Islands. Legislation to admit this strategic bastion of our defense perimeter to the Union is scheduled for early consideration by the Congress. Unquestionably, the prospects for statehood are good. It is therefore essential to view with dispassionate feeling some of the problems with which we must reckon when this Pacific island paradise becomes a state. Not the least important of these problems is the extent to which Communis influences continue to prevail.

It is a truism that the International Longshoreman's and Warehousemen's Union, the ILWU, through strikes, work stoppages, slowdowns and other tactics could impair U.S. military activities and disrupt the economic stability of Hawaii. This labor organization was expelled by the CIO in 1950 because its leadership had "consistently and without a single deviation followed the sharp turns and swerves of the Communist party line and (had) sacrificed the economic and social interests of its membership to that line." The leaders so cited almost ine years ago are Harry Bridges and Jack Hall, and both are still running the ILWU show in the Islands. Thus, by reason of their oligarchic control of the union, they could wield great power in the affairs of the new state.

Understandably, the people of Hawaii — loyal and patriotic Americans — tend to minimize the significance of this potential force. A sideshow has been staged, however, to distract attention from the main Communist issue. There has been a noticeable acceleration of a drive for respectability and popular acceptance of identified Communists into the life and civic activities of the Islands.

Thomas Yagi, divisional ILWU director, has become chairman of the board of directors of the Maui County Community Hospital. Newton Miyagi, secretary-treasurer of an ILWU local, has become a member of the board of directors of a Hawaii chapter of the American Red Cross. David Thompson, ILWU education director, was advertised recently as a distinguished guest on a workmen's compensation panel discussion instigated by the territorial government. ILWU public relations director, Robert McElrath, has been most generous with his time in addressing both Democratic and Republican rallies on the subject of labor and politics. Another identified Communist is now installed as an officer of a parent-teachers group. These are only a few examples of this drive for respectability.

In enacting Hawaiian statehood legislation, safeguards must be included to ensure that the machinery of government does not fall prey to persons of the Bridges-Hall variety of dressed-up Communists.

Meringue shell
3 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
Filling
⅔ cup sugar
10 drops peppermint extract
6 drops green food coloring
1 package coconut custard pudding
1¾ cups milk
2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples

Beat egg whites until frothy; add salt and cream of tartar. Continue beating until stiff. Gradually add ¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating until mixture stands in stiff peaks; add vanilla extract. Spread in greased 9" pie plate, swirling meringue in peaks on edge of pie plate. Bake in slow oven, 275 degrees, 65 minutes, or until delicately browned; cool. Put sliced apples, ⅔ cup sugar, peppermint extract and green food coloring in a saucepan and cook slowly, until apple slices are slightly transparent; drain. *Prepare Coconut Custard Pudding, according to directions on package using 1¾ cups milk instead of 2 cups. Cool. Reserve 12 perfect apple slices. Place remaining apples in pie shell; add custard pudding. Garnish with reserved apple slices. Chill until firm. Makes 6-8 servings.

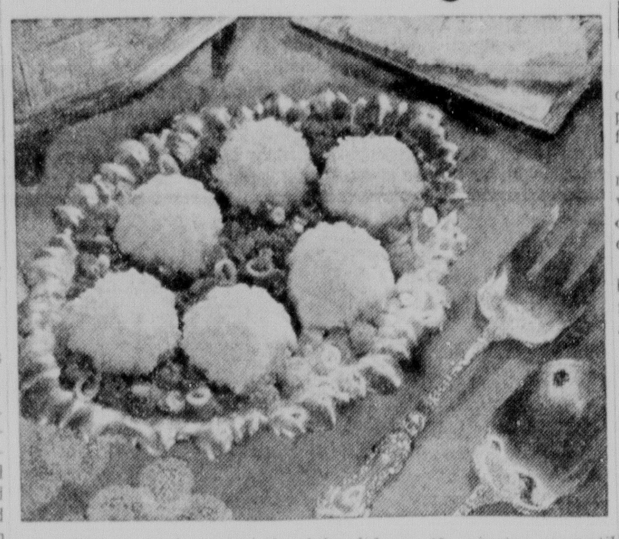
*To tint slices red, put sliced apples, ⅓ cup red cinnamon candies in saucepan and cook slowly until candies are melted and slices are rosy.

Add Lemon Juice

Next time you run out of "vegetable ideas," here's a quickie for you to try: Cook your canned or frozen vegetables according to package directions. Add a squeeze of fresh lemon juice and put into a buttered flat casserole. Make a medium white sauce or use the convenient canned white sauce and add 1 egg yolk and 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, blending thoroughly. Pour over vegetables and sprinkle with grated cheddar cheese. Bake in 350-degree oven until cheese melts.

When the youngsters head home to re-fuel, they couldn't ask for a nicer noontime surprise than these tasty frankfurters. Rolled in crushed potato chips mixed with a spiced batter, they are baked until golden brown and crisp.

Florentine Beef Glamour On A Budget



Simplicity is a characteristic of the food in the region of Italy around Florence. This is in marked contrast to the grandeur all around: the Pitti Palace, Medici Chapel, the Palazzo Vecchi.

This savory beef sauce served with piping hot rice is an example of the truly delicious Italian meat sauces. And the rice? It is a staple in Italy, as national as pasta and polenta.

INGREDIENTS:
1 tablespoon cooking fat
1 medium-sized onion, coarsely chopped
½ medium-sized green pepper, coarsely chopped
1 lb. ground beef (more if desired)
2, 8 ounce cans tomato sauce
½ cup tomato catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
1¼ cups uncooked white rice
2½ cups water

METHOD: Melt the cooking fat in a 2-quart saucepan. Add the onions, green pepper and beef. Cook, stirring occasionally until the beef is browned and the onions and green pepper are tender. Add a small amount of fat if mixture begins to stick.

Add tomato sauce, catsup, Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon of salt and the black pepper. Simmer about 15 minutes. Stir occasionally.

While sauce cooks, put the rice, 1 teaspoon of salt and the water in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid. Simmer 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes or until ready to serve.

Just before serving, press hot rice into wet 5 ounce custard cups or salad molds. Unmold immediately. Spoon on the hot meat sauce.

Rule Of Thumb

This rule of thumb helps you retain the high quality of frozen foods while they are stored at home: You may store them indefinitely if your frozen food compartment maintains a temperature of zero degrees or lower. If your frozen storage space is above zero by 10 to 20 degrees, your frozen food purchases should be made oftener and storage time should be limited to a matter of days for highest quality. Use a refrigerator thermometer to find out how cold your frozen food storage is.

New Vegetable Dish

Here's a new vegetable main dish: Luncheon Limas made with frozen lima beans. Cook 2 packages frozen lima beans along with 1 cup sliced celery until just tender in a small amount of salted water. Drain and combine with cheese sauce made with 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons each shortening and flour, ½ teaspoon salt, and ½ cup grated sharp cheese. Top with chopped pimiento just before serving. Serves 6.

Broiling fish steaks? Marinate them ahead of time in a mixture of oil and lemon juice, adding a few bay leaves.

Grecian Stew Treat For Family

Now that the traditional holiday meals are a thing of the past, bring some international flavor into your menu plans.

Reba Staggs, meat expert, comments that there is no need to unveil an exotic main dish that may deem hours of preparation and extra expense in purchasing.

A few simple changes in a basic recipe can bring about a foreign flavor that'll be quite acceptable to the family's tastes.

One such combination is called Grecian Stew and actually boasts of having the basics of a beef stew recipe. In this instance, cloves, a spice often found in the recipes favored in Greece, lends a flavor to this recipe that will undoubtedly please you greatly.

Grecian Stew
2 pounds boneless beef, cut in 1½-inch pieces
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
2 cups water
2 beef bouillon cubes
3 medium sweet potatoes, quartered
9 small onions
1 package (10½ ounces) frozen peas
3 tablespoons flour

Dredge meat cubes in flour and brown in lard or drippings. Add seasonings, water and bouillon cube. Cover tightly and simmer 2 hours. Add sweet potatoes and onion. Continue cooking for 30 minutes. Add peas and continue cooking 20 minutes, or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. Remove meat and vegetables. Measure cooking liquid and add enough water to make 2 cups liquid. Thicken with flour for gravy. Yield: 6 servings.

Hot Honey Lemonade

3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
3 tablespoons honey
1 cup boiling water

Combine ingredients and mix thoroughly. Stir with cinnamon stick if desired. Makes 1 serving. Maple syrup may be substituted for the honey for a change.

The flavor is Italiano, the ease of preparation strictly Americano. Halves of English muffins form the pizza base, topped with salami, tomato, spices and cheese. Teen-agers can concoct these pizzas themselves for their next platter party.

Bavarian Coffee Cake

2 envelopes active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
¾ cup buttermilk
4 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons soft shortening
1 egg, beaten
3 cups sifted flour
¼ cup melted butter
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup sugar
1 5-oz. jar pureed apricots, prunes or other baby food fruit
1 6-oz. jar hard sauce

Add yeast to hot water and stir to dissolve. Heat buttermilk to just warm, blend in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool. Add yeast and beaten egg; stir in about ½ the flour. Beat until smooth. Continue to add flour until amount called for is used and dough cleans sides of bowl. Turn out on a floured surface and knead until smooth—about a minute. Pull off small pieces of dough, dip in melted shortening, then in mixed cinnamon and sugar. Place in layer in greased pan. (Use a 9" tube pan or a 9 x 9 x 2 layer pan.) Drop spoonfuls fruit puree and hard sauce over surface. Add another layer in the same way and continue until dough is used. Use all of fruit puree and about ¾ of hard sauce. Reserve small amount of hard sauce for topping. Let rise until doubled in bulk (about 45 minutes). Bake in a moderately hot oven (375°) 45 to 50 minutes, or until done. Turn cake out of pan while it is still hot or it will stick to pan. Spread warm cake with remaining hard sauce. Serve warm.

HOMEMAKERS—ATTENTION

As the hostess, you can be a great aid to the carver when a roast is the center of attention on the dinner table. One helpful hint might be to remember not to over-garnish the platter. Give the carver as much room as possible for the task at hand.

Buttered Lemonade

½ cup fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
3 cups boiling water

Combine lemon juice, peel, sugar and butter in a saucepan. Add boiling water. Stir well until butter is melted. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Creamed Chicken

2 tablespoons table fat
½ cup chopped celery
1½ teaspoons chopped onions
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
¼ cup flour
1¾ cup chicken broth
½ cup milk or cream
1½ cups diced cooked chicken
Salt to taste

Heat the fat and cook the celery, onions, and green pepper in it until tender. Blend the flour into the fat and vegetable mixture. Stir in the chicken broth and milk or cream and cook to a smooth sauce, stirring constantly. Add chicken to sauce and season with salt. Heat the mixture thoroughly. For other variations, add whole kernel corn, green peas, or mushrooms with the chicken.

You can add drained flaked tuna to a plain French omelet to vary it. Or prepare a puffy omelet, American style, and fill it with the creamed tuna.

Apple Mint Angel Pie Dessert

Meringue shell
3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
Filling
⅔ cup sugar
10 drops peppermint extract
6 drops green food coloring
1 package cocomut custard pudding
1¾ cups milk
2½cups (1 can) sliced apples

Beat egg whites until frothy; add salt and cream of tartar. Continue beating until stiff. Gradually add ¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating until mixture stands in stiff peaks; add vanilla extract. Spread in greased 9" pie plate, swirling meringue in peaks on edge of pie plate. Bake in slow oven, 275 degrees, 65 minutes, or until delicately browned; cool. Put sliced apples, ⅔ cup sugar, peppermint extract and green food coloring in a saucepan and cook slowly, until apple slices are slightly transparent; drain. *Prepare Coconut Custard Pudding, according to directions on package using 1¾ cups milk instead of 2 cups. Cool. Reserve 12 perfect apple slices. Place remaining apples in pie shell; add custard pudding. Garnish with reserved apple slices. Chill until firm. Makes 6-8 servings.

Add Lemon Juice

Next time you run out of "vegetable ideas," here's a quickie for you to try: Cook your canned or frozen vegetables according to package directions. Add a squeeze of fresh lemon juice and put into a buttered flat casserole. Make a medium white sauce or use the convenient canned white sauce and add 1 egg yolk and 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, blending thoroughly. Pour over vegetables and sprinkle with grated cheddar cheese. Bake in 350-degree oven until cheese melts.

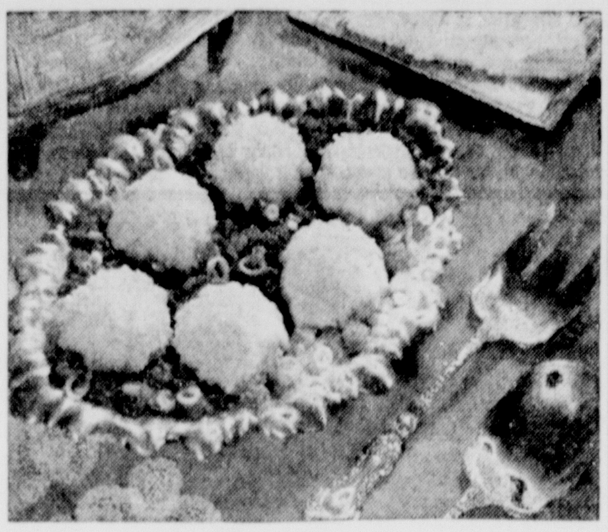
Florentine Beef Glamour On A Budget



Simplicity is a characteristic of the food in the region of Italy around Florence. This is in marked contrast to the grandeur all around: the Pitti Palace, Medici Chapel, the Palazzo Vecchi.

This savory beef sauce served with piping hot rice is an example of the truly delicious Italian meat sauces. And the rice? It is a staple in Italy, as national as pasta and polenta.

INGREDIENTS:
1 tablespoon cooking fat
1 medium-sized onion, coarsely chopped
½ medium-sized green pepper, coarsely chopped
1 lb. ground beef (more if desired)
2, 8 ounce cans tomato sauce
½ cup tomato catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
1¼ cups uncooked white rice
2½ cups water

METHOD: Melt the cooking fat in a 2-quart saucepan. Add the onions, green pepper and beef. Cook, stirring occasionally until the beef is browned and the onions and green pepper are tender. Add a small amount of fat if mixture begins to stick.

Add tomato sauce, catsup, Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon of salt and the black pepper. Simmer about 15 minutes. Stir occasionally.

While sauce cooks, put the rice, 1 teaspoon of salt and the water in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid. Simmer 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes or until ready to serve.

Just before serving, press hot rice into wet 5 ounce custard cups or salad molds. Unmold immediately. Spoon on the hot meat sauce.

Rule Of Thumb

This rule of thumb helps you retain the high quality of frozen foods while they are stored at home: You may store them indefinitely if your frozen food compartment maintains a temperature of zero degrees or lower. If your frozen storage space is above zero by 10 to 20 degrees, your frozen food purchases should be made oftener and storage time should be limited to a matter of days for highest quality. Use a refrigerator thermometer to find out how cold your frozen food storage is.

New Vegetable Dish

Here's a new vegetable main dish: Luncheon Limas made with frozen lima beans. Cook 2 packages frozen lima beans along with 1 cup sliced celery until just tender in a small amount of salted water. Drain and combine with cheese sauce made with 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons each shortening and flour, ½ teaspoon salt, and ½ cup grated sharp cheese. Top with chopped pimiento to just before serving. Serves 6

Broiling fish steaks? Marinate them ahead of time in a mixture of oil and lemon juice, adding a few bay leaves.

Grecian Stew Treat For Family

Now that the traditional holiday meals are a thing of the past, bring some international flavor into your menu plans.

Reba Staggs, meat expert, comments that there is no need to unveil an exotic main dish that may deem hours of preparation and extra expense in purchasing.

A few simple changes in a basic recipe can bring about a foreign flavor that'll be quite acceptable to the family's tastes.

One such combination is called Grecian Stew and actually boasts of having the basics of a beef stew recipe. In this instance, cloves, a spice often found in the recipes favored in Greece, lends a flavor to this recipe that will undoubtedly please you greatly.

Grecian Stew
2 pounds boneless beef, cut in 1½-inch pieces
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
2 cups water

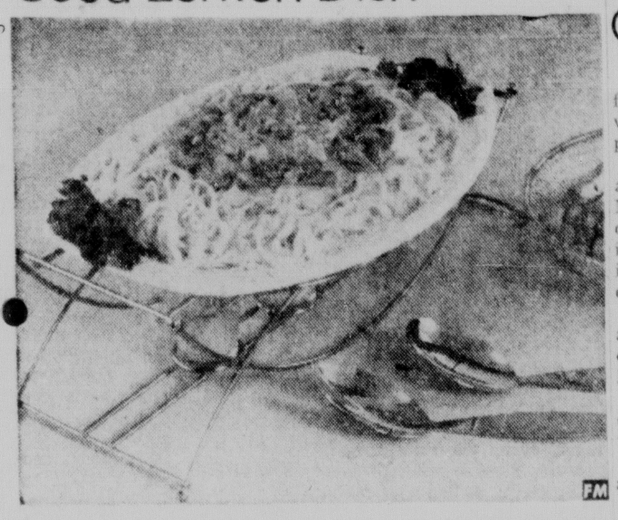
Salmon Tetrazzini Good Lenten Dish



An inspired way to serve salmon, an old Lenten standby, is borrowed from Italy and adapted to combine the pink-meated king of fish with spaghetti. A rich cream sauce is used to incorporate fish and mushrooms. Serve with crusty bread sticks and a tossed green salad.

Salmon Tetrazzini

8 tablespoons (½ cup) butter
½ cup flour
2 cups hot milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup sherry (optional)
A 1-pound can salmon
½ cup cream
1 pound spaghetti
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ cup bread crumbs

In a saucepan melt the 8 tablespoons butter and stir in the flour. Gradually stir in the hot milk and cook, stirring, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Stir in salt, pepper, nutmeg and sherry. Stir in liquid from the can of salmon and cook for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in the cream.

Cook spaghetti in rapidly boiling salted water until tender and drain. Saute mushrooms in the 2 tablespoons butter for 5 minutes, or until lightly browned. Mix half the sauce with the spaghetti and mushrooms and pour into a baking dish or deep platter. Make a hole in the center of the spaghetti. Mix remaining sauce with the salmon, flaked, and pour into the hole in the center of the spaghetti. Sprinkle with cheese mixed with bread crumbs and brown lightly in a 350° F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Serves 4.

Spiced Nightcap

1 cup cold water
10 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon, broken
½ cup honey
3 cups boiling water
⅛ cup fresh lemon juice
4 to 5 lemon twists

Combine cold water, cloves and cinnamon. Boil for 10 minutes. Add honey and bring to a boil. Pour in boiling water and lemon juice. Cut lemon pieces ¼ x 1-inch long. Twist them and place one in the bottom of each cup. Add the hot liquid and serve at once. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Cheese Top Lamb Patty Quick Treat

"Come and get it" is the call from the kitchen on many a cold wintry night when the clock approaches 6 p.m.

Undoubtedly you've heard of a cheeseburger. Well this is something entirely different. Blue cheese and chopped cucumber are the main ingredients included in the topping for this ground lamb specialty. If you're a fancier of ground meat and enjoy blue cheese, give this recipe a test run in your home.

Cheese Capped Lamb Patties

1½ pounds ground lamb
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon basil
¼ teaspoon thyme
½ cup tomato juice
¼ cup (2 ounces) blue cheese
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
⅛ cup chopped cucumber

Mix together lamb, salt, pepper, basil, thyme and tomato juice. Shape into 6 patties about ¾ inch thick. Place patties on broiler rack. Insert rack so that the top of meat is 2 to 3 inches from the heat and broil until patties are brown on first side, 7 to 8 minutes. Turn and cook on second side until lightly browned, 3 to 4 minutes. Mix together blue cheese, butter or margarine and cucumber. Spread on patties and continue broiling until cheese is bubbly, about 2 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

CRANBERRIES TO THE RESCUE

For a meal quickie, turn your attention to pork sausage and cranberries. Cook 1 pound bulk pork sausage until crumbly and lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Add ½ cup cranberry sauce and ¼ cup salad dressing to sausage and mix thoroughly. Split 3 English muffins and lightly toast on cut side. Spread 1/3 cup sausage mixture on each toasted muffin. Broil 3 to 5 minutes until top of meat is lightly browned. Garnish with parsley.

Casserole Can Be Done Hours Before Dinner

Busy homemakers always welcome casserole dishes which can be prepared in the morning and refrigerated until dinner time. One like this, for instance, can be made in a casserole lined with quilted foil and covered with a foil top until time to pop into the oven just before dinner. Any leftovers may be lifted out and stored right in the same foil. And best of all there is no crusty casserole dish to wash!

Shrimp Casserole
Serves 4 - 6

3 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
10 ounces frozen shrimp (1 package) thawed, peeled and deveined
4 slices whole wheat bread, cubed
½ cup diced celery
½ cup sliced stuffed olives
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup chopped parsley
Quilted broiling foil

Line baking or casserole dish with a square of 14-inch heavyweight quilted foil. An easy way of doing this is by turning the baking dish (1½ quart is a good size) upside down and shaping foil to contours. Then slip shaped foil inside container.

Melt fat in saucepan; stir in flour. Gradually add milk; bring to boil, boiling 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add salt and pepper. Remove from heat; stir in shrimp, bread cubes, celery, olives and onion. Add egg. Pour into foil-lined baking dish. Cover with foil. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Sprinkle top with parsley before serving. Delicious with a mixed green salad.

For a crisp, flavorsome soup or cocktail accompaniment, use frozen French fried potatoes prepared with cheese this way: Turn the frozen potatoes out onto cookie sheet and place in hot oven five minutes. Then turn the strips and sprinkle with grated sharp cheese. Return to hot oven and serve hot and crisp.

An imaginative touch to any meal . . . but a perfect go-along with fish are Marinated Cucumbers. Chill the cucumbers thoroughly. Slice 'em thin, add a little salad oil and enough fresh lemon juice to cover. Sprinkle with fresh dill or dill seed. Add salt and pepper to taste just before serving.

February Specialties For Parties

This is the year—1959—to make a February specialty of dainty pancakes with bright-red, fresh-flavored frozen cherry sauce. The pancakes are for "Pancake Tuesday," which comes early in February this year, and the sparkling cherries honor George Washington and the cherry tree legend. And if not Washington's birthday—then Valentine's Day when cherry red is the color for romance and gayety. Here is a three-purpose recipe if there ever was one!

Just a touch of rum flavoring is added to the cherry sauce. Not much is needed, because the frozen cherries have their rich summer flavor well retained. You start the sauce without first defrosting the cherries, and you add extra eggs and milk to a pancake mix to make the dessert-type cakes. It's all simpler than you at first imagine! If you like, bake the pancakes ahead and keep them warm in the oven.

Frozen Cherry Sauce

1 20-oz. can or 2 10-oz. cans frozen cherries in sugar or sirup
3 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
Dash salt
¼ teaspoon rum flavoring
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Start frozen cherries heating in saucepan. (They do not need to be defrosted first.) Mix well the cornstarch, sugar, and salt. Stir this mixture into the hot cherries and keep over moderate heat while stirring until thickened and clear. Add flavoring and butter or margarine. Serve warm on hot pancakes made by recipe below.

Dessert Pancakes

3 eggs, well beaten
½ cup milk
Melted butter or margarine
Confectioners sugar

Measure pancake mix into bowl. Beat eggs well, then add milk to them. Pour into pancake mix and stir lightly. If electric skillet is not used, have skillet on range heated to the point where drops of water form balls and roll on surface. While hot, brush skillet very lightly with oil. Use ¼ cup batter for each pancake. Flip pancakes over when bubbles form on top. These dainty pancakes bake in about one minute. As they are done, remove to warm platter, brush with melted butter or margarine, and sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Roll and fasten with toothpick (remove toothpick before serving with sauce.) Serve hot with warm frozen cherry sauce.

The bidding:

3 ♥	Pass	Pass	Double

Opening lead: Deuce of ♦.

A false sense of economy in the play of today's hand cost declarer the game and rubber.

An aggressive attitude had to be adopted by North and South in the bidding due to the part score situation. In our view East's overcall was not well chosen. Despite the fact that two diamonds was sufficient for game, our preference would have been a take-out double to show the high card strength. If West should bid two clubs, East would have a convenient retreat to two diamonds. As the bidding did proceed, East found that he had to try a precarious double.

West opened the deuce of diamonds. The dummy played low and East cashed the jack-king and continued with the ace. South ruffing. Declarer could not afford to attack trumps without first dislodging the ace of clubs, so he led the king and East was in. East selected the best defense when he returned a fourth round of diamonds. South discarded a spade and ruffed in dummy but the indiscriminate choice of card to ruff with cost him the contract. He carelessly trumped with the three of hearts. He then cashed the ace, telling West's queen. When the nine of hearts was led, East played low and declarer was "stuck" in dummy. When he tried to get out with a club, East ruffed and cashed the ace of spades.

It would have availed declarer nothing at this point to attempt exit from dummy by means of a spade, for East would rise with the ace and another diamond lead would establish a trump trick for him.

Declarer had no early use for the nine of hearts and should have ruffed with that card instead of the three. On the second lead of trumps he would have been in position to finesse the eight of hearts and pick up the entire suit.

Salmon Tetrazzini Good Lenten Dish

An inspired way to serve salmon, an old Lenten standby, is borrowed from Italy and adapted to combine the pink-meated king of fish with spaghetti. A rich cream sauce is used to incorporate fish and mushrooms. Serve with crusty bread sticks and a tossed green salad.

Salmon Tetrazzini

8 tablespoons (½ cup) butter
½ cup flour
2 cups hot milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup sherry (optional)
A 1-pound can salmon
½ cup cream
1 pound spaghetti
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ cup bread crumbs

In a saucepan melt the 8 tablespoons butter and stir in the flour. Gradually stir in the hot milk and cook, stirring, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Stir in salt, pepper, nutmeg and sherry. Stir in liquid from the can of salmon and cook for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in the cream.

Cook spaghetti in rapidly boiling salted water until tender and drain. Saute mushrooms in the 2 tablespoons butter for 5 minutes, or until lightly browned. Mix half the sauce with the spaghetti and mushrooms and pour into a baking dish or deep platter. Make a hole in the center of the spaghetti. Mix remaining sauce with the salmon, flaked, and pour into the hole in the center of the spaghetti. Sprinkle with cheese mixed with bread crumbs and brown lightly in a 350° F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Serves 4.

Spiced Nightcap

1 cup cold water
10 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon, broken
½ cup honey
3 cups boiling water
⅓ cup fresh lemon juice
4 to 5 lemon twists

Combine cold water, cloves and cinnamon. Boil for 10 minutes. Add honey and bring to a boil. Pour in boiling water and lemon juice. Cut lemon pieces ¼ x 1-inch long. Twist them and place one in the bottom of each cup. Add the hot liquid and serve at once. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Cheese Top Lamb Patty Quick Treat

"Come and get it" is the call from the kitchen on many a cold wintry night when the clock approaches 6 p.m.

Undoubtedly you've heard of a cheeseburger. Well this is something entirely different. Blue cheese and chopped cucumber are the main ingredients included in the topping for this ground lamb specialty. If you're a fancier of ground meat and enjoy blue cheese, give this recipe a test run in your home.

Cheese Capped Lamb Patties

1½ pounds ground lamb
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon basil
¼ teaspoon thyme
½ cup tomato juice
¼ cup (2 ounces) blue cheese
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
⅛ cup chopped cucumber

Mix together lamb, salt, pepper, basil, thyme and tomato juice. Shape into 6 patties about ¾ inch thick. Place patties on broiler rack. Insert rack so that the top of meat is 2 to 3 inches from the heat and broil until patties are brown on first side, 7 to 8 minutes. Turn and cook on second side until lightly browned, 3 to 4 minutes. Mix together blue cheese, butter or margarine and cucumber. Spread on patties and continue broiling until cheese is bubbly, about 2 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

CRANBERRIES TO THE RESCUE

For a meal quickie, turn your attention to pork sausage and cranberries. Cook 1 pound bulk pork sausage until crumbly and lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Add ½ cup cranberry sauce and ¼ cup salad dressing to sausage and mix thoroughly. Split 3 English muffins and lightly toast on cut side. Spread 1/3 cup sausage mixture on each toasted muffin. Broil 3 to 5 minutes until top of meat is lightly browned. Garnish with parsley.

Casserole Can Be Done Hours Before Dinner

Busy homemakers always welcome casserole dishes which can be prepared in the morning and refrigerated until dinner time. One like this, for instance, can be made in a casserole lined with quilted foil and covered with a foil top until time to pop into the oven just before dinner. Any leftovers may be lifted out and stored right in the same foil. And best of all there is no crusty casserole dish to wash!

Shrimp Casserole
Serves 4-6

3 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
10 ounces frozen shrimp (1 package) thawed, peeled and deveined
4 slices whole wheat bread, cubed
½ cup diced celery
½ cup sliced stuffed olives
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup chopped parsley

Line baking or casserole dish with a square of 14-inch heavyweight quilted foil. An easy way of doing this is by turning the baking dish (1½ quart is a good size) upside down and shaping foil to contours. Then slip shaped foil inside container.

Melt fat in saucepan; stir in flour. Gradually add milk; bring to boil, boiling 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add salt and pepper. Remove from heat; stir in shrimp, bread cubes, celery, olives and onion. Add egg. Pour into foil-lined baking dish. Cover with foil. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Sprinkle top with parsley before serving. Delicious with a mixed green salad.

For a crisp, flavorsome soup or cocktail accompaniment, use frozen French fried potatoes prepared with cheese this way: Turn the frozen potatoes out onto cookie sheet and place in hot oven five minutes. Then turn the strips and sprinkle with grated sharp cheese. Return to hot oven and serve hot and crisp.

Baked Sherry Doughnuts

1⅓ cups milk, scalded
⅓ cup shortening
1 cup whole wheat shreds
⅓ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons nutmeg
2 cakes compressed yeast, or 2 packages dry granular yeast
½ cup sherry wine
5½ cups sifted flour
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
⅓ cup sherry wine

Pour hot milk over shortening and whole wheat shreds. Stir in sugar, salt and nutmeg; cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in wine; add to lukewarm mixture with eggs and ½ cup of the flour. Beat until well blended. Add remaining flour gradually, mixing well after each addition. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Turn dough out on floured board; turn dough over once or twice if a little soft. Roll out lightly to ½ inch in thickness. Be careful not to stretch dough. Cut with floured 1¾-inch cutter, cutting fairly large center holes. Place about 2 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Brush with melted butter and let rise in warm place about 40 minutes or until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 8 minutes.

Blend confectioners' sugar and sherry wine. Dip warm doughnuts in glaze. Serve immediately.

GOOD NEWS IN VEAL

The recipe is called Veal Riblets with Gravy and it can't help but attract those interested in fine food. Simply mix together ⅓ cup flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon ginger and 1½ teaspoons dry mustard. Dredge 3 pounds veal riblets in seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add 2 medium onions which have been sliced and 2 cups water. Cover the meat tightly and simmer 2 hours. Remove riblets and thicken liquid for gravy.

Take A Can Of Salmon

Although salmon is a year round favorite, it comes into its own during the Lenten season. The delicate flavor of canned salmon lends itself well to being combined with other foods in a great variety of dishes. Then, too, salmon is an economical food, low in calories but one of our best sources of protein, essential minerals and vitamins A and D as well as Riboflavin and Niacin. Try this trio of tempting dishes for appealing luncheon fare.

SALMON OMELET SOUFFLE

4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 can (7¾ oz.) salmon, flaked
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Beat egg yolks with the milk and salt until light and pale in color. Stir in flaked salmon and parsley. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour mixture into a generously buttered frying pan (10-inches in diameter) or into two individual frying pans. Bake at 450 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Serve immediately. Yield: 2 servings.

SALMON CHOWDER

½ cup sliced onions
3 tablespoons butter
2 cups diced raw potatoes
1 cup diced celery
½ cup diced carrots
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
A 1-pound can salmon
4 cups water
4 cups milk

Saute onions in butter until transparent but not browned. Add vegetables, salt, pepper and water. Bring to a boil and simmer for about 20 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Add salmon and milk and heat to steaming hot. Yield: 6 servings.

SALMON CORN MUFFINS

1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup sifted flour
¼ cup sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg
Salmon liquid from can plus milk to measure 1 cup
¼ cup melted butter
1 can (7¾ oz.) salmon

Sift dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Add egg, liquid and butter and mix lightly until all ingredients are moistened. Fold in salmon, flaked. Fill greased muffin cups two-thirds full. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Yield: 1 dozen muffins.

Cinnamon Puffs Real Treat

1 cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 cup whole bran cereal
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup boiling water
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted
2 cakes compressed yeast, or 2 packages dry granular yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
2 eggs, well-beaten
6½ cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons cinnamon
1⅓ cups sugar

Measure shortening, sugar, whole bran cereal and salt into large mixing bowl; add boiling water, stirring until shortening is melted. Let stand until lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water; stir into shortening mixture together with eggs. Add half of the flour and beat until smooth; add remaining flour and beat well. Cover bowl tightly and place in refrigerator overnight or until read to use.

When ready to use, shape dough into balls about 1½ inches in diameter. Dip in melted butter; roll in mixture of cinnamon and sugar. Put into greased muffin pans. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 15 minutes.

Seasoned Butter Tops Off Fish And Seafood

Butter and fish are happy partners, whether under the broiler, in the skillet or on the dinner table. Chives, mustard or lemon juice are among the favorite seasonings for nippy sauces, while parsley, garlic salt or herbs may be preferred for milder flavored sauces. No matter what your choice, the richness of butter gives the finishing touch to most any delicately flavored fish or seafood.

To keep a butter sauce hot, serve it in a table warmer. For lobster or other seafoods which are best when dipped directly into the hot butter, place an individual dish of butter before each person. Try one of these sauces for your favorite fish, during this Lenten season.

Mustard Butter

¼ pound butter, softened
¼ cup prepared mustard

Chive Butter

¼ pound butter
¼ to ½ cup chopped chives

Lemon Butter

¼ pound butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Melt butter; add lemon juice and rind. Brush on fish before broiling, and keep some extra sauce hot in table warmer to serve over fish at table. Also may be served with lobster, crab, shrimp or other shellfish.

Parsley Butter

¼ pound butter
¼ to ½ pound finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cranberry Relish

1 or 2 fresh pears, cored, pared and diced
½ lemon, ground (rind and pulp)
1 teaspoon ginger

Beat jellied cranberry sauce with rotary beater until smooth and saucy. Stir in remaining ingredients. Chill. Makes 1 pint.

Spiced Prune Drops

½ cup butter
1 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
*1 cup chopped, pitted prunes
½ cup chopped walnut meats
¼ cup milk

Cream together butter and sugar. Add egg; mix well. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, nutmeg, cinnamon and cloves; add to creamed mixture with prunes and walnuts. Mix. Add milk and mix until well blended. The mixture is stiff. Chill 1 hour. Drop by well-rounded teaspoons on greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, 8-10 minutes. Remove cookies from baking sheet; cool on wire racks. Makes 50 cookies.

There are few soups that rival the ones made from fish . . . and the Lenten season is a good time to prove this to one and all. Whether your favorite is New England Clam Chowder, Manhattan Clam Chowder, Court Bouillon or Bouillabaisse . . . you'll find they all take on new zing with a generous squeeze of fresh lemon juice. Garnish the soup with thin slices or pass 'round a plate of lemon quarters.

Keep Walnut Meats At Room Temperature

Shelled walnut meats will keep well at room temperature for about six weeks to two months, but are likely to turn rancid after that. They'll stay fresh a month or two longer in the refrigerator, and even longer than that in the home freezer. In the shell, they won't turn rancid at ordinary temperatures for about a year, but they may become infested by insects.

Quick Saturday Lunch

Here is a quick Saturday lunch for the family: Cook 1 package frozen cut corn in a small amount of salted water. Meanwhile, brown ½ pound seasoned pork sausage. Pour off some of sausage fat and brown ¼ cup each chopped onion and chopped green pepper with sausage. Add drained cooked corn, 1 cup canned tomatoes, and ¼ teaspoon dried oregano. Simmer together to combine flavors. Serves 4.

What's the one drink you can offer to Junior, to teen-agers, to big grownups, to frail elders? Why apple juice, of course! Full of lively tang, it's a happy drink served chilled; an enlivening, comforting one served hot. A supply on hand prepares you for any occasion!

Pastry flour makes excellent pie dough; but cake flour is not usually recommended for this use.

Baked Sherry Doughnuts

1⅛ cups milk, scalded
⅓ cup shortening
1 cup whole wheat shreds
⅓ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons nutmeg
2 cakes compressed yeast, or 2 packages dry granular yeast
½ cup sherry wine
5½ cups sifted flour
2 eggs, slightly beaten

2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
⅓ cup sherry wine

Pour hot milk over shortening and whole wheat shreds. Stir in sugar, salt and nutmeg; cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in wine; add to lukewarm mixture with eggs and ½ cup of the flour. Beat until well blended. Add remaining flour gradually, mixing well after each addition. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Turn dough out on floured board; turn dough over once or twice if a little soft. Roll out lightly to ½ inch in thickness. Be careful not to stretch dough. Cut with floured 1¾-inch cutter, cutting fairly large center holes. Place about 2 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Brush with melted butter and let rise in warm place about 40 minutes or until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 8 minutes.

Blend confectioners' sugar and sherry wine. Dip warm doughnuts in glaze. Serve immediately.

GOOD NEWS IN VEAL

The recipe is called Veal Riblets with Gravy and it can't help but attract those interested in fine food. Simply mix together ⅓ cup flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon ginger and 1½ teaspoons dry mustard. Dredge 3 pounds veal riblets in seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add 2 medium onions which have been sliced and 2 cups water. Cover the meat tightly and simmer 2 hours. Remove riblets and thicken liquid for gravy.

Take A Can Of Salmon

Although salmon is a year round favorite, it comes into its own during the Lenten season. The delicate flavor of canned salmon lends itself well to being combined with other foods in a great variety of dishes. Then, too, salmon is an economical food, low in calories but one of our best sources of protein, essential minerals and vitamins A and D as well as Riboflavin and Niacin. Try this trio of tempting dishes for appealing luncheon fare.

SALMON OMELET SOUFFLE

4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 can (7¾ oz.) salmon, flaked
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Beat egg yolks with the milk and salt until light and pale in color. Stir in flaked salmon and parsley. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour mixture into a generously buttered frying pan (10-inches in diameter) or into two individual frying pans. Bake at 450 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Serve immediately. Yield: 2 servings.

SALMON CHOWDER

½ cup sliced onions
3 tablespoons butter
2 cups diced raw potatoes
1 cup diced celery
½ cup diced carrots
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
A 1-pound can salmon
4 cups water
4 cups milk

Saute onions in butter until transparent but not browned. Add vegetables, salt, pepper and water. Bring to a boil and simmer for about 20 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Add salmon and milk and heat to steaming hot. Yield: 6 servings.

SALMON CORN MUFFINS

1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup sifted flour
¼ cup sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg
Salmon liquid from can plus milk to measure 1 cup
¼ cup melted butter
1 can (7¾ oz.) salmon

Sift dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Add egg, liquid and butter and mix lightly until all ingredients are moistened. Fold in salmon, flaked. Fill greased muffin cups two-thirds full. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Yield: 1 dozen muffins.

Cinnamon Puffs Real Treat

1 cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 cup whole bran cereal
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup boiling water
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted
2 cakes compressed yeast, or 2 packages dry granular yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
2 eggs, well-beaten
6½ cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons cinnamon
1⅓ cups sugar

Measure shortening, sugar, whole bran cereal and salt into large mixing bowl; add boiling water, stirring until shortening is melted. Let stand until lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water; stir into shortening mixture together with eggs. Add half of the flour and beat until smooth; add remaining flour and beat well. Cover bowl tightly and place in refrigerator overnight or until read to use.

When ready to use, shape dough into balls about 1½ inches in diameter. Dip in melted butter; roll in mixture of cinnamon and sugar. Put into greased muffin pans. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 15 minutes.

Seasoned Butter Tops Off Fish And Seafood

Butter and fish are happy partners, whether under the broiler, in the skillet or on the dinner table. Chives, mustard or lemon juice are among the favorite seasonings for nippy sauces, while parsley, garlic salt or herbs may be preferred for milder flavored sauces. No matter what your choice, the richness of butter gives the finishing touch to most any delicately flavored fish or seafood.

To keep a butter sauce hot, serve it in a table warmer. For lobster or other seafoods which are best when dipped directly into the hot butter, place an individual dish of butter before each person. Try one of these sauces for your favorite fish, during this Lenten season.

Mustard Butter

¼ pound butter, softened
¼ cup prepared mustard

Chive Butter

¼ pound butter
¼ to ½ cup chopped chives

Lemon Butter

¼ pound butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Melt butter; add lemon juice and rind. Brush on fish before broiling, and keep some extra sauce hot in table warmer to serve over fish at table. Also may be served with lobster, crab, shrimp or other shellfish.

Parsley Butter

¼ pound butter
¼ to ½ pound finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cranberry Relish

1 or 2 fresh pears, cored, pared and diced
½ lemon, ground (rind and pulp)
1 teaspoon ginger

Beat jellied cranberry sauce with rotary beater until smooth and saucy. Stir in remaining ingredients. Chill. Makes 1 pint.

Spiced Prune Drops

½ cup butter
1 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
*1 cup chopped, pitted prunes
½ cup chopped walnut meats
¼ cup milk

Cream together butter and sugar. Add egg; mix well. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, nutmeg, cinnamon and cloves; add to creamed mixture with prunes and walnuts. Mix. Add milk and mix until well blended. The mixture is stiff. Chill 1 hour. Drop by well-rounded teaspoons on greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, 8-10 minutes. Remove cookies from baking sheet; cool on wire racks. Makes 50 cookies.

There are few soups that rival the ones made from fish . . . and the Lenten season is a good time to prove this to one and all. Whether your favorite is New England Clam Chowder, Manhattan Clam Chowder, Court Bouillon or Bouillabaisse . . . you'll find they all take on new zing with a generous squeeze of fresh lemon juice. Garnish the soup with thin slices or pass 'round a plate of lemon quarters.

Keep Walnut Meats At Room Temperature

Shelled walnut meats will keep well at room temperature for about six weeks to two months, but are likely to turn rancid after that. They'll stay fresh a month or two longer in the refrigerator, and even longer than that in the home freezer. In the shell, they won't turn rancid at ordinary temperatures for about a year, but they may become infested by insects.

Here is a quick Saturday lunch for the family: Cook 1 package frozen cut corn in a small amount of salted water. Meanwhile, brown ½ pound seasoned pork sausage. Pour off some of sausage fat and brown ¼ cup each chopped onion and chopped green pepper with sausage. Add drained cooked corn, 1 cup canned tomatoes, and ¼ teaspoon dried oregano. Rice Nests, Shrimp Sauce Add Zest To Lenten Meal

Rice Nests with Shrimp Sauce are the perfect "something different" to add sparkle to Lenten menus. The nests are a combination of cooked rice and cheese, quickly turned a crusty golden brown in deep fat and served nested in a creamy shrimp and mushroom sauce. Center the rice with a bright jelly sauce tanged with horseradish.

For speedy preparation, cook extra rice the day before when you are serving it as a vegetable or in a casserole combination dish and set aside 3 cups. Combine with the other ingredients and shape, and the rings are ready for quick deep frying on the day you are serving them. Rice, of course, reheats perfectly to original fluffiness in a small amount of water, so plan to cook an extra amount for a combination dish another day.

The sauce for the Rice Nests is a creamy shrimp and mushroom combination, using canned shrimp. Serve with Frenched green beans with almonds, a salad and favorite dessert and beverage.

Rice Nests With Shrimp Sauce
(6 to 8 servings)

Rice Nests
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 1 cup grated sharp cheese
- 1 beaten egg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dry bread crumbs
- 1 slightly beaten egg mixed with 2 tablespoons water
- Fat for frying

Combine first four ingredients and chill. Shape into 2 balls. Roll in crumbs, then egg and water mixture, then in crumbs again. Make a depression in each. Fry in deep fat at 375° F. for 20 minutes.

Shrimp Sauce
- ¼ pound fresh mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 4-oz. cans cleaned shrimp
- 1½ cups grated cheddar cheese
- ½ cup cream
- 3 tablespoons catchup
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Saute mushrooms in butter 6 to 8 minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer for 10 minutes.

Country Soup Goes To Town

A touch of Pennsylvania Dutch or New England cooking is found in this excellent soup recipe . . . a 1959 version of a vegetable chowder . . . POTATO CORN CHOWDER: In large saucepan, cook 3 slices bacon. When crisp, remove from pan. Drain off all but 1½ tablespoons bacon drippings. Add ¼ cup chopped onion and ¼ cup chopped green pepper; cook until just tender. Add 2 cans (10¼ ounces each) frozen condensed cream of potato soup, 2 soup cans milk, 1 cup cream-style corn, dash whole thyme, dash pepper, and few drops Tabasco. Heat until soup thaws. Stir now and then. Serve garnished with bacon. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

THEY'RE CALLED POTTED STEAKS

That's right, here is your chance to prepare potted steaks. Just have 6 steaks, cut from the round or chuck. Have them cut into individual servings and be sure they're about 1 inch thick. Dredge steaks in flour and brown in lard or drippings. Add a sliced onion, 3 or 4 carrots which have been sliced, 2 cloves, 2 bay leaves, 1 cup catchup and 1 cup hot water. Season with salt and pepper and cover the meat tightly and cook slowly until tender, about 1 hour.

Spiced Pork Steaks Good For Dinner

Executing two jobs or learning two things simultaneously is often considered poor management. However, there are exceptions to the rule.

History and good eating go together.

Spiced Pork Steaks will provide excellent fare for the dinner table and they are so easy to prepare. The family will undoubtedly question the distinctly different flavor, and this is where history comes into the conversation.

The unique flavoring is cumin seed. This herb, you can tell your family, is a member of the parsley family and is native to Syria and Egypt. In Europe, this herb is used to season soups and pastry while in the Orient, it's used in flavoring meats.

Often it's said this herb is a wonderful appetite stimulant and therefore is used in canapes and hors d'oeuvres.

Spiced Pork Steaks
- 4 to 6 arm or blade steaks, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon crushed cumin seed
- onion, sliced

Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season both sides of steaks with salt, pepper, ginger and cumin seed. Top with onion slices. Cover tightly and cook slowly for one hour. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Sausage Appetizer For Parties

An easy and very popular cocktail appetizer can be made by cutting hot spicy sausage into thick slices, then fry the sausage in 2 or 3 tablespoons of Spanish olive oil until lightly browned. Sprinkle sausage with finely-chopped green olives after removing from pan. The best sausage is the Spanish type, called chorizo, but this can also be done with the hot Italian sausage or garlic-flavored Polish sausage.

Extra flavor: Sometimes adding stewed rather than the regular plain variety of canned tomatoes to a dish does wonders for it.

Hot Hors D'Oeuvres To Go With Petit Cafe

For Americans everywhere, dinner wouldn't be complete without steaming cups of coffee. Of course, we always think of serving coffee after dinner . . . but, nowadays, the fragrant brew is also being served before dinner.

Pre-dinner coffee, served in dainty demitasse cups, is actually an old European custom called Petit Cafe. Those who have adopted the idea find that it's especially welcome to those who don't take cocktails. The tiny cups of coffee, along with a plate of pretty canapes, help to fill in the hour before dinner is served, setting the scene for a long sociable evening.

Hot hors d'oeuvres are always wonderful before dinner . . . and these Savory Tartlets are heavenly with Petit Cafe. They're miniature cream cheese pastries — some filled with a glorious mushroom blend, and others with a mouth-watering ham mixture. Just be sure to make enough savories — they're a good substitute for an appetizer course — and be sure the demitasse coffee is strong, piping hot and freshly brewed.

Savory Tartlets

Fillings:
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 cup whipping cream
- ¼ teasp. Worcestershire sauce
- Dash Hot sauce
- 1 small can deviled ham
- 2 teasp. grated parmesan cheese
- 2 teasp. drained sweet pickle relish
- ¼ lb. mushrooms, sliced and sauteed
- 2 tblsp. sliced ripe olives
- ½ teasp. instant minced onion
- Cream Cheese Pastry*

Combine first four ingredients. Stir just enough to mix thoroughly. Divide mixture in half. To first half, add deviled ham, parmesan cheese and pickle relish. To other half, add mushrooms, ripe olives and instant minced onion. Line tiny muffin cups (1¾ inches top diameter) with Cream Cheese Pastry. Fill half with deviled ham mixture and half with mushroom mixture. Bake in hot oven, 425° 12 to 15 minutes.

*Cream Cheese Pastry
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 2 3-oz. pkgs. cream cheese
- 2 cups sifted enriched flour

Soften butter at room temperature. Add cream cheese; beat until smooth. Add flour, half cup at a time, blending well after each addition. Work with fingers to a smooth dough. Shape into balls about one inch in diameter. Place each ball in cup of small muffin pans. Press with thumb to line bottom and sides evenly. Makes about 3 dozen.

Hot Spiced Citrus Tea
- 5 cups freshly boiling water
- 5 tea bags or 5 teaspoons tea
- 10 whole cloves
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup fresh lemon juice
- ½ cup fresh orange juice
- 3 orange cartwheel slices

Pour boiling water over tea. Add cloves and cinnamon. Allow to steep for 5 minutes. Strain tea and add sugar and citrus juices. Heat just below boiling point. Serve hot with half a cartwheel slice in each cup. Makes 6 servings.

Cranberry Glazed Ham
- ½ ham, shank end (about 5 pounds)
- 1 can (1-lb.) jellied or whole cranberry sauce
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Place ham, fat side up, in uncovered baking pan. Score and stud with cloves, if desired. Bake in slow oven (325°F.) 2½ hours or until meat thermometer registers 170°F. Remove from oven. If jellied cranberry sauce is used beat with rotary beater until smooth. If whole cranberry sauce is used, break up with fork. Stir brown sugar into cranberry sauce. Spoon over ham. Return to oven and bake 20 to 30 minutes longer. Same directions apply to any type ham. Spoon glaze over before last half hour of baking or heating.

For a really special treat during Lent . . . how about some steamed clams? Buy the soft shell clams allowing 15 to 25 clams per person. Clean thoroughly. Put in kettle with ½ cup hot water to every 4 quarts of clams. Cover kettle tightly and steam over moderate heat 8 to 12 minutes. Serve hot with melted butter seasoned with fresh lemon juice.

Apple Salad With Spanish Accent

Chopped apples combined with chopped green peppers and chopped raw white turnip make an excellent winter-time salad. With 2 large apples use 1 green pepper and 1 turnip. Toss the salad with the following dressing: ½ cup Spanish olive oil, ¼ cup vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard and ⅛ teaspoon powdered cumin. Serve on lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

Dip ham-and-cheese sandwiches in a French-toast egg-and-milk mixture; fry until golden brown in butter or margarine.

WEIGHT LINE AS A LIFELINE

If you have inherited a tendency to gain weight, there is news in a report of research devoted to your problems. Studies of genetically fat animals reveal that, when weight was controlled, these animals lived longer than those which could eat as they would without gaining. Researchers suggest that the way to a longer life is a two-step process: First, the prone-to-be-heavy person must find the weight at which he performs best. Once this ideal weight is found he must hold to it, even though it may be greater than that of a thinner person who hasn't a weight worry in the world.

Rice Nests, Shrimp Sauce Add Zest To Lenten Meal

Rice Nests with Shrimp Sauce are the perfect "something different" to add sparkle to Lenten menus. The nests are a combination of cooked rice and cheese, quickly turned a crusty golden brown in deep fat and served nested in a creamy shrimp and mushroom sauce. Center the rice with a bright jelly sauce tanged with horseradish.

For speedy preparation, cook extra rice the day before when you are serving it as a vegetable or in a casserole combination dish and set aside 3 cups. Combine with the other ingredients and shape, and the rings are ready for quick deep frying on the day you are serving them. Rice, of course, reheats perfectly to original fluffiness in a small amount of water, so plan to cook an extra amount for a combination dish another day.

The sauce for the Rice Nests is a creamy shrimp and mushroom combination, using canned shrimp. Serve with Frenched green beans with almonds, a salad and favorite dessert and beverage.

Rice Nests With Shrimp Sauce
(6 to 8 servings)

Rice Nests
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 1 cup grated sharp cheese
- 1 beaten egg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dry bread crumbs
- 1 slightly beaten egg mixed with 2 tablespoons water
- Fat for frying

Combine first four ingredients and chill. Shape into 2 balls. Roll in crumbs, then egg and water mixture, then in crumbs again. Make a depression in each. Fry in deep fat at 375° F. for 20 minutes.

Shrimp Sauce
- ¼ pound fresh mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 4-oz. cans cleaned shrimp
- 1½ cups grated cheddar cheese
- ½ cup cream
- 3 tablespoons catchup
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Saute mushrooms in butter 6 to 8 minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer for 10 minutes.

Country Soup Goes To Town

A touch of Pennsylvania Dutch or New England cooking is found in this excellent soup recipe . . . a 1959 version of a vegetable chowder . . . POTATO CORN CHOWDER: In large saucepan, cook 3 slices bacon. When crisp, remove from pan. Drain off all but 1½ tablespoons bacon drippings. Add ¼ cup chopped onion and ¼ cup chopped green pepper; cook until just tender. Add 2 cans (10¼ ounces each) frozen condensed cream of potato soup, 2 soup cans milk, 1 cup cream-style corn, dash whole thyme, dash pepper, and few drops Tabasco. Heat until soup thaws. Stir now and then. Serve garnished with bacon. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

THEY'RE CALLED POTTED STEAKS

That's right, here is your chance to prepare potted steaks. Just have 6 steaks, cut from the round or chuck. Have them cut into individual servings and be sure they're about 1 inch thick. Dredge steaks in flour and brown in lard or drippings. Add a sliced onion, 3 or 4 carrots which have been sliced, 2 cloves, 2 bay leaves, 1 cup catchup and 1 cup hot water. Season with salt and pepper and cover the meat tightly and cook slowly until tender, about 1 hour.

Spiced Pork Steaks Good For Dinner

Executing two jobs or learning two things simultaneously is often considered poor management. However, there are exceptions to the rule.

History and good eating go together.

Spiced Pork Steaks will provide excellent fare for the dinner table and they are so easy to prepare. The family will undoubtedly question the distinctly different flavor, and this is where history comes into the conversation.

The unique flavoring is cumin seed. This herb, you can tell your family, is a member of the parsley family and is native to Syria and Egypt. In Europe, this herb is used to season soups and pastry while in the Orient, it's used in flavoring meats.

Often it's said this herb is a wonderful appetite stimulant and therefore is used in canapes and hors d'oeuvres.

Spiced Pork Steaks
- 4 to 6 arm or blade steaks, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon crushed cumin seed
- onion, sliced

Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season both sides of steaks with salt, pepper, ginger and cumin seed. Top with onion slices. Cover tightly and cook slowly for one hour. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Sausage Appetizer For Parties

An easy and very popular cocktail appetizer can be made by cutting hot spicy sausage into thick slices, then fry the sausage in 2 or 3 tablespoons of Spanish olive oil until lightly browned. Sprinkle sausage with finely-chopped green olives after removing from pan. The best sausage is the Spanish type, called chorizo, but this can also be done with the hot Italian sausage or garlic-flavored Polish sausage.

Extra flavor: Sometimes adding stewed rather than the regular plain variety of canned tomatoes to a dish does wonders for it.

Hot Hors D'Oeuvres To Go With Petit Cafe

For Americans everywhere, dinner wouldn't be complete without steaming cups of coffee. Of course, we always think of serving coffee after dinner . . . but, nowadays, the fragrant brew is also being served before dinner.

Pre-dinner coffee, served in dainty demitasse cups, is actually an old European custom called Petit Cafe. Those who have adopted the idea find that it's especially welcome to those who don't take cocktails. The tiny cups of coffee, along with a plate of pretty canapes, help to fill in the hour before dinner is served, setting the scene for a long sociable evening.

Hot hors d'oeuvres are always wonderful before dinner . . . and these Savory Tartlets are heavenly with Petit Cafe. They're miniature cream cheese pastries — some filled with a glorious mushroom blend, and others with a mouth-watering ham mixture. Just be sure to make enough savories — they're a good substitute for an appetizer course — and be sure the demitasse coffee is strong, piping hot and freshly brewed.

Savory Tartlets

Fillings:
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 cup whipping cream
- ¼ teasp. Worcestershire sauce
- Dash Hot sauce
- 1 small can deviled ham
- 2 teasp. grated parmesan cheese
- 2 teasp. drained sweet pickle relish
- ¼ lb. mushrooms, sliced and sauteed
- 2 tblsp. sliced ripe olives
- ½ teasp. instant minced onion
- Cream Cheese Pastry*

Combine first four ingredients. Stir just enough to mix thoroughly. Divide mixture in half. To first half, add deviled ham, parmesan cheese and pickle relish. To other half, add mushrooms, ripe olives and instant minced onion. Line tiny muffin cups (1¾ inches top diameter) with Cream Cheese Pastry. Fill half with deviled ham mixture and half with mushroom mixture. Bake in hot oven, 425° 12 to 15 minutes.

Cream Cheese Pastry
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 2 3-oz. pkgs. cream cheese
- 2 cups sifted enriched flour

Soften butter at room temperature. Add cream cheese; beat until smooth. Add flour, half cup at a time, blending well after each addition. Work with fingers to a smooth dough. Shape into balls about one inch in diameter. Place each ball in cup of small muffin pans. Press with thumb to line bottom and sides evenly. Makes about 3 dozen.

Hot Spiced Citrus Tea

- 5 cups freshly boiling water
- 5 tea bags or 5 teaspoons tea
- 10 whole cloves
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup fresh lemon juice
- ½ cup fresh orange juice
- 3 orange cartwheel slices

Pour boiling water over tea. Add cloves and cinnamon. Allow to steep for 5 minutes. Strain tea and add sugar and citrus juices. Heat just below boiling point. Serve hot with half a cartwheel slice in each cup. Makes 6 servings.

Cranberry Glazed Ham

- ½ ham, shank end (about 5 pounds)
- 1 can (1-lb.) jellied or whole cranberry sauce
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Place ham, fat side up, in uncovered baking pan. Score and stud with cloves, if desired. Bake in slow oven (325°F.) 2½ hours or until meat thermometer registers 170°F. Remove from oven. If jellied cranberry sauce is used beat with rotary beater until smooth. If whole cranberry sauce is used, break up with fork. Stir brown sugar into cranberry sauce. Spoon over ham. Return to oven and bake 20 to 30 minutes longer. Same directions apply to any type ham. Spoon glaze over before last half hour of baking or heating.

For a really special treat during Lent . . . how about some steamed clams? Buy the soft shell clams allowing 15 to 25 clams per person. Clean thoroughly. Put in kettle with ½ cup hot water to every 4 quarts of clams. Cover kettle tightly and steam over moderate heat 8 to 12 minutes. Serve hot with melted butter seasoned with fresh lemon juice.

Apple Salad With Spanish Accent

Chopped apples combined with chopped green peppers and chopped raw white turnip make an excellent winter-time salad. With 2 large apples use 1 green pepper and 1 turnip. Toss the salad with the following dressing: ½ cup Spanish olive oil, ¼ cup vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard and ¼ teaspoon powdered cumin. Serve on lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

Dip ham-and-cheese sandwiches in a French-toast egg-and-milk mixture; fry until golden brown in butter or margarine.

WEIGHT LINE AS A LIFELINE

If you have inherited a tendency to gain weight, there is news in a report of research devoted to your problems. Studies of genetically fat animals reveal that, when weight was controlled, these animals lived longer than those which could eat as they would without gaining. Researchers suggest that the way to a longer life is a two-step process: First, the prone-to-be-heavy person must find the weight at which he performs best. Once this ideal weight is found he must hold to it, even though it may be greater than that of a thinner person who hasn't a weight worry in the world.

Victory At Allegany Would Give Valley WMI League Title

Knights Won Only Once At Local Gym

Hawks Host LaSalle, Beall At Fort Hill, Panthers Seek 11th

With the Allegany County Class B crown safely tucked away by virtue of a victory at Mt. Savage on Tuesday night, Valley High School's Black Knights get an opportunity to win the championship of the W. M. I. Basketball League when they tackle the Allegany High School Campers tonight at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Valley is 7-0 in the county circuit with three games left to play. The Knights hold a three-game lead over Fort Hill and Allegany, deadlocked for the runner-up spot with 4-3 records. All Valley needs now to sew up the title is one win and the way Coach John Meyers' boys have been going they are not expected to muff it.

If the Black Knights fail to sew up the title tonight they should do it next week when they windup the campaign at home with Beall and Bruce. Valley shared the W.M.I. title with Allegany in 1957.

Won Here Only Once

Since Valley entered the league in 1954 it has won only once in five games at Campobello, that being in 1957 when the score was 81-79. Allegany leads in the series, seven games to four, including an even break in six games on the Valley court.

Valley won the first game of the series from Allegany on January 17 by the score of 49-36.

The W.M.I. League leaders are now 16-1 for the season while Allegany has won seven and lost eight.

In other county league games on tap for tonight, Beall plays at Fort Hill and Bruce High's Bulldogs host Mt. Savage Indians.

By C. V. BURNS

DON SAYLOR, professional at the Andrews Air Force Base Golf Club for the past five years, is reported slated for the job of pro at the new golf course now under construction at Hagerstown.

Walter Potter, professional at Bethesda, will be Saylor's successor at AFB.

Saylor is a product of the Cumberland Country Club and served as assistant to Carroll Boggs before transferring to the Burning Tree Golf Club where he served under Max Elbin, who also got his start at the CCC.

MRS. G. WILLIAM BIBBY, Cumberland's outstanding golfer, passed up a tour of the winter circuit because of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Philip J. Arendes.

VALLEY High School hit the century mark in victories Tuesday night when it defeated Mt. Savage High School's Indians.

This is Johnny Meyers' sixth team at Valley and since the school entered the basketball picture in 1954 its teams have won 100 and lost 37 for a .730 average.

Records for the six years are as follows: 1954 (7-14), 1955 (19-5), 1956 (20-5), 1957 (22-5), 1958 (16-7) and 1959 (16-1).

GEORGE LAUDER, the Barton Bomber, who plays with Valley High and is at present battling it out with Bill Wiltison of Bruce for the W.M.I. League scoring title, is a nephew of Annie Lauder, whom the "oldtimers" will remember as a standout player with Coach "Doc" Hodson's Central High teams that reeled off 65 consecutive victories back in the 1920s.

Annie, who is now the wife of Rev. Franklin Logsdon, and resides in Florida, played for four seasons at Central High. George Lauder is also rounding out his fourth season at Valley. The Valley star trails Wiltison in the W.M.I. scoring race, 138-135, with three games left to play.

George Lauder's aunt, Agnes, is principal of East Side school in Cumberland.

For more background on George Lauder we might add that he is a second cousin of Karl "Quail" Schramm and the late Harrison "Base" Schramm, who starred in the days when Barton High ruled the soccer and basketball roosts in the 1920s. And he's a third cousin of Charles Schramm, who plawed at Barton High in 1938.

ST. PATRICK'S school will receive about $170 toward the purchase of a public address system from the benefit basketball game staged here Wednesday night between Dick Groat's All-Stars and the Old Germans, which was won by the former in two overtime stanzas by the score of 103-101.

WAMPUM (Pa.) High School hung up a national record the other day when it d feated Nesshannock High School by the score of 154-54.

The 154 points bettered the record held by Passaic (N. J.) High which defeated Williams Prep, 145-5.

THE BATTLE of the unbeaten is billed for Hagerstown tonight when Mel Henry's North High cagers (16-0) battle St. Maria Goretti High (13-0).

St. Maria Goretti High School was formerly St. Mary's High School and is in charge of the Sisters of Notre Dame and the priests of the parish. The name of the school was changed in 1950.

Father Robert Passarelli, of Frostburg, is assistant pastor at St. Maria Goretti Church and is athletic director at the school. His brothers, Francis "Scooter" Passarelli and Joseph Passarelli played football at LaSalle High School.

Frank Colley, sports editor of the Hagerstown Herald, who pitched for Frostburg teams once upon a time, called Father Passarelli the "Pride of Georges Creek."

DICK TRAVIS, athletic director at Southern High School, Oakland, reports the Southern Athletic Boosters Club will sponsor a turkey dinner at the school cafeteria on March 5 for the purpose of raising funds to purchase a football scoreboard, shoes for the school's gridders and insurance coverage of the players.

Tickets will go on sale soon and may be obtained at the school.

THE REAL NAME of Frank Thomas, the home run hitter traded by the Pittsburgh Pirates to the Cincinnati Redlegs, is spelled Tomas and he's related to the Pavlicks of Johnstown, Pa.

Frank's mother was Anna Pavlick.

The Pavlicks believe the trade was a good deal because Frank was unpopular with many fans in Pittsburgh and they believe the change of scenery will do him good.

They recall that the Boo Birds in Pittsburgh rode Bob Elliott until he was traded. The next year while with the Boston Braves Bob was named the most valuable player in the National League.

BILLY O'LOUGHLIN, 50, well known member of the family of tennis players, died in Pittsburgh the other day of a heart attack.

Dr. Dave O'Loughlin, a brother, died at about the same age almost four years ago.

Both of the O'Loughlins have participated in the Western Maryland championships at Mountain Lake Park in recent years.

The arapaima — a relative of the salmon and herring — is the largest known fresh-water fish in South America. Specimens 15 feet long and weighing 400 pounds reportedly have been caught in the Amazon Basin.

Brown Banks $40,000 After Title Scrap

Busso Gets $20,000 For Losing Effort

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Joe Brown banked another $40,000 Thursday and said he is ready right now to defend his world's lightweight boxing title a seventh time.

Brown came through Wednesday night's unanimous 15-round decision over Johnny Busso with nothing more than a bruised forearm. That was in sharp contrast with the battered eyes, nose and face of the challenger.

"I'm ready right now for another 15 rounds and want to stay active," Brown said. Lou Viscusi, his manager, agreed.

Viscusi said he is very interested in an offer for Brown to defend his title again in San Francisco against the winner there of a Feb. 23 match between Paolo Rosi of Italy and Flash Elorde of Manila.

Viscusi said he also would be interested in giving Busso another chance "if he proves himself."

Busso picked up about $20,000, by far the biggest gate cut he has received in his five-year pro career.

Viscusi added that Wednesday night's gate of $61,155 was further evidence that Houston is one of the best boxing towns in the country.

"In three title fights for Brown in nine months the gross gate has exceeded $199,000," he said. "This proves that the fans here want good boxing and we're going to see that they receive it."

Doll Will Coach Irish Backfield

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Don Doll, who resigned Tuesday as Southern California's assistant football coach, Thursday was named a Notre Dame backfield coach by new Irish Coach Joe Kuharich. Doll was USC assistant coach the past two seasons. A USC backfield star in the mid-1940s, Doll played six pro seasons.

Andrade, Ryff Clash At Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — Cisco Andrade, a budding young businessman from the Los Angeles area, will try to open up new territory in the lightweight division Friday in a Madison Square Garden bout with Frankie Ryff.

In a way, this 10-round match is part of a comeback attempt by both fighters. Andrade, 29, almost quit twice because of an elbow operation and two broken hands. Ryff, 26, became so discouraged because he cut easily around the eyes that he was going to quit boxing.

The match, scheduled for 10 p.m. (EST) will be carried on network (NBC) radio and TV. Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case of even rounds. Andrade is a 7-5 favorite.

Alvin Dark Leads Golf Tourney

Cops Medal Honors With Score Of 73

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Alvin Dark Chicago Cubs infielder who is seeking his fourth title in the National Baseball Players' golf tournament, captured medal honors Thursday in the qualifying round of this year's competition.

Winds of 20 miles an hour scattered the "home run" drives of most of the stars, but Dark kept his shots down the middle to score a three-over-par 73.

Augie Bergamo of the old St. Louis Browns led the inactive major league division with a 72, followed by Jack Russell, formerly of the Detroit Tigers, with a 74.

Medal honors for the minor league players went to George Saab of North Carolina with a 73.

The 117 entrants, including baseball officials and representatives of press, radio and television, square off in match play Friday. The tournament ends Sunday.

Defending champion Albie Pearson, the Washington Senators' American League "rookie of the year" in 1958, and White Sox Manager Al Lopez shot 81's. The pair tied for medal honors last year. They tied with Mayo Smith, Cincinnati Reds manager, and Eddie Kasko, Reds infielder.

Victory At Allegany Would Give Valley WMI League Title

Knights Won Only Once At Local Gym

Hawks Host LaSalle, Beall At Fort Hill, Panthers Seek 11th

With the Allegany County Class B crown safely tucked away by virtue of a victory at Mt. Savage on Tuesday night, Valley High School's Black Knights get an opportunity to win the championship of the W. M. I. Basketball League when they tackle the Allegany High School Campers tonight at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Valley is 7-0 in the county circuit with three games left to play. The Knights hold a three-game lead over Fort Hill and Allegany, deadlocked for the runner-up spot with 4-3 records. All Valley needs now to sew up the title is one win and the way Coach John Meyers' boys have been going they are not expected to muff it.

If the Black Knights fail to sew up the title tonight they should do it next week when they windup the campaign at home with Beall and Bruce. Valley shared the W.M.I. title with Allegany in 1957.

Won Here Only Once

Since Valley entered the league in 1954 it has won only once in five games at Campobello, that being in 1957 when the score was 81-79. Allegany leads in the series, seven games to four, including an even break in six games on the Valley court.

Valley won the first game of the series from Allegany on January 17 by the score of 49-36.

The W.M.I. League leaders are now 16-1 for the season while Allegany has won seven and lost eight.

LaSalle At Ridgeley

LaSalle High Explorers will be shooting for their fourth straight victory when they windup their series with Ridgeley on the Blackhawks' court. Coach George Geatz's quint will be out to avenge a 47-38 setback suffered at the hands of the Hawks earlier in the season. LaSalle is now 10-8 for the season while Coach Tom O'Connor's team, defeated in its last five outings by Mt. Savage, Romney, Beall, Keyser and Elk Garden, owns a record of eight wins and 11 losses.

Franklin High School's Panthers will go after their 11th consecutive victory in the Potomac Valley Conference when they tangle with "Pete" Vance's Wardensville High School Warriors tonight at Wardensville. If the Pendleton Countians can bag this one and defeat Elk Garden on the latter's court one week from tonight they'll be crowned champions of the P.V.C. for the first time.

Bulldogs At Romney

Romney's Pioneers (14-2) host Martinsburg's Bulldogs in the opener of a two-game series. Hyndman's Hornets (7-8) will be gunning for a .500 mark when they invade Oldtown (0-15), and Elk Garden will tangle with Ed Supak's Mountaineer High cagers (12-4) at Thomas.

Berkeley Springs (8-7), victorious in seven of its last eight games, takes a 5-game winning streak into Virginia where Coach "Eck" Miers' Warren County Wildcats will be met at Front Royal.

In other Friday night engagements, North Hagerstown will play St. Maria Goretti, a local rival. Circleville visits Harman and Homer Brooks' Frederick High Cadets play the Owls at Westminster High School.

DICK TRAVIS, athletic director at Southern High School, Oakland, reports the Southern Athletic Boosters Club will sponsor a turkey dinner at the school cafeteria on March 5 for the purpose of raising funds to purchase a football scoreboard, shoes for the school's gridders and insurance coverage of the players.

THE REAL NAME of Frank Thomas, the home run hitter traded by the Pittsburgh Pirates to the Cincinnati Redlegs, is spelled Tomas and he's related to the Pavlicks of Johnstown, Pa.

The Pavlicks believe the trade was a good deal because Frank was unpopular with many fans in Pittsburgh and they believe the change of scenery will do him good.

They recall that the Boo Birds in Pittsburgh rode Bob Elliott until he was traded. The next year while with the Boston Braves Bob was named the most valuable player in the National League.

BILLY O'LOUGHLIN, 50, well known member of the family of tennis players, died in Pittsburgh the other day of a heart attack.

Ussery Rides Four Winners

Total Soars To 29 At Hialeah Session

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 12 (AP) — Bob Ussery, the leading rider during the current Hialeah meeting, boosted his victory total to 29 as he won on his first four mounts today.

Ussery started his parade of firsts on $13.20 Rare Ace in the second. He came back to win the third on $6.80 Marikay, the fifth aboard $7 Arakan 2nd and the seventh aboard $3.10 Kingmaker.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Rare Rice outfinished Scotland, owned by W. M. Ingram, by a neck in the $5,000 Trade Winds Purse.

Prince's Gem, racing for the Meadow Stable, was six lengths behind Scotland in the feature. Calumet Farm's Numo was length and three quarters out of the money.

PARIS (AP)—The International Automobile Federation Thursday postponed the Grand Prix of the United States at Sebring, Fla., until Dec. 12. The race originally had been scheduled for March 22. A postponement was requested because of organizing difficulties and because some European racing cars would not be ready that early.

Brown Banks $40,000 After Title Scrap

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Joe Brown banked another $40,000 Thursday and said he is ready right now to defend his world's lightweight boxing title a seventh time.

Brown came through Wednesday night's unanimous 15-round decision over Johnny Busso with nothing more than a bruised forearm. That was in sharp contrast with the battered eyes, nose and face of the challenger.

"I'm ready right now for another 15 rounds and want to stay active," Brown said. Lou Viscusi, his manager, agreed.

Viscusi said he is very interested in an offer for Brown to defend his title again in San Francisco against the winner there of a Feb. 23 match between Paolo Rosi of Italy and Flash Elorde of Manila.

Viscusi said he also would be interested in giving Busso another chance "if he proves himself."

Busso picked up about $20,000, by far the biggest gate cut he has received in his five-year pro career.

Viscusi added that Wednesday night's gate of $61,155 was further evidence that Houston is one of the best boxing towns in the country.

"In three title fights for Brown in nine months the gross gate has exceeded $199,000," he said. "This proves that the fans here want good boxing and we're going to see that they receive it."

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Don Doll, who resigned Tuesday as Southern California's assistant football coach, Thursday was named a Notre Dame backfield coach by new Irish Coach Joe Kuharich. Andrade, Ryff Clash At Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — Cisco Andrade, a budding young businessman from the Los Angeles area, will try to open up new territory in the lightweight division Friday in a Madison Square Garden bout with Frankie Ryff.

In a way, this 10-round match is part of a comeback attempt by both fighters. Andrade, 29, almost quit twice because of an elbow operation and two broken hands. Ryff, 26, became so discouraged because he cut easily around the eyes that he was going to quit boxing.

The match, scheduled for 10 p.m. (EST) will be carried on network (NBC) radio and TV. Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case of even rounds. Andrade is a 7-5 favorite.

Alvin Dark Leads Golf Tourney

Cops Medal Honors With Score Of 73

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Alvin Dark Chicago Cubs infielder who is seeking his fourth title in the National Baseball Players' golf tournament, captured medal honors Thursday in the qualifying round of this year's competition.

Winds of 20 miles an hour scattered the "home run" drives of most of the stars, but Dark kept his shots down the middle to score a three-over-par 73.

John Gray, former Philadelphia Phillies pitcher, was Dark's closest pursuer in the active major leaguers' division with a 76. Darrell Johnson, New York Yankee catcher, was the only other in the division to break 80. He shot a 79.

Augie Bergamo of the old St. Louis Browns led the inactive major league division with a 72, followed by Jack Russell, former-ly of the Detroit Tigers, with a 74.

Medal honors for the minor league players went to George Saab of North Carolina with a 73.

The 117 entrants, including baseball officials and representatives of press, radio and television, square off in match play Friday. The tournament ends Sunday.

Defending champion Albie Pearson, the Washingtor Senators' American League "rookie of the year" in 1958, and White Sox Manager Al Lopez shot 81's. The pair tied for medal honors last year. They tied with Mayo Smith, Cincinnati Reds manager, and Eddie Kasko, Reds infielder.

Evasheski Becomes Highest Paid Grid Coach In Big Ten

Will Get $20,000; Increases Approved For Six Assistants

Forrest Evasheski

At the same time the regents approved salary increases of from $500 to $1,500 a year for six of Evashevski's assistant coaches. The increases are retroactive to Feb. 1.

Until the latest increase, the third since he came to Iowa in 1952 from Washington State, Evashevski was second to Ohio State's Woody Hayes in salary paid Big Ten coaches. Hayes receives $17,964 annually.

Evashevski got $14,500 when he came to Iowa, and in 1954 he was given a 10-year contract at $15,000 a year.

After the Hawkeyes won the Big Ten title in 1956 and made its first Rose Bowl appearance in January 1957, Evy's salary was boosted to $17,500. Iowa won the conference championship and the Rose Bowl again last season.

The president of the state university, Dr. Virgil M. Hancer, draws $22,000 annually and Dr. Norman Nelson, dean of the University Medical College, makes $21,500.

Evashevski, son-in-law of Prentiss Brown, a multimillionaire and a former U.S. senator from Michigan, also receives considerable additional income from outside activities, such as business enterprises, television appearances, coaching clinics and speeches.

Evasheski Becomes Highest Paid Grid Coach In Big Ten

Will Get $20,000; Increases Approved For Six Assistants

DES MOINES (AP) — Forrest Evashevski of the University of Iowa became the highest paid football coach in the Big Ten Conference Thursday.

Forrest Evasheski

The State Board of Regents approved a $2,500 increase for him, bringing his salary to $20,000 a year.

At the same time the regents approved salary increases of from $500 to $1,500 a year for six of Evashevski's assistant coaches. The increases are retroactive to Feb. 1.

Until the latest increase, the third since he came to Iowa in 1952 from Washington State, Evashevski was second to Ohio State's Woody Hayes in salary paid Big Ten coaches. Hayes receives $17,964 annually.

Evashevski got $14,500 when he came to Iowa, and in 1954 he was given a 10-year contract at $15,000 a year.

After the Hawkeyes won the Big Ten title in 1956 and made its first Rose Bowl appearance in January 1957, Evy's salary was boosted to $17,500. Iowa won the conference championship and the Rose Bowl again last season.

The president of the state university, Dr. Virgil M. Hancer, draws $22,000 annually and Dr. Norman Nelson, dean of the University Medical College, makes $21,500.

Evashevski, son-in-law of Prentiss Brown, a multimillionaire and a former U.S. senator from Michigan, also receives considerable additional income from outside activities, such as business enterprises, television appearances, coaching clinics and speeches.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — In 1939 Ernest Hemingway wrote a short story, "Nobody Ever Dies," for Cosmopolitan Magazine. It's a tale of a revolution that might have been a "preview" of Fidel Castro's overthrow of the Cuban government. Now Al Horwits, who is resigning from his publicity post at Columbia, has been talking to Hemingway about bringing it to the screen.

"Papa" Hemingway and Al are close friends and Hemingway would like Al to have the story. The deal is close to closing for the Hemingway classic to become a movie under the guidance of Horwits. "Papa" leaves for Cuba in March but he'll remain only a short time gathering up some belongings before he goes to Europe.

Dino Di Laurentiis, the Italian producer who rode in on the crest of the wave in "The Tempest," was given a welcome-to-Hollywood party by Paramount, at Chasen's. The volatile Italian was all smiles over the reception "Tempest" received. This was made behind the Iron Curtain in Yugoslavia.

I asked Dino what his plans are. He said he hopes to have an equally big picture that will be as impressive as "Tempest" in "Simon Bolivar." This is the life story of the liberator of South America, and there is plenty of adventure. Gregory Peck has been paged for a top role. Di Laurentiis hopes to get an actor that will do as well for him as Van Heflin did in "The Tempest."

Whether you are a Western addict, or just one of those who can take these gun-totin' horseback heroes in stride, you'll like "The Hanging Tree." I know you'll love Gary Cooper who is at his best, and Gary's best is "the most" in any language. Then there's Maria Schell — that girl has everything Ingrid Bergman had when she started as a young actress.

We cannot overlook Ben Piazza, the young man who is saved by Cooper from mob violence, and whom Gary makes his bond-servant. This is no ordinary Western, and it's one of the few in which the woman is important—a beautiful woman who spends her life trying to get away from Karl Malden's unwelcome atentions.

The famed luxury liner, the Ile de France (never to be forgotten by those of us who crossed on her) and which was sold last year for scrap metal, will be bought, yes I said BOUGHT by Virginia and Andrew Stone for "The Last Voyage," their next for MGM!

The Stones have already dispatched Kenneth Grossman to Japan to put in a bid for the French liner and while they are pretty sure that financial terms can be reached for the "Ile", if negotiations fall through, they'll bid for the British Arundel Castle.

Talk about spending big money for realism — whichever huge ocean liner is obtained, it will be sunk in the movie, a drama of a shipboard disaster.

My friend Rosalind Russell was really misunderstood at a recent party when she said she didn't intend to work any more. Said Roz, "I never meant I was permanently retiring. That sounds too final. What I meant is that I'm not going to work for awhile. Of course, if a challenge comes along something like 'Wonderful Town' or 'Auntie Mame' I probably won't say 'No.'

"Right now after working so hard, all I can think of is rest, and that's what I'm going to do. It would take a good story to pry me from my fireside. Freddie (Brisson) has gone to Europe to arrange for the distribution of 'Pleasure of His Company' and 'Gazebo'," Rosalind said. "And he'll be back in time to spend Easter with us."

To Recall Workers

LORAIN, Ohio (UPI)—National Tube Division of U.S. Steel Corp. said it will recall about 400 workers to its Lorain, Ohio, works within the next few days, reflecting increased core plant and pipe mill operations.

The blazer, an increasingly popular item of sports attire, takes its name from the British warship Blazer. Over 100 years ago, before naval uniforms became common, the Blazer's fashion-conscious captain outfitted his crew in blue jackets with brass buttons.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of a wife and mother who is missed very much, Kitty Mower, who died two years ago today, Feb. 13, 1957.
How very close her memory
For though she's gone those
Treasured thoughts
Can never fade away.
But they will grow still sweeter
As the days and years go by,
For in beloved memory
May God give you peace.
Your loving husband, Lee Roy, and children, Lee Roy, Jr., Harold, Eleanor, Clifton and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Catherine Roman, who died Feb. 22, 1955 and our dear father, John R. Roman, who died Feb. 13, 1957.
Our family circle broken, still
Years roll and days pass by.
Sadly missed by

In Memoriam

In loving memory of a wife and mother who is missed very much, Kitty Mower, who died two years ago today, Feb. 13, 1957.
How very close her memory
Has been to us these days,
For though she's gone those
Treasured thoughts
Can never fade away,
But they will grow still sweeter
As the days and years go by,
For in beloved memory
Our dear one cannot die.
May God give you peace.
Your loving husband, Lee Roy, and children, Lee Roy, Jr., Harold, Eleanor, Clifton and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Catherine Roman, who died Feb. 22, 1955 and our dear father, John R. Roman, who died Feb. 13, 1957.
Our family circle broken, still
Loving memories never die,
Years roll and days pass by.
Sadly missed by
DAUGHTERS AND SON

THE BEST remedy for your wants and don't-wants doesn't come in a bottle of medicine but in just a few words in the want ads. Tell thousands of people for a few cents a day.

TO FIND the right Mr. Fixit just look for him in the want ad columns. A specialized expert can do your job better, faster and more economically and do it permanently.

REALIZING that a sixty dollar a month apartment costs you two dollars every day it is unrented doesn't it seem foolish not to be running a for rent ad at the monthly rate that only runs thirty-seven cents a day and would probably rent the apartment.

THE BEST remedy for your wants and don't-wants doesn't come in a bottle of medicine but in just a few words in the want ads. Tell thousands of people for a few cents a day.

TO FIND the right Mr. Fixit just look for him in the want ad columns. A specialized expert can do your job better, faster and more economically and do it permanently.

REALIZING that a sixty dollar a month apartment costs you two dollars every day it is unrented doesn't it seem foolish not to be running a for rent ad at the monthly rate that only runs thirty-seven cents a day and would probably rent the apartment.

Oil Stocks Drop Sharply In Quiet Market Session

NEW YORK (UPI)— Stocks lost ground through neglect as Wall Street celebrated unofficially the Lincoln's birthday holiday which the stock exchanges no longer observe officially.

Except for the oil stocks, which dropped sharply on declining prices in Venezuela and the Middle East, the list held in an extremely narrow range.

Turnover dwindled to 2,630,000 shares for the session, lightest since Sept. 5, 1958, compared with 3-million on Wednesday.

Fruehauf Trailer was in the spotlight, rising a point to 23 on the day's most active trading.

There were gains of a point or more in American Telephone, Parmelee Transportation, Western Union, American News, United Board & Carton, Minnesota Mining, Polaroid, Arvin Industries.

Steels were easier for the most part with Bethlehem and Youngstown down major fractions. Continental, however, rose a point. Motors also lost ground, except for a small gain in Chrysler. American Motors declined ⅞ point. Union Carbide fell nearly 2 in the chemicals. Zenith lost 1½, Boeing Airplane 1¾, Firestone 2⅛.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains closed rather mixed, mostly steady but in spots weak, on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅝s to off ½ cent; corn (old) off ¾ cent; (new) off ⅞s to up ⅛ cent; oats unchanged to off ⅛ cent; rye up ⅝s to 1¾ cent; soybeans unchanged to up ⅝s cent.

A strong buying movement by commission houses pulled March and May contracts from weak levels. Distant contracts, however, slipped ⅜s to ⅝s cent; whereas March rose ½ and May ⅜s. Locals and scattered commercial brokers were the buyers. Yugoslavia took some more wheat for March shipment. No. 2 red wheat was quoted nominally at $2.02-2.03 a bushel.

Inactivity clamped corn in steady ranges. Commission houses were on the buying side; commercial interests took some March and May deliveries. Old and new March slipped ¼, others remained mostly unchanged. The trading basis in spot trade remained unchanged, with No. 2 yellow selling for $1.19 and No. 3 yellow $1.20 a bushel.

Oats followed corn and contracts declined about ⅛ cent. Cash house interest, small as it was, centered in the May contract.

March rye scored a 1¼ cent advance, but distant July and September deliveries dropped ¾ cent. Short covering was the only feature in trade.

Declines in meal and oil influenced a recession in soybean futures. Northwest brokers purchased some March beans, and the position advanced ¾ cent. Far off September moved ⅛ to ⅝s cent higher; other deliveries remained near the steady range. Buying of September and selling of May and July was regarded as hedging by observers. Traders are still waiting for word on a loan price for this year's crop.

Grains at outside markets were steady. The range:

Oil Stocks Drop Sharply In Quiet Market Session

NEW YORK (UPI)— Stocks lost ground through neglect as Wall Street celebrated unofficially the Lincoln's birthday holiday which the stock exchanges no longer observe officially.

Except for the oil stocks, which dropped sharply on declining prices in Venezuela and the Middle East, the list held in an extremely narrow range.

Turnover dwindled to 2,630,000 shares for the session, lightest since Sept. 5, 1958, compared with 3-million on Wednesday.

Losses in the oils ranged around 2 points in Standard of Jersey, Standard of California and Richfield and to 3½ points in Gulf Oil.

Fruehauf Trailer was in the spotlight, rising a point to 23 on the day's most active trading.

There were gains of a point or more in American Telephone, Parmelee Transportation, Western Union, American News, United Board & Carton, Minnesota Mining, Polaroid, Arvin Industries.

Steels were easier for the most part with Bethlehem and Youngstown down major fractions. Continental, however, rose a point. Motors also lost ground, except for a small gain in Chrysler. American Motors declined ⅞ point. Union Carbide fell nearly 2 in the chemicals. Zenith lost 1½. Boeing Airplane 1¾. Firestone 2⅛.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains closed rather mixed, mostly steady but in spots weak, on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅝ to off ½ cent; corn (old) off ¼ cent; (new) off ⅛ to up ⅛ cent; oats unchanged to off ⅛ cent; rye up ⅝ to 1¼ cent; soybeans unchanged to up ⅝ cent.

Interest was light and business dull in the Lincoln Day session.

A strong buying movement by commission houses pulled March and May contracts from weak levels. Distant contracts, however, slipped ⅝ to ⅞ cent; whereas March rose ½ and May ⅝. Locals and scattered commercial brokers were the buyers. Yugoslavia took some more wheat for March shipment. No. 2 red wheat was quoted nominally at $2.02-2.03 a bushel.

Inactivity clamped corn in steady ranges. Commission houses were on the buying side; commercial interests took some March and May deliveries. Old and new March slipped ¼, others remained mostly unchanged. The trading basis in spot trade remained unchanged, with No. 2 yellow selling for $1.19 and No. 3 yellow $1.20 a bushel.

Oats followed corn and contracts declined about ⅛ cent. Cash house interest, small as it was, centered in the May contract.

March rye scored a 1¼ cent advance, but distant July and September deliveries dropped ¾ cent. Short covering was the only feature in trade.

Declines in meal and oil influenced a recession in soybean futures. Northwest brokers purchased some March beans, and the position advanced ¾ cent. Far off September moved ½ to ⅝ cent higher; other deliveries remained near the steady range. Buying of September and selling of May and July was regarded as hedging by observers. Traders are still waiting for word on a loan price for this year's crop.

Grains at outside markets were steady. The range:

Broad Power Sought For SRC Director

Tawes Wants Strong Local Voice On Rural Road System

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Thursday unveiled plans to place Maryland's main highway system under a director with broad powers over primary and federal interstate roads.

Decisions on secondary roads would rest largely in a seven-member commission made up from all geographic areas of the state in an effort to restore a strong local voice to the rural road system.

He said they are 'aimed at modernizing and centralizing the State Roads Commission so that Maryland will be able to accomplish its construction schedule of interstate, primary and secondary highways as rapidly and efficiently as possible."

Wants Bigger Board

". . . I do not consider that the present three-member commission can adequately meet the needs of Maryland's highway system, which, in ceratin respects, might be called a dual system," he said.

He proposes that the present commission be abolished and replaced by the seven-member group on June 1.

One member would be appointed from the nine Eastern Shore counties, one from the southern counties of Anne Arundel, Charles, Calvert and St. Marys, one from the Western and Central counties of Frederick, Washington, Allegany, Carroll and Garrett, one from Prince Georges and Montgomery, one from the central and northeastern brace of Baltimore, Howard and Harford, and another from Baltimore City.

"The seventh member of the commission should be appointed from the state at large, should be the chairman of the State Roads Commission and also the Director of Highways for the State of Maryland and should be required to devote full time to the duties of his office," Tawes said.

Has Final Say

"The chairman and the director of highways should have exclusive jurisdiction and control over the location, construction, geometrics and design of the highways that embrace the interstate system and the main system of highways, commonly known as the primary system.

"He will be able to call upon the full commission for advice and counsel, but he will have final jurisdiction over problems affecting these highways.

"It should be the duty of the full membership of the State Roads Commission to formulate policy relative to the location, type and design of the feeder or secondary roads.

"I envision that the members of the commission will jointly discuss their local problems, bearing in mind that the member of the commission from the area of the highway under discussion will acquaint the rest of the commission with local conditions as they actually exist."

Asks Land Study

Under Tawes' plan the highway director, who reported will receive

Now Enjoying A Normal Life

Margaret Ann Calderwood, 11-year-old girl from Cash Valley Road, is now able to roller skate and take part in normal activities for the rest of her life. Last June she underwent surgery in Baltimore, which closed two openings in chambers of her heart.

Young Girl Made Healthy Through Heart Surgery

An 11-year-old girl from Cash Valley Road is now able to enjoy a normal active life as a result of successful heart surgery which was performed last June 18 at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

The girl, Margaret Ann Calderwood, is the only child of Millard D. and Betty (Bucy) Calderwood, and is a sixth grade pupil at LaVale Elementary School.

When she was examined there by doctors, it was found that she had a large opening in the heart wall in the upper chamber of her heart.

However, when the LaVale area youngster underwent surgery last June, the doctors found another opening in the middle chamber of her heart which also was closed during the operation, which lasted three and one half hours.

Margaret Ann recently underwent another examination at the Baltimore hospital and physicians there said she had fully recovered from her heart ailment and now may lead a normal active life.

The sixth-grader said her main interests outside of school are roller skating and dancing. Since she spent all of last summer recuperating from her operation, Margaret Ann hopes to use her vacation from school this summer enjoying all the activities she has missed.

Last week, George R. Hughes Jr., Allegany-Garrett County Heart Fund chairman, selected Margaret Ann to light the heart-torch on the Court House lawn to officially launch the 1959 Heart Fund Drive.

Mr. Hughes said it was appropriate that she light the torch since she already has benefitted from remarkable advances in heart surgery, made possible through research.

Two Inmates Charged In Jail Escape

Pennsylvania authorities in Franklin County have charged two prisoners with aiding the escape of two other inmates of the county jail in Chambersburg, Pa., last January 20.

Two other prisoners who apparently acted as lookouts during the escape may be charged later, Sheriff James W. Coldsmith of the Franklin County Jail said last night.

The escapees are Frank Bordner, 29, of 1523 Thomas Street, Harrisburg, Pa., and Harold Russell Shives, 30, of 651 Broad Street, Chambersburg, and formerly a resident of Virginia Avenue in Cumberland. Charged with aiding and abetting their escape are George Sprenkle and Richard Lee Gardner, both of Waynesboro, Pa.

Shives Free

Sheriff Coldsmith said Bordner was apprehended three days after the escape near his home in Harrisburg, but Shives is still free.

Also facing possible charges in the escape is Miss Norma Cooper, who posed as Mrs. Harold Shives and drove the car in which the two men fled.

Sheriff Coldsmith said the woman met the prisoners after their escape and drove them from the scene. She had her two-year-old son with her, the sheriff stated.

Miss Cooper told police, however, she did not know of the escape at the time and thought the men were out on bail. They told her later they had escaped the jail, she said.

Toward Harrisburg

The three fled toward Harrisburg where Bordner left them just a few hours before he was recaptured. The woman and Shives then backtracked to Washington, Baltimore, Winchester, Va., Berkeley Springs, and Hancock before Miss Cooper decided to return home with her child.

Sheriff Coldsmith said police in the Cumberland area have been alerted that Shives may try to return to this area.

Two other prisoners who helped in the escape climbed out of the hole which was pried in the ceiling of a third-tier washroom and planned to escape with Bordner and Shives, but the break-out was discovered so quickly they returned to their cells, the sheriff said.

Bordner was convicted of burglary in Franklin County and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. Shives was facing burglary charges and two state motor vehicle violations.

Senator Turns Down Bid For Meeting Here

City and county officials will have to go to Annapolis if they want to confer with Senator Charles M. See and the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly.

The Mayor and Council and the County Commissioners met here Tuesday to talk over mutual problems and, after drafting plans for a five-man study committee on city-county problems, invited the County Delegation to meet with them here February 21 or 23.

The action was taken after they agreed it would be an imposition for them to have to go to Annapolis to meet with the county legislators.

But Senator See said last night that the Mayor and Council has always come to Annapolis to transact business when the Legislature was in session.

He said he personally felt that if he and the Delegation came to Cumberland for this session, any individual should expect the same courtesy.

He said it would be an injustice for the county legislators to schedule hearings here because of the limited time available.

The Senator and Delegation, he added, will make every effort to arrange hearings, at agreeable times, in Annapolis, when requested.

Senator See said not all of the legislators, including himself, come home every week.

He added that ample time was given, during pre-Assembly hearings to work out all difficulties on local legislation.

Dairy, Livestock Farmers Learn More About Alfalfa

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said that about 90 farmers of the area attended the morning session of the meeting.

Lost In Storage

He pointed out that sometime almost a third of the crop is lost between the time it is cut and when it is stored in the barn. This is caused by allowing the alfalfa to get wet or over-curing.

The trend today is to cut earlier than in the past. Mr. Ellington also gave some helpful information on how to maintain alfalfa after it has been stored in the barn.

Dr. James R. Miller, extension soil specialist in charge of soil testing at the university, discussed the liming and fertilizing of forage crops for highest production.

He stressed the need for working lime into the soil in order to get the best results. Dr. Miller also gave the farmers valuable data on the proper methods of getting soil samples for a more complete analysis by soil testers.

Luncheon Served

Separate dairy and livestock meetings were held in the afternoon. Thomas Barton presided over the former meeting which had Dr. Roger Hemken, of the dairy department of the University, as guest speaker.

Potomac Edison Wins Permit For Black Oak Dam

Power Plant Is Proposed On Site

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources Thursday approved an application for construction of a dam on the north branch of the Potomac River at Black Oak.

Dr. J. T. Singewald Jr., director of the department, said the company was directed to submit detailed plans for the barrier which will not be more than 15 feet high.

The plans must be submitted within two years, it was explained.

The original hearing on the application was held last December. At that time wildlife interests had asked that any construction plan include provision for a fish ladder. This is expected to be covered in the company's detailed outline, it was explained.

No protests were filed with the department in connection with the project, Dr. Singewald said.

Four Injured In Collision On Route 51

Two Automobiles Figure In Crash

Four persons were injured and considerable property damage was caused yesterday afternoon when two automobiles collided on Oldtown Road near the city limits.

Treated at Memorial Hospital were Donald Leroy Cranford, 17, of 431 Broadway, who had front teeth knocked out and Mrs. Agatha Mae Eiser, of Oldtown, who had abrasions of both knees and possible injuries to her ribs.

Also treated were John A. Turano Jr., 15, of 510 City View Terrace, who sustained a laceration on his forehead and Mrs. Marjorie Virginia Allen, 40, of Oldtown, who suffered a contusion of the nose.

Turano was a passenger in a car driven by Cranford who was traveling north on Route 51. Mrs. Eiser and Mrs. Allen were passengers in the car driven by Mr. Eiser.

State Trooper Carlton Lewis said Cranford will be charged with failure to keep to the right center of the highway and will be given a hearing on Saturday morning in Trial Magistrate's Court.

FATHER TIBBATTS

Anglican Will Begin Mission Here Sunday

All of the Episcopal churches of Western Maryland are joining in sponsorship of a four-day Lenten preaching mission starting at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Speaker for the mission, which will continue at 7:30 o'clock nightly through next Wednesday is a distinguished English clergyman, Rev. George K. Tibbatts.

Father Tibbatt's visit to Cumberland is one of the highlights of a five-week stay in the United States and Canada. He has conducted missions in Chicago, Kingston, Ontario, and presently near Asheville, N. C.

After his departure from Cumberland he will go to New York City and preach at the famed Little Church Around The Corner on Sunday, February 22. He will remain in New York through that week returning to England aboard the Queen Elizabeth on Saturday, February 28.

The visiting Anglican clergyman is vicar of St. Luke's Church in Cambridge, England, was chaplain at Cambridge University and spent a number of years as a missionary in Central Africa.

Actually, what brings him to Allegany County is his position as superior of the Oratory of the Good Shepherd. This is an unusual society of priests within the Anglican Communion which had its beginings among chaplains at Cambridge University at the time of World War I.

There are only about 30 priests belonging to this Oratory of the Good Shepherd. Most of them are in England but there are five in North America, several in Africa and Australia.

One of the handful of American clergymen who belong to the Oratory of the Good Shepherd is Rev. H. Martin P. Davidson, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church in Frostburg. Father Davidson joined the society some nine or ten years ago while connected with school work in New England.

This mission is designed not only for Episcopalians but for others who wish to hear the message of Father Tibbatts.

Members of Local 180, United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union, will hear reports on contract negotiations with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at a meeting here Sunday afternoon.

Charles O. Buskirk, Local 180 president, said the mass meeting will be held at 2 p. m. in the Woodmen of the World Hall on Union Street.

Secret balloting on the pact proposal will be held Monday in the WOW hall, Mr. Buskirk said.

Ballots, which are being prepared by the International union, will give members an opportunity to accept or reject the company's offer.

Mr. Buskirk said the balloting has been tentatively scheduled Monday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and will be conducted by a neutral party.

Vandals Impair Police Radio Transmitter

Emergency Calls Made From Cruiser

Vandals, breaking into the enclosed area around the radio tower on Seneca Avenue sometime Wednesday afternoon, put the radio transmitter at Police Headquarters out of commission for nearly 24 hours.

Both Police Headquarters and Central Fire Station have transmitting equipment in the tower building and the damage was discovered by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, who was making a routine check of the equipment Wednesday.

The fire chief and police discovered lead-in wires to the radio equipment had been tampered with, tie wires removed, the antenna damaged and power wires pulled loose from their moorings outside the building.

Whipped In Wind

Chief Parker said he noticed the electric power lines were whipping loosely in the strong wind which was blowing atop the hill off Braddock Road about 2 p. m. Wednesday. He stated that in a matter of minutes these wires would have been torn loose and the entire radio system of both the Police Department and Fire Headquarters would have been out of commission.

The damaged antenna put the police radio on the blink until yesterday afternoon when service was restored.

Assistant Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney said authorities were forced to use a cruiser car's radio at headquarters to relay calls to other mobile units on duty as the main transmitter in the Public Safety Building could receive calls but could not transmit.

Chife Parker stated, however, that Central Fire Station's main transmitter was not affected. He also noted that firemen have an auxiliary power-pack transmitter which can be used in an emergency should the main equipment fail.

Auxiliary Transmitter

The auxiliary transmitter is powerful enough for calls within a radius of 20 miles, the chief stated, and can be used until repairs are made on the main power plant.

Boy Missing

Richard Carrell, 13, has been reported missing from his home on Braddock Road where he resides with the Ralph Simons family. The youth left home Wednesday on a school bus and failed to return. He is four feet, 11 inches tall, weighs 70 pounds, has blue eyes and blonde hair and was wearing a tan cap, red jacket, grey trousers and black shoes when last seen.

Brinsfield, chief, Bureau of Food Control, who explained the Maryland Milk Code and Regulations, and Thomas Barton, who presided at the dairy meeting. A livestock producers meeting was also held during the afternoon.

Broad Power Sought For SRC Director

Tawes Wants Strong Local Voice On Rural Road System

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Thursday unveiled plans to place Maryland's main highway system under a director with broad powers over primary and federal interstate roads.

Decisions on secondary roads would rest largely in a seven-member commission made up from all geographic areas of the state in an effort to restore a strong local voice to the rural road system.

He said they are "aimed at modernizing and centralizing the State Roads Commission so that Maryland will be able to accomplish its construction schedule of interstate, primary and secondary highways as rapidly and efficiently as possible."

Wants Bigger Board

". . . I do not consider that the present three-member commission can adequately meet the needs of Maryland's highway system, which, in ceratin respects, might be called a dual system," he said.

He proposes that the present commission be abolished and replaced by the seven-member group on June 1.

One member would be appointed from the nine Eastern Shore counties, one from the southern counties of Anne Arundel, Charles, Calvert and St. Marys, one from the Western and Central counties of Frederick, Washington, Allegany, Carroll and Garrett, one from Prince Georges and Montgomery, one from the central and northeastern brace of Baltimore, Howard and Harford, and another from Baltimore City.

"The seventh member of the commission should be appointed from the state at large, should be the chairman of the State Roads Commission and also the Director of Highways for the State of Maryland and should be required to devote full time to the duties of his office," Tawes said.

Has Final Say

"The chairman and the director of highways should have exclusive jurisdiction and control over the location, construction, geometrics and design of the highways that embrace the interstate system and the main system of highways, commonly known as the primary system.

"He will be able to call upon the full commission for advice and counsel, but he will have final jurisdiction over problems affecting these highways.

"It should be the duty of the full membership of the State Roads Commission to formulate policy relative to the location, type and design of the feeder or secondary roads.

"I envision that the members of the commission will jointly discuss their local problems, bearing in mind that the member of the commission from the area of the highway under discussion will acquaint the rest of the commission with local conditions as they actually exist."

Asks Land Study

Under Tawes' plan the highway director, who reported will receive

Now Enjoying A Normal Life

Margaret Ann Calderwood, 11-year-old girl from Cash Valley Road, is now able to roller skate and take part in normal activities for the rest of her life. Last June she underwent surgery in Baltimore, which closed two openings in chambers of her heart.

Young Girl Made Healthy Through Heart Surgery

An 11-year-old girl from Cash Valley Road is now able to enjoy a normal active life as a result of successful heart surgery which was performed last June 18 at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

The girl, Margaret Ann Calderwood, is the only child of Millard D. and Betty (Bucy) Calderwood, and is a sixth grade pupil at LaVale Elementary School.

Margaret Ann was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital in February 1957 when it appeared she was suffering from a heart ailment.

When she was examined there by doctors, it was found that she had a large opening in the heart wall in the upper chamber of her heart.

However, when the LaVale area youngster underwent surgery last June, the doctors found another opening in the middle chamber of her heart which also was closed during the operation, which lasted three and one half hours.

Margaret Ann recently underwent another examination at the Baltimore hospital and physicians there said she had fully recovered from her heart ailment and now may lead a normal active life.

The sixth-grader said her main interests outside of school are roller skating and dancing. Since she spent all of last summer recuperating from her operation, Margaret Ann hopes to use her vacation from school this summer enjoying all the activities she has missed.

Last week, George R. Hughes Jr., Allegany-Garrett County Heart Fund chairman, selected Margaret Ann to light the heart-torch on the Court House lawn to officially launch the 1959 Heart Fund Drive.

Mr. Hughes said it was appropriate that she light the torch since she already has benefitted from remarkable advances in heart surgery, made possible through research.

Two Inmates Charged In Jail Escape

Pennsylvania authorities in Franklin County have charged two prisoners with aiding the escape of two other inmates of the county jail in Chambersburg, Pa., last January 20.

Two other prisoners who apparently acted as lookouts during the escape may be charged later, Sheriff James W. Coldsmith of the Franklin County Jail said last night.

The escapees are Frank Bordner, 29, of 1523 Thomas Street, Harrisburg, Pa., and Harold Russell Shives, 30, of 651 Broad Street, Chambersburg, and formerly a resident of Virginia Avenue in Cumberland. Charged with aiding and abetting their escape are George Sprenkle and Richard Lee Gardner, both of Waynesboro, Pa.

Shives Free

Sheriff Coldsmith said Bordner was apprehended three days after the escape near his home in Harrisburg, but Shives is still free.

Also facing possible charges in the escape is Miss Norma Cooper, who posed as Mrs. Harold Shives and drove the car in which the two men fled.

Sheriff Coldsmith said the woman met the prisoners after their escape and drove them from the scene. She had her two-year-old son with her, the sheriff stated.

Miss Cooper told police, however, she did not know of the escape at the time and thought the men were out on bail. They told her later they had escaped the jail, she said.

Toward Harrisburg

The three fled toward Harrisburg where Bordner left them just a few hours before he was recaptured. The woman and Shives then backtracked to Washington, Baltimore, Winchester, Va., Berkeley Springs, and Hancock before Miss Cooper decided to return home with her child.

Sheriff Coldsmith said police in the Cumberland area have been alerted that Shives may try to return to this area.

Two other prisoners who helped in the escape climbed out of the hole which was pried in the ceiling of a third-tier washroom and planned to escape with Bordner and Shives, but the break-out was discovered so quickly they returned to their cells the sheriff said.

Bordner was convicted of burglary in Franklin County and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. Shives was facing burglary charges and two state motor vehicle violations.

Senator Turns Down Bid For Meeting Here

City and county officials will have to go to Annapolis if they want to confer with Senator Charles M. See and the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly.

The Mayor and Council and the County Commissioners met here Tuesday to talk over mutual problems and, after drafting plans for a five-man study committee on city-county problems, invited the County Delegation to meet with them here February 21 or 23.

The action was taken after they agreed it would be an imposition for them to have to go to Annapolis to meet with the county legislators.

But Senator See said last night that the Mayor and Council has always come to Annapolis to transact business when the Legislature was in session.

He said he personally felt that if he and the Delegation came to Cumberland for this session, any individual should expect the same courtesy.

He said it would be an injustice for the county legislators to schedule hearings here because of the limited time available.

Senator See said not all of the legislators, including himself, come home every week.

He added that ample time was given, during pre-Assembly hearings to work out all difficulties on local legislation.

Dairy, Livestock Farmers Learn More About Alfalfa

Dairymen and livestock farmers of the Tri-State area yesterday learned some facts and figures on alfalfa production during the annual cattle feeding meeting held in the LaVale fire hall.

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said that about 90 farmers of the area attended the morning session of the meeting.

Report, Vote Meetings Set By Local 180

Neutral Party To Conduct Election

Members of Local 180, United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union, will hear reports on contract negotiations with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at a meeting here Sunday afternoon.

Charles O. Buskirk, Local 180 president, said the mass meeting will be held at 2 p. m. in the Woodmen of the World Hall on Union Street.

Full reports on the contract proposal will be presented by Joseph Lunz, District 1 president, for the International union, and Mr. Buskirk for Local 180, which represents hourly paid workers at the company's Works 7 here.

Secret balloting on the pact proposal will be held Monday in the WOW hall, Mr. Buskirk said.

Ballots, which are being prepared by the International union, will give members an opportunity to accept or reject the company's offer.

Mr. Buskirk said the balloting has been tentatively scheduled Monday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and will be conducted by a neutral party.

William Edwards, vice president, and Mr. Buskirk represented the Cumberland local in the latest round of contract negotiations held in Philadelphia.

There was no indication last night as to the recommendation which will be made by local officers at Sunday's report meeting.

Vandals Impair Police Radio Transmitter

Emergency Calls Made From Cruiser

Vandals, breaking into the enclosed area around the radio tower on Seneca Avenue sometime Wednesday afternoon, put the radio transmitter at Police Headquarters out of commission for nearly 24 hours.

Both Police Headquarters and Central Fire Station have transmitting equipment in the tower building and the damage was discovered by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, who was making a routine check of the equipment Wednesday.

Chief Parker said investigation showed the vandals apparently tore loose barbed wire atop the wire-fence enclosure and climbed into the restricted area.

The fire chief and police discovered lead-in wires to the radio equipment had been tampered with, tie wires removed, the antenna damaged and power wires pulled loose from their moorings outside the building.

Whipped In Wind

Chief Parker said he noticed the electric power lines were whipping loosely in the strong wind which was blowing atop the hill off Braddock Road about 2 p. m. Wednesday. He stated that in a matter of minutes these wires would have been torn loose and the entire radio system of both the Police Department and Fire Headquarters would have been out of commission.

The damaged antenna put the police radio on the blink until yesterday afternoon when service was restored.

Assistant Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney said authorities were forced to use a cruiser car's radio at headquarters to relay calls to other mobile units on duty as the main transmitter in the Public Safety Building could receive calls but could not transmit.

Chife Parker stated, however, that Central Fire Station's main transmitter was not affected. He also noted that firemen have an auxiliary power-pack transmitter which can be used in an emergency should the main equipment fail.

Auxiliary Transmitter

The auxiliary transmitter is powerful enough for calls within a radius of 20 miles, the chief stated, and can be used until repairs are made on the main power plant.

Chief Parker said, though, that if the main power lines at the tower had broken off the entire communications system would have been affected.

Boy Missing

Richard Carrell, 13, has been reported missing from his home on Braddock Road where he resides with the Ralph Simons family. The youth left home Wednesday on a school bus and failed to return. He is four feet, 11 inches tall, weighs 70 pounds, has blue eyes and blonde hair and was wearing a tan cap, red jacket, grey trousers and black shoes when last seen.
